

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

At This Critical Period Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Help You Safely Through

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I have always wanted to tell you what a good medicine I think the Vegetable Compound is. Over a year ago I became weak and run-down, and my back hurt all the time. I was not able to do my light housework. I went to my family doctor and he treated me for over a month, but didn't help me. I saw your name in the paper and the name of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I said to my husband, 'I will try that and see if it will help me.' I have taken six bottles and am feeling much better, but I am still taking it as it is the Change of Life with me and I will keep on till it is over. —Mrs. ANNIE KWINSKI, rear 526 1st Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

Brewton, Alabama.—"During the Change of Life I suffered for some time during each month with headaches and backache, and was hardly able to do my work at those times. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and since taking it I feel like a different woman. —Mrs. MAITIE ADAMS, Downing Street, Brewton, Ala.

With Cheerups and the Quixies
By Grace Bliss Stewart

ABOUT THE TABBIES
"HERE, puss; here, puss; here, puss!" called Cheerups in his gentlest voice.
"Begging your pardon, sir," purred the animal addressed. "I'm not exactly what you think, and yet in a way I am. That sounds like talking in riddles, doesn't it? Perhaps I have caught the habit from the Sphinx; you see, I live in Egypt. Only the Sphinx never explains and I will."

"Please do," cried the astonished Cheerups, as he looked curiously at his visitor. She was a little larger than one of our North American cats, of a grayish-yellow color with a few dark stripes on her back, and her fine tail was ringed about and tipped with black.
"Well," continued Puss, "it's very probable that the ancestor of all the pet cats in the world was like me,

"My Family Has Lived in Egypt for Five Thousand Years."

for my family has lived in Egypt for five thousand years."
"Bless me," gasped Cheerups. "Think of that, Miss—"
"Call me Tabby, please; it's shorter and more friendly. Now you may think that what I have told you is wonderful, but the best part is coming," said Tabby proudly. "Just listen to this! Long, long ago, the people of Egypt worshipped us. We are wild now, but then they tamed us, petted us and showed us every honor, and to kill a cat was a very great crime. Whoever did so was severely punished."

"Please," cried disappointed Cheerups, "isn't there any more?" He was so eager by this time for the rest of Tabby's story that he could hardly wait.
"Do excuse me, sir," murmured Tabby, winking and blinking sleepily. "I just dropped off for a minute. I just dropped off for a minute. Let me see, where was I?"
"You were telling how the Egyptian people of long ago worshipped the cat," said Cheerups. "It seems to me that those cats had a very easy time—all play and no work."

"I was just getting to that," mewed Tabby a little fretfully. "Don't be worshiped and buried in the jump at conclusions. Even if they tombs of kings, cats were expected to be useful, as it's my opinion that every one should be."

"Only a few can be beautiful. But all can be useful and dutiful. is my motto, sir, and Egyptian cats in the long ago had to live up to it, too. There is a picture, thousands of years old, in the British museum in London, which shows a hunter out in a boat, hunting water birds. His pet cat is with him, looking very serious, for she is the most important member of the party. Yes, sir, that grandmother of all pet cats is shown bringing back to her master the birds she has caught. She holds them in her mouth and her paws. That's the story the picture tells, and if you don't call that work," said Tabby, with a proud little whirry purr, "just try catching a bird yourself some time. Now if I may wash my face and paws before going, I think I had better be scampering along."

"Certainly, Tabby, make yourself at home," smiled Cheerups. "And thanks for your interesting tale."
"Dear me," sighed Cheerups, "all this talk about Egypt and India and England makes me restless. How jolly it would be to begin traveling again! I wonder what the Quixies would say to it?"
"Oh, sir," gasped the Quixies in one breath, "how wonderful! We are aching to be off!"
"I say, let's go to India," chattered Softfoot.

On the other hand some races reasoned it out that if the evil spirits so hated iron, iron might be a good thing to defy them with. In certain parts of North Africa there is no such efficacious charm against witches as a piece of iron. The Scottish fisherman when he hears a shipmate blaspheming, cries out, "Cold iron," and all the men in the boat touch the nearest piece of iron they can reach. That brings the magic metal into the case and scares off the evil spirits who might pounce upon the blasphemer. When the schoolboys touch cold iron to bind their contract they invoke the aid of the metal against the evil spirits which might try to tempt them to break it.

This is a vestige of the ancient belief in the efficacy of cold iron in warding off witches and other evil spirits. When man first tried to work iron he undoubtedly had much trouble with it and naturally attributed his failures to the interference of evil spirits, thus starting the iron superstition which has persisted ever since.

Renee Adoree

Miss Adoree, the "movie" star, is one of the screen's most beautiful and talented actresses. She is well known in this country as a capable actress and is famed abroad for her interpretative dancing.

"Japan would be nice," murmured Sniffsniff.
"China is better," coaxed Quickear.
"I think Australia would be more exciting, because we don't know much about it," piped Brighteyes.
"Brighteyes is right; we'll go to Australia!" cried Cheerups, "and let's go now!" With that he jumped on a flying leaf and soared away over the still green jungle. Shouting with glee, each of the frisky little Quixies snatched a convenient breeze and followed.
"Isn't this fun?" called Cheerups merrily. "We shall certainly broaden our acquaintance, and perhaps there will be folks in Australia who need help too!"

A Few Little Smiles

EYE TO BUSINESS
Violetta, the film star, was being married.
"So," said the bridegroom, "we are agreed. On Monday morning at nine o'clock we visit the registrar. After that we go to the church and then you are my own dear wife. Have you anything to say about the arrangement?"
"Only that the film rights will, of course, belong to me."—Lustige Blaetter.

An Utter Stranger
A man who had slipped in a few minutes late to a funeral was obliviously nervous during the minister's eulogy of the departed. Finally, turning to a neighbor, he whispered:
"Hey, is this George Q. Billings' funeral?"
"Certainly. Why?"
"Well, that fellow the preacher's talking about wasn't Billings."

HANDICAPPED
May—Madge seems to have lost her popularity since she returned from the beach.
Maud—My dear, she simply can't wear a bathing suit in town.

Opportunity
They do me wrong who say I come no more.
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door.
And bid you wake and rise to fight and win.

Blows Best Way
Whichever way the wind doth blow
Some heart is glad to have it so;
Then blow it east or blow it west,
Whichever way, that way is best.

His Luck
O'Gay—Did you have much luck on your fishing trip?
Van Sport—Oh, pretty fair—I quit a slight winner.

In Accord
"Dear, I want you to have everything when you are married."
"So do I, Horace. That's why I cannot accept you."

Pushed
Highgate Magistrate—How is it you are here?
Man—Somebody pushed me into the police station.—Tit-Bits.

He Must
Fortune Teller—You have a tendency to let things slide.
Young Man—Yes, I play the trombone.—Penn State Froth.

OR PROBABLY WILL BE
Mabel—I just left Jack—he's fairly wrapped up in his machine.
Maud—What a terrible smash-up it must have been!

She Was Beautiful
Two young actresses were discussing their respective positions in the profession.
"In our new play," said one, "I've been given three pages of dialogue to speak. That's more than you have, isn't it?"
"It is," replied the other, "but the manager says I'm too beautiful for words."

Conservation
He—Dear, I don't think I'll be home for dinner tonight.
She—No? What will I do?
"If I change my mind I'll call you on the phone at six, but don't answer, then I'll get my nickel back."—Cornell Widow.

Won and Lost
Harold—Did Reggie beat the trail to the crossing?
Gerald—Yes, but the train hit him before he could get off again.

A Farmer Boy's Success

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine was the course Dr. Pierce pursued.
