

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

DON'T MISS CHAUTAUQUA

Miss Mary D. Potter visited among relatives in Altoona over Sunday.

Mrs. Rebecca S. Wolf, of Altoona, is with friends and relatives about Tusseyville and will remain there for some time.

D. C. Mitterling attended the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles A. Mitterling, in Chicago, Ill., on Friday.

Mrs. John S. Getchell and son Ralph, of Uniontown, arrived at the home of Mrs. Getchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brungart, on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Long and the former's sister, Miss Ida Long, of Uniontown, were at Spring Mills recently, guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Wetzel and son Robert were returning to their home at McClure, were entertained for a week at the Reformed parsonage by Rev. and Mrs. D. R. Keener.

Rev. Witmer Shannon, a grand-nephew of Mrs. Mary J. Smith, attended her funeral in Bellefonte on Monday. Rev. Shannon is serving a Lutheran charge at Mt. Union, Huntingdon county.

John Shultz, son of Rev. J. F. Shultz, former Evangelical pastor in Centre Hall, will be graduated from the University of West Virginia on the 15th instant, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The 1926 graduates of the Centre Hall High school together with some of the under class members and Principal Wetzel, drove to Rolling Green park, Sunbury, Thursday of last week where the day was spent in boating, swimming and other amusements.

Mrs. A. W. Stong, of Altoona, was in Centre Hall during a part of last week, having come principally to attend the High school commencement exercises. She is the mother of assistant principal H. E. Stong, and was his guest at the H. E. Stong home.

The Eckroyst sisters, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Tressler, beginning of this week left on a motor trip to Reading and Philadelphia in the new special Dodge sedan purchased through the Hosterman agency. The first two mentioned are pastors of the Holiness Apostolic church at Colyer.

It is probably all meant well but much of the applauding by Grange Arcadia audiences is not inspiring but approaches the ridiculous. If the applause there is meant for approval, it is a poor expression of it. If you are in doubt of what is being particularly criticized here, give attention to the applause you hear by any audience that does not lose its refinement when enthused.

Homan's Garage, Centre Hall, has become a dealer in the Oldsmobile, in addition to handling Chevrolet. An advertisement on their new line will appear in these columns in a short time. Your attention is called to an ad. elsewhere in this issue offering a number of used cars, mechanically O. K. and good for many, many miles of running. If in need of a good car, here is an opportunity, at a cheap price.

Squire E. R. Hancock and Mrs. Hancock, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Callihan, of Phillipsburg, were among the group of Sunday-school workers from that place to attend the county convention held here Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Hancock is a former president of the county organization and continues his interest in the work, although not now an official. Mr. Callihan is a retail butcher.

Misses Louise Smith, Algie Emery and Catherine Goodhart are delegates from the local Y. P. B. Harrisburg convention in session in Harrisburg this week. The organization of the young people represent is a very wide-awake one under the direction of Mrs. F. V. Goodhart and several other ladies who take a deep interest in the work. The delegates will remain in Harrisburg until Monday, making their stay a week's duration.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hartranft and daughter Miss Elizabeth Hartranft, and Mrs. M. L. Garrison, all of Montgomery, motored through Centre Hall on Monday on their way home from Glenn Campbell, Indiana county, where Miss Hartranft is teaching English, Latin and history in the High school. She is a Bucknell graduate and specialized in the branches she now is teaching. Mr. Hartranft is one of the managers in the Penn furniture factory at Montgomery.

Miss Isabelle Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lee, of Spring Mills, finished her normal school training at Bloomsburg last week and has been engaged to teach in the public schools at Painted Post. She will begin her school work in that state in what is known in New York as a third grade position. Among her friends who attended the commencement exercises at which Miss Lee graduated were her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Kriss and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Betts, of Johnstown, spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Slick, having stopped on their way home from Bloomsburg where they attended the 25th class reunion of the Bloomsburg Normal, of which Mr. Kriss is a graduate. They motored to Lewistown last Thursday and visited the Brown and Reish families and from there went to Bloomsburg.

Messrs. H. H. Keller and F. A. Rosenberger, the latter from North Wales, came to the home of the parents of the former, in Centre Hall, last week, and a day or two later returned by auto to Franklin and Marshall College, where both graduated this week. Mr. Rosenberger will enter the Seminary at Lancaster while Mr. Keller will take up teaching in the History department of the Laurel (Delaware) schools. The school has a faculty of thirty, with three hundred pupils.

COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION.

Workers Gather at Centre Hall Monday and Tuesday.

The 57th annual convention of the Centre County Sunday School Association was held at the Lutheran church, Centre Hall, Monday and Tuesday. Devotions conducted by Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick; President L. L. Foster in charge. Address of welcome by Rev. F. S. Greenhoe; response by President Foster, followed by a summary of the year's Sunday-school work.

The Spruce Creek Training Camp came in for consideration, at which time Miss Mildred Wieland presented the program for the young people and their activities. Mr. Foster reported the necessary funds had been raised and paid over to the camp treasurer, and the obligation closed.

The children's division was presented by State Secretary Walter E. Myers, of Philadelphia. The county treasurer spoke of getting the statistical reports in as soon as possible. B. M. McGarvey, of Williamsport, State worker, gave a very interesting talk. The session was interspersed with music. Rev. L. W. Miller, of Lewistown, brought a message of Palestine, very real.

In another apartment the ladies of the Service Class of the Lutheran S. S. furnished a splendid banquet for the delegates, officers, and others.

7:15, devotions by Rev. Smith; song and selections by the choir. The first address was made by Mr. McGarvey: "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Songs; address by Mr. Meyers: "The Ins and Outs of Sunday School Work." Address by Rev. J. A. Mills; song and adjournment.

Tuesday, 9:15 A. M.—Devotions by Rev. D. R. Keener; songs; address by Mr. McGarvey: "Visions and Victory." Reports of committees. On nominations, that the elective officers of last year be re-elected, and on motion the same were elected, as follows: President, I. L. Foster; 1st vice president, C. C. Shuey; 2nd vice president, E. R. Hancock; secretary, Darius Waite; treasurer, L. W. Stover.

Treasurer Mr. Stover reported receipts and expenditures, with a balance of $165.50 on hand. After the pledge and other expenses were paid, several addresses by State workers and other persons were made and the convention adjourned.

[The above report was furnished by Secretary Darius Waite.]

Following is a list of the delegates from various sections of the county who were in attendance:
