Danger to the Eyes in Major Industries

That there is hardly an industrial occupation in America which does not add each year to the steadily increasing number of the blind and near blind is the announcement made by the national committee for the prevention of blindness, following an extensive study of eye hazards in industry. Referring to the records of a single insurance company which in three and a half years settled claims involving 1,049 cases of permanent disability resulting from eye injuries, the committee found that 82 eyes were lost in the presumably safe occupations of merchandising, farming and textile manufacture.

"This is further proof," the committee reports, "that serious eye accidents are likely to occur wherever men, women and children are employed. There is no such thing as a really nonhazardous occupation."

The report shows that the greatest number of serious eye injuries for the entire country occur in the metal manufacturing industries. But in Pennsylvania the coal mining industry ranks first as a cause of industrial blindness, and in Wisconsin hand tools are the greatest single cause of injuries to eyesight. One large ship-building company had more than 4,300 eye cases treated in its dispensary in one year. The committee recommends the keeping of detailed and accurate records of the nature, causes and costs of eye injuries as the first step in any campaign for the prevention of eye accidents in an industrial plant or in an entire industry.

Nothing but Justice

In this God's world, with its wild whirling eddies and mad-foam oceans, where men and nations perish as if without law and judgment for an unjust thing sternly delayed, dost thou think therefore that there is no justice? It is what the fool had said in his heart. It is what the wise in all times were wise because they desired and knew forever not to be. I tell thee again there is nothing else but justice; one strong thing I find here below—the just thing, the true thing. * * * If the thing is unjust, thou hast not succeeded, though bonfires blazed from north to south, and bells rang, and editors wrote leading articles, and the just thing lay trampled out of sight to all mortal eyes—an abolished and annihilated thing.

UNLESS a poultryman is clearing at least two dollars for each layer in his flock every year, there is something wrong with the methods he is using, says the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. It may be a case of poor layers, poor housing or just plain poor food.

Even the best bred hen will not lay day after day unless she is fed with those elements which she must have to turn into eggs. Any hen will lay in the spring—it's her nature to do this—but if poultry keeping is to be a profitable business the hen must be induced to lay throughout the year. During the cold weather season the days are short and the fowls require additional food. Quantity of grain is important but it takes mash containing egg-making nutrients to produce eggs from Labor day to Easter.
