

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith went to Philadelphia to view the Sesqui-centennial.

Five hundred and forty feet of concrete was poured on the road over Seven Mountains on Monday.

A thief raided the chicken house of Thomas L. Moore, Friday night, and took about a dozen of his nicest hens.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dashiell, near the Red Mill, in Potter township, one day recently.

The stone quarry was shut down on Monday for minor repairs to machinery, Tuesday operations began again.

Mrs. John H. Breen, on Tuesday, had the misfortune to fall down the cellar steps and sprain her ankle. She was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Cloyd Brooks, where she is being cared for.

Earl J. Cann and friend, of Johnstown, stopped on Sunday with Mrs. Margaret Godshall, an aunt of the former. Mr. Cann is a salesman for the Fuller company.

While in the act of cranking a car Miss Ida Keller, a Gregg Township Vocational school student, had one of the bones in her wrist broken by the crank hitting it. She was at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Homan, when the accident happened.

The Centre Hall hotel property was improved by the erection of a large porch extending as far as the hotel section of the building. It is a double deck porch. After it was completed it was decided to extend the porch over the restaurant and barber shop fronts.

Morris Burkholder harvested 2537 crates of potatoes from about ten acres and finished the work on Thursday of last week. The crates will average almost a bushel each. The crop was one of the largest in yield in this section. Three car loads have already been shipped to market.

Prof. I. P. Myers, assistant principal of the local High school, is preparing a number of school children in the under grades for an entertainment to be given at some time not yet determined. He has had considerable experience in this line and is also able to conduct the musical end, both instrumental and vocal.

Charles E. Keeney, John Gungrum and H. J. Schlappig, of Bethel; and Harry Rank, of Bethel, are a party stopping at the Centre Hall hotel and hunting with parties in Nittany Valley. They have selected Nittany Mountain as their field and will hunt until the close of the week. They have already killed gamp, both birds and squirrels.

Prof. J. F. Wetzel, accompanied by Mrs. Wetzel and little son, and Thomas Breninger, the latter of Beavertown, a brother of Mrs. Wetzel, visited the Sesqui the latter part of last week. The trip was made in Prof. Wetzel's car. On returning home Mrs. Louisa Wetzel, mother of Prof. Wetzel, was brought to Centre Hall where she will remain for the winter with her son. Mrs. Wetzel lives in Beavertown.

Al Knipe and Miss Emma Wolf drove from Ardmore to Centre Hall the middle of last week and while here were guests of Miss Emma McCoy and Miss Grace Smith. On their return home on Sunday they were accompanied by Miss Smith and Mrs. Clyde A. Smith and will be entertained at Ardmore and by friends in Philadelphia. Miss Wolf reports her father, J. W. Wolf, as continuously improving and that he is able to walk out alone. While here Mr. Knipe put in the time looking over the game fields on Nittany and Seven Mountains.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

BEGINS ARMISTICE DAY

What the Organization Accomplished in the Field of State College Chapter, Which Includes Penns Valley

The annual Roll Call of the State College Chapter of the American Red Cross will begin Armistice Day, Nov. 11, and continue for at least one week. H. N. Koch, State College, general chairman of the drive, announced. This is the annual membership campaign, and it is in no way connected with the Christmas seal sale of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Four annual types of membership are offered. These carry fees of $1, $5, $10 and $25 annually. From each of these memberships a half dollar goes to national headquarters at Washington, for national and international work. The balance remains in the treasury of the local chapter and is used to finance local Red Cross activities.

The State College Chapter includes Centre Hall, Millheim, Boalsburg, Spring Mills, Lemont, State College, and the rural districts around these places. Mrs. Clyde Smith is in charge of the Roll Call here. She appeals to the community to help with their memberships in supporting this work which has been of frequent benefit to the community.

From October, 1925, to September, 1926, the annual report shows that the local nurse made 1620 visits, 29 of which were to schools. Eleven patients were accompanied to hospitals at Bellefonte, Danville and elsewhere. Two classes in home hygiene and care of the sick were conducted for High school girls, one of 26 girls at Centre Hall, and the other of 12 girls at State College. They received Red Cross certificates upon completion of the work.

Baby clinics were conducted every Wednesday afternoon at the Red Cross office in State College. A first aid tent was maintained at the Grange Encampment here and first aid was extended to 59 persons. At the request of the State College Board of Health the nurse made monthly inspections of public eating places.

The nurse assisted in weighing and measuring children in Boalsburg and State College at the time of the visit of the State Health Car to Centre county. She assisted the medical examiner in the examination of 531 children and, at two different times, examined 250 children a day for a week for scarlet fever.

Miss Hall, last year's nurse, spent practically two days a week in the schools of State College, giving health talks and making health examinations. She enlisted 120 children in the Modern Health Crusade.

During the winter and spring educational work was carried on through the school in the Lytle addition of State College and the nurse was the inspiration for the nutrition work staged by college Home Economics Department and the Boy Scout work by the College Y. M. C. A.

Miss Cecile Wiquist, the present nurse, made 91 visits to patients last month eight of which were to schools. Seventeen other visits were made. Four infant welfare sessions were held with 17 patients. She attended one Parent-Teachers' association meeting. There were eight other interviews. The nurse assisted in the examination of 49 children. Seventy-two children were partially inspected by the nurse. One patient was accompanied to the hospital and a baby was brought to a doctor's office for an X-ray.

While the Red Cross nurse's services are free, her work is not that of charity. Anyone needing her services should feel free to call. Then if the recipient of attention is in a position to compensate the chapter he or she may do so. Last year $116.15 was paid into the treasury for nursing services. This money was used for further local work.

Harper Farm Sold.

The Harper farm, South of Centre Hall, along the Brush Valley road, was sold by Harry W. Harper to James L. Decker. The sale price has not been given to the public, but it was close to $11,000. The farm contains over five hundred acres, 176 acres of which are clear and under cultivation. The farm has been owned by the Harpers for many years and at one time was one of the most productive farms in this locality. In recent years it lost its rank in productivity.

Mr. Decker, the new owner, is all a farmer and it is his intention to build up the fertility of the soil and generally improve the homestead. He is now living on a highly productive farm, with good buildings, and as a consequence will not occupy his new possessions himself.

Picture a line of poles 400 feet high supporting 2400 separate wires!

It's A SMALL CITY that would not have such a pole line—or several of them—had the telephone cable not been perfected.

But the telephone scientist has taken all those wires, completely insulated each, grouped them together, and covered them with a protective lead sheath.

Then either buried them underground, or placed them on short, sturdy poles.

And made them "talk," without interference—which only open wires could previously do.

Huge cables now reach the length of the state, and beyond. They are constantly being extended. And this extension presents new and continuously more complex transmission problems.

But new discoveries, new inventions, new equipment are keeping pace—are making possible a storm-proof, trouble-free service, continuously more extensive and efficient.
