$200,000 Fire at Mill Hall.

Entailing a loss of $200,000, four buildings of the Mann Edge Tool company, one-half mile south of Mill Hall, were destroyed by fire Thursday morning of last week. This factory is the oldest one in that vicinity, one of the buildings which escaped the flames having been built in 1836.

Part of the buildings were burned in a disastrous fire forty-nine years ago, September 1, 1877, and this is the first fire of any consequence at the plant since that time.

The officers of the company are John M. Stevens, of Lewistown, president; and H. R. Manbeck, also of Lewistown, secretary-treasurer. The superintendent, U. Grant Smith, is also from Lewistown.

DEATHS

STOVER—Jacob Stover died at the home of a son, George Stover, northwest of Woodward, on Saturday, aged seventy-eight years. Interment was made on Tuesday morning in Millheim. During his active life Mr. Stover engaged in farming.

A wife (Mrs. Emily Caldwell) and an adopted daughter survive the deceased.

Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heckman, both deceased, and was born and reared in Gregg township on the farm now occupied by Prof. W. P. Hosterman. Mr. Hipple was born at Pine Glen about 55 years ago and was a son of William and Elizabeth Hipple, both of whom survive. A good many years ago he went to Baltimore and for a long time conducted an ice business. About five years ago he purchased a large garage and had become very successful.

He was twice married. His first wife, who is now dead, was Lydia A. Spangler, a sister of Attorney N. E. Spangler, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. E. W. Crawford, Centre Hall. To Hunt in Maine Woods.

W. W. Kerlin, the poultryman, is planning a hunting party to go after deer and bear in Maine, and unless present plans miscarry, the party of four—Mr. Kerlin, Walter R. Hosterman, Ray Mark, of Centre Hall, and Dr. Austin Robison, of Bellefonte—will leave some time next week in Kerlin's Packard sedan. They expect to go by way of Niagara Falls. Naturally one associates the really big game—moose—with Maine, but the season on these big fellows has been closed in Maine. Deer and bear, however, are plentiful, and the "boys" anticipate good sport and a big bag. Here's wishing 'em luck.

Reopening of Reformed Church.

After undergoing a complete overhauling the Reformed church, at Boalsburg, was re-opened. The sermon was preached by Rev. Robert Theng, of Bellefonte, and the dedicatory rite was performed by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Moyer. Rev. J. Wagner, pastor of Boalsburg Lutheran church, pronounced the benediction.

In connection with the reopening services there was organized a girls' Missionary Guild, an auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society. Fourteen charter members were enrolled. Those who officiated at the organization were Mrs. G. B. Wagner, of McClure, Classis G. M. G. secretary; Miss Beulah Fortney, counsellor; Mrs. G. E. Kelley, of Steelton, and Mrs. W. W. Moyer, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, of Boalsburg.

The church now looks almost like a new edifice. The interior walls were work and floors were refinished. The pipe organ, the first one installed in Centre county, was overhauled and put in splendid condition. A new roof and spouting were put on and the floor is covered with a new body Brussels carpet, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fisher, of Danville, in memory of Mr. Fisher's mother, Mrs. Amanda Fisher. A resolution of appreciation was extended Mr. and Mrs. Fisher for their gift on motion of H. M. Hosterman.

SAYS NEW TOLD POSTMASTERS TO HELP PARTY

Civil Service Reform League Charges "Brazen Invitation" to 15,000 Employees—Declares Orders Were to "Get Busy" on Elections.

The issuance of a "brazen invitation" to more than 15,000 postmasters to "get busy politically" in the Congressional campaign was charged against Postmaster General New on Saturday by the National Civil Service Reform League.

A recent order of Mr. New, defining the rights, privileges and restrictions of postal employees in political campaigns, was attacked by the league as so interpreting restrictions applying to the employees as to "nullify the plain intent of the law."

The order, issued in circular form, summarized the provisions of the original code covering political activities of postal employees. The league said, but it was so worded that instead of acting as a restraining influence, it conformed to Mr. New's "well-known view that postmasters of the country have an obligation to the political organization which is behind the Federal Administration."

Mr. New called attention to his order to the inhibitions against solicitation of campaign funds from each other by Federal employees and against the use of money by the employees to promote a political object. He also cited an Executive order prohibiting persons in the competitive classified service from taking active parts in political campaigns.

Postmasters appointed by the President, Mr. New said, had a somewhat different status in political campaign activity, and might take such parts as are taken by any private citizen.

He added that although these appointees had a right to engage to a "reasonable extent" in political matters, it was deemed "unwise that they should accept political management or become conspicuous in political campaigns."

The league said Mr. New desired the 300,000 employees of his department to know that they might take part in the fall campaign, but that those holding jobs subject to Civil Service Law provisions would have to be quiet about it and observe certain restrictions. The 15,000 Presidential appointees, it was said, were relieved of restraint by the order.

Miss Marie Copenhagen and girl friend, of Tyrone, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Foutz.
