Klepper a Native of Centre Hall.
John Klepper, who was killed at Hocka Park in an automobile collision, was a native of Centre Hall, having been a son of David (Klepper) Klepper, and a grandson of the late Abraham Tobias, who for many years lived in the house now occupied by Miss Emma McCoy in this place. The Klepper family moved from here to Coleville early in 1870, and ten years later located in Philadelphia.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Alexander B. Lotka, both of Philadelphia, and one sister, Mrs. Hegman, both of Harrisburg, and one brother, Harry, of Philadelphia. Two of Mr. Klepper's brothers, Emanuel and David, were killed in accidents. Relatives in Bellefonte are Mr. and Mrs. William Sprinkle, Jacob Cole, Darius Cole, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eckley. A brief account of the accident was printed in last week's issue of the Reporter, but owing to the changed spelling of the family name, the writer failed to recognize the unfortunate man as a former resident here, and an acquaintance.

A pleasant surprise party was held for Miss Vienna Zettie on the eve of her 21st birthday, Friday of last week. Many beautiful presents were received. Delicious refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles, ice cream and cake were served. Those present were: Mrs. W. W. Kerlin, Mrs. Paul Fetterolf, Agnes Geary, Margaret Weidner, Elizabeth Gross, Esther and Catherine Martz, Miriam Emerick, Margaret Frohm, Susan Bloom, Ruth Runkle, Mrs. James Brooks, Florence Zettie, James Brooks, Paul Fetterolf, Roy Noll, Harold Durt, Hagold Dunkle, Cornelius Houz, Kenneth, Frank, Mr. and Mrs. F. Compression Pump Installed.
The compression pump, with which it is intended to force the water from a one hundred and twenty-eight foot well into the borough reservoir, has been installed. There was some delay in rigging up the old electric motor to take the place of the three-phase motor, a part of the compression pump outfit, which could not be used. At all times when the water in the well was measured it stood close to 90 feet. Continuous pumping never changed the elevation of the water.

Takes Suicidal Drink.
Miss Anna Single, 19, of Juniata Terrace, Lewistown, is at the Lewistown hospital for burns of the mouth and throat sustained from a glass of concentrated lye taken with suicidal intentions. Friends say she was crossed in love. She will recover.

FARM CALENDAR.
Cows Need Rest.—Cows due to fresh in the fall should have a rest period of 6 to 8 weeks to put them into a good condition of flesh before freshening. Cows that freshen in a thin condition will never produce what they would if they had been better fitted. The extra milk received later will pay many times for the cost of feed eaten during the rest period.

Feed Mash in Summer.—The regular feeding of any poultry flocks as the summer progresses increases in importance, say Pennsylvania State College specialists. A few days without mash in the summer will throw the birds into a moult from which many will not recover. Meat scraps cannot be omitted from the ration during the summer. Most flocks will eat considerably more mash by weight during the summer than they will hard grain.

Check Cattle Diseases.—Disease among dairy cattle may be held in check largely through the application of the principles of hygiene and sanitation in and around the dairy barn.

Keep Pears from Rotting.—Pick pears when they are hard-ripe as they are liable to core-rot if left on the trees. After picking them put them in a cool place to ripen if for a home market.

RATTLESNAKE FEAST; FRIED AND FRICASEE
Rattlesnakes, fried and fricasee, headed the menu for the last Sunday dinner in camp for freshman forestry students from the Pennsylvania State College.

Twenty students and guests ate the "delicacy" mad famous by Penn State first year foresters in camps during the past six years. Tradition in the college forestry camp at Lamar, near Lock Haven, calls for at least one meal during the two months' stay in the woods to be featured with a rattlesnake feast.

The boys had difficulty in collecting rattlers this summer, capturing only five of them alive since the opening of their camp in the middle of June. They were kept alive in cages and when the big feast day arrived they were skinned, par-boiled and half of them fried. The camp cook started an innovation by serving the other half of the mess in fricasee style.

The new style was a great success. Everyone in camp had a sizable portion of the delicacies and declared them equal to chicken in flavor and texture. None of the students had ever tasted rattlers before, and they enjoyed them so much that they will try to have another batch before they break camp at the end of this week.

Selection of Dairy Cattle Breeds Influenced by Shows

A good typical Aprshire sire Putting on the finishing touches

Many a man who is undecided as to the breed of dairy cattle that he will select has been influenced in making his decision by the animals of a particular breed that he has seen in public.

The individual breeder secures a great deal of advertising as the result of exhibiting at fairs, or in offering good animals at public sales. It gives people a chance to see and know the kind of stock that a man is breeding and paves the way for future business.

It is essential that special care and attention be given dairy animals far in advance of the time that they are to be exhibited or sold. Exhibiting or selling animals publicly in their every day clothes is poor advertising and puts them at a disadvantage when the competition is keen. It takes several weeks to put a dairy animal in good show condition and what applies to fitting for show applies as well to fitting for sale.

It is important that the dairy animal to be exhibited or sold be in good flesh. A good covering of flesh adds to size, increases smoothness and indicates that the animal is thrifty and in good health. Dairy animals being fitted need extra feed.

Stabling and blanketing are great aids in putting the hair and hide in condition. By stabling in summer, the animal is protected from the hot sun which makes the hide harsh and stiff to the touch. A roomy box stall that is kept clean and well bedded provides desirable quarters. Continuous blanketing helps keep the animal clean, sweats the hide, thus improving its handling qualities and makes the hair lay to the body. The blanket need not be expensive but it must be tied on securely.

Every dairy animal that is to be exhibited should have the hair clipped from the entire body about three weeks previous to the date of the show or sale. This will get rid of the old hair and allow a new, even growth to develop which will greatly improve the appearance and increase the selling value of the animal.

A point often overlooked in the preparation of a dairy animal for show or sale is that of training to lead and stand properly. An untrained animal cannot display its good points to advantage if it combats the efforts of the attendant to exhibit it properly. A little time spent each day in training to handle properly will save effort and embarrassment at the show or sale and increase the financial return.

While in the show or sale ring, the man in charge of an animal should have one main thought in mind, namely that of showing the animal to advantage. By this is meant that when it stands, its feet are properly placed, back straight and head alert. Any movement on the part of the attendant or animal should be as graceful as possible. Until the ribbons are placed or the auctioneer's hammer falls, take no chances.
