Celotechnic Institute Studies Home Builders' Problems

THE Celotechnic Institute of America was recently established, with headquarters in Chicago, to study the problems of American home builders and to place at their disposal the latest discoveries in scientific construction.

It is the aim of B. G. Dahlberg, its founder, to delve into all home building problems and to give to the American public the benefit of its research work and to supply the very latest data on most modern building practices. It will be a veritable laboratory of building facts including structural problems, modern plans, roof and floor insulation, building trends, analysis, laboratory tests, experimentation in refrigeration, sheathing and interior finishes.

"Important discoveries are constantly being made which practically revolutionize previous home building methods," declares Mr. Dahlberg. "In all the facts we give the public we will have an eye on economy, as well as utility, comfort, health and beauty. It is the aim of the Institute to help the home builder build better homes without any material increase in the cost of construction. It will be a real service bureau for the home builder."

B. G. Dahlberg. Mr. Dahlberg is among the youngest of America's captains of industry. Born in Sweden, the early part of his life in America was spent in railroading, a good portion of it as an associate of the late James J. Hill, the great empire builder of the Northwest. In more recent years he has been prominently identified with a number of large construction projects. A vision of great efficiency and economy in building, growing out of his experience, finally led to the decision to establish the Institute.

According to Minister, Woman Must Demand That Man's Character Shall Be of the Best.

Let American girls of the present generation hold men to highest standards and the men will be raised to them accordingly, stated the Rev. Merritt Earl of the Homestead Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore, in a recent sermon, "How to Choose a Husband."

"Never lower your ideal of the man you want to marry," he said. "Keep your standard high and we men will follow. One reason people claim that there are no good men today is because women do not expect, do not demand, the best that is in men. The worldly man, the spendthrift, the cigarette fiend, the dancer, the boozier, the self-styled 'perfect man' and numerous others are exiled from the candidate I would choose as a future mate were I the woman choosing. On the other hand, your future husband should be one whom you can trust and one whom you can love in spite of poverty, should poverty be your luck in married life.

"But how can I be sure he is the right man? Most young women ask today. To them I say, give the matter your utmost and careful consideration before taking the step. When the man makes the mistake in choosing the wrong mate he has his lodge room and club, both of which he usually works overtime. When she makes the mistake, only death can atonify it." Here is the preacher's warning:

"Never run after a man, and never marry to reform him. Let him fight to get you. If he doesn't think enough of you to marry you he's not worth the having. Reforming a man is a thankless job, so don't tackle it." The requirements of the ideal husband, according to the Rev. Mr. Earl's list, are that he possess: 1. Good manners. 2. Gentility of soul. 3. Kindness. 4. Sympathy. 5. Industry. 6. Truthfulness. 7. Richness in character rather than richness in money. 8. A home builder.

And if you want to be certain your husband is "Mr. Right" who will make your life happy ever after, do not marry, says the Rev. Mr. Earl, the man who is: 1. Worldly. Temptations will get him some day and will wreck your matrimonial life, sooner or later. Shun him. 2. Shiftless. No wife can supply a man with backbone. He must be a live-wire and your bread winner. 3. A cigarette fiend. 4. A scoffer of religion. 5. A dancer. The fol-de-rol dancer educates his heels rather than his head. Avoid him. 6. A boozier. His habits will lead you to the almshouse. 7. The maker of excuses. Catch him in a lie and say good-night and goodbye before you marry him. 8. A spendthrift and gambler. You'll get the crust and be the bread.

"You smile and say this is a pretty high standard today," the preacher added. "But I tell you there are good men in this world. Don't be in too much of a hurry to marry and you will find one."
