

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale, of Connecticut, former parishioners of Rev. Greenhoe, were guests at the Lutheran parsonage.

Carl A. Auman, in the wholesale meat business in Steubenville, Ohio, was at his home in Centre Hall over the Christmas season.

Hugh Smith, son of Postmaster R. M. Smith, was one of the extra men to help out at the Harrisburg railway terminal prior to Christmas.

Mrs. Ada R. Butz, who had been with her sister, Mrs. S. F. Greenhoe, at the Lutheran parsonage for some time, on Monday left for Miami, Florida, for the winter.

Miss Edith Boozer came to her home prior to the closing of the old year for a brief vacation. She is employed at an institution from which she graduated at Mt. Airy Station, near Philadelphia.

The Lansberrys, who recently purchased the Dr. A. G. Lieb farm east of Centre Hall, have taken possession of the place. During the past few years Dr. Lieb spent much of his time on the farm, but last week removed his personal property to his home here in town.

Dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Musser, west of Old Fort, were the following: Mrs. E. T. Swann, sister of Mrs. Musser, of Olean, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey and daughter Jean, of Millheim; Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Winkieblech and daughter Ardenna, of Aaronsburg.

Shuman Williams, of State College, and Milford Fletcher, of Howard, were recent callers at this office. Both are school men, the former holding a place under Principal Weik, at State College, and the latter is principal of the Milesburg High school. Both are also candidates to succeed Superintendent D. O. Eiters, being two of the six candidates in the field.

Margaret Hassinger, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hassinger, of East Lynn Street, Bellefonte, and Isabel Bradford, of Centre Hall, were entertained for a few days following Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith, in the Centre Reporter apartment. On her return home, "Peggy," as she is affectionately called by her associates, took with her her chum for a few days' visit at her home.

Aside from sending baskets of provisions for Christmas dinners, fuel, clothing, etc., to a large number of homes in and adjacent to Bellefonte, the Order of Elks also made happy one or more families in the vicinity of Centre Hall by presenting a good supply of clothing for children. A sewing circle in Centre Hall, known by the name of Clover Club, like the Elks, sent out a liberal donation of Christmas provisions, toys and clothing to a needy family near here.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The PINK LABEL this week.

The last Saturday night in December mercury registered one above zero.

Viscoso company employees, at Lewistown, were given a bonus at Christmas time equal to three-eighths of a week's pay.

Carl and Misses Helen and Margaret Kline, of Altoona, spent several days with their aunt, Mrs. Margaret Godshall.

Mrs. S. G. Decker, in Georges Valley, advertises sale of farm stock and implements for March 19th. Most of Mrs. Decker's cattle are pure-bred Holsteins.

The four-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Karstetter, of Tyndersville, is in a serious condition as the result of scalds suffered at her home when a coffee pot was accidentally upset.

Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Corman, of Sunbury, drove to Centre Hall on the last day of the old year in a new six-cylinder Buick sedan. They remained with Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher for a few days.

Since he sold his property in Aaronsburg, Rev. J. M. Stover purchased from the heirs of Dr. C. S. Musser, deceased, the Rogers home, also in Aaronsburg, now tenanted by Wm. Wolfe. They expect to occupy it on April 1st.

W. S. Shelton, of Millheim, was a recent business visitor in Centre Hall. He informs the Reporter that he contemplates opening an insurance office in State College where he has built up a business of considerable importance.

William F. Rishel, of near Centre Hall, breeder of purebred Berkshire swine and Holstein cattle, has entered two yearling purebred Berkshire gilts at the State farm show at Harrisburg, which will be held from January 18 to 22.

The alumni association of the Millheim High school has taken the initiative to open a public reading room and library, and is asking contributions of both books and cash. This is a fine idea and one that ought to be generously supported.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rhoads and children, Merle, Ruth, Pauline, Leonard, Jr., and Alice, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhoads and children Barbary, Clair and Bettie, all of Bellefonte, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and John Rudy, near Centre Hall.

Two groups of carol singers were on the streets on Christmas eve singing as the joyous day came in. One group was composed of High school pupils and the other of those more mature in years as well as more advanced in their ability to handle Christmas carols. The latter group were entertained at the Lutheran parsonage by Rev. and Mrs. S. F. Greenhoe.

That's what your $100. would have earned you, had you kept it at 6 per cent. simple interest. That's 50 cents a month; it amounts to $60. in ten years; it is $120. in 20 years, or $240 in 40 years. That is what it costs you to spend a hundred dollars now. Can you see why people who save become wealthy? It is plain as the nose on your face.
