HIGH TARIFF BURDEN REMAINS

While Coolidge Administration Reduces Income Taxes of Rich.

Amidst so much talk about tax relief, the most vital point of difference between the two political parties on tax reduction has not been emphasized. This relates to tariff tax reduction.

There are loud shouts for tax reduction for income taxpayers, who naturally represent the prosperous element at present, but not the slightest mention of the grinding tax burdens arising from existing extreme high tariffs, which are from time to time being raised rather than lowered. "Tax reduction" in the mind of the Coolidge administration seems now to mean the lowering of internal taxes and the raising of tariff taxes.

To those seeking honest and equitable tax relief, this partial and contradictory view is wholly indefensible and hypocritical. No one denies the existence of the most prohibitive and oppressive system of tariff taxation known to our fiscal history. The excesses, the injustices, and the anomalies of the Fordney tariff are without a world parallel today except in the case of Russia.

These colossal tariff injuries seriously affect living costs, production costs, freight costs, and wider and better foreign markets for our purposes. Every unbiased economic authority knows this to be true, and a vast number of excesses and excrescences could well be scrapped off the Fordney tariff system without the slightest injury to any efficient industry, economically justifiable in this country.

If the time is not over-ripe for some measure of relief from tariff exactions, it never has been and never will be. The amazing thing is that not over 15 per cent of our population are substantial beneficiaries of our present system of monstrous tariff taxation. And yet many victims among the remaining 85,000,000 people shrug their shoulders and intimate that it is not possible to bring about decent and honest tariff revision.

Agriculture is in a deplorable condition. It is weighed down by heavy state, local and tariff taxes. Tariff taxes are conceded to be the chief seat of the agricultural disease. Why should not senators and congressmen really interested in farm relief now strike at the seat of the disease instead of dodging and walking around it in pursuit of inadequate remedies?

A delightful party was held at the home of John D. Decker, of Decker Valley, on November 2, in honor of the Jury Commission's ninety-second birthday anniversary. Eighty-seven were laid at a sumptuous banquet, which was attended by all his children and many friends. Mr. Decker is the oldest official in the county, if not in the State.

PINE GROVE MILLS

High prices and scarcity of turkeys caused few to grace the Thanksgiving board.

Christ Miller, who suffered a partial stroke of paralysis a few weeks ago, was taken to the Altoona hospital.

Jacob Cramer purchased a farm at sheriff's sale recently and is going back to farming, next spring, which he quit four years ago.

J. Alfred Musser and son Fred, in their new Franklin sedan, motored in from Indiana Friday, visiting relatives in town.

Bert Lee, postal clerk over the Reading R. R. made his annual hunt for small game, and left for home last week after bagging 23 rabbits and a number of grey squirrels.

At the Col. T. D. Boal sale, last Friday, the highest cow sold for $160, while implements sold at sacrifice prices. The sale totaled $4,200. L. F. Mayes was the auctioneer.

A recent letter from R. W. Dale of Lakewood, Florida, states that they suffered little from the storm and that their damage was little or nothing. Conditions are almost normal again and tourists are coming in by delegations as though nothing had happened.

Among those who motored to Pittsburgh Thanksgiving day to see Penn State get walloped were Prof. Bemis and wife, of State College; Mrs. Bemis' father, Mr. Woodring, of Port Matilda; H. C. Ewing and Miss Elizabeth Archey. They were accompanied by L. D. Skinner, who plays the part of the "Nittany Lion."

Wedding bells rang out Thanksgiving season, Wednesday night Howard W. Harpster, of Penna. Furnace, and Miss Etta Grove Koch, of Pine Grove Mills, motored to the Presbyterian parsonage near Balleysville and were united in marriage by Rev. A. Minick. They then motored to Tyrone where the marriage supper was served by relatives, and after the feast they took the train for the Sesqui and other points of interest. The bride is the second daughter of Geo. W. Koch and is a splendid young lady. Both are well known in this valley. The groom holds down a good job with the Penna. at Altoona where they expect to reside.

Thanksgiving day, L. C. Harpster, the popular auctioneer, led Miss Mildred Peters to the marriage altar. Motoring to Boalsburg, they sought Rev. W. W. Moyer, and presenting the proper credentials they were soon united in wedlock. After receiving congratulations they departed in their Franklin sedan for Philadelphia and other eastern cities. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Peters, of Rock Springs.

And still they come. Several other marriages are on the slate for near future dates.

WRIGHT CAN HAVE OLD JOB.

Former Highway Commissioner Not After Post, But Might Return.

While it is said there is nothing definite settled about the Cabinet of Governor-elect John S. Fisher, it is understood at the Capitol that if Paul D. Wright, of Erie, former State Highway Commissioner, wants to accept the berth again he can head the Highway Department.

There are few things further from the thought of Mr. Wright than public office, his friends say. Governor Pinchot had to work hard to get him into the Highway Department. They split, however, when the Governor directed the improvement of a road in Bradford county out of the funds earmarked for other than new road building. Mr. Wright refused to do the work and quit.

W. H. Connell, of Philadelphia, engineering executive, agreed to do what the Governor wanted and was made acting secretary. The Governor never appointed him to succeed Mr. Wright and it is not at all likely that Governor Fisher will offer him the place, although according to common gossip, he is working hard to land the post.

Vindication of his course would be the only reason why the former secretary would come back as secretary. But if he returns it would be with more reluctance than when he first agreed to head the department.

McConnell's o. k. was necessary to change the route in Seven Mountains from a water grade to over the tops of mountains with miles of eight per cent grade. His retirement ought to help the service.

Presidential Candidates Suggested.

A correspondent of a New England contemporary suggests Charles E. Hughes and Newton D. Baker as Republican and Democratic candidates respectively for 1928, and declares that "whichever won, the victory would be greeted by millions of earnest men and women in both parties alike with gratitude and joy." Regarding the capabilities of these two gentlemen there can be no question. Mr. Hughes' record is well known, but it is not so generally recognized that Mr. Baker, besides having been a brilliantly successful Secretary of War, is one of the country's leading lawyers, whose fame is steadily rising. It is not likely that Mr. Hughes, having tried his luck in 1916, would care to repeat the game 12 years later, but Mr. Baker, who is only 55 years old, would doubtless be more venturesome. His equipment for the Presidency is unusual, for besides his extended legal experience he has demonstrated remarkable executive ability both as Mayor of Cleveland for two terms and as Secretary of War under President Wilson. In every position he has held during the past 39 years he has made good. The Democracy might do much worse than give heed to such a suggestion.

TWO MEN FATALLY HURT AT BLANCHARD

Ray Leate and Orrin Hanna, of Juniata, Die From Injuries Received When Car Strikes Bridge Railing.

Two men are dead and three others injured as a result of an accident which happened at the iron bridge crossing the creek at Blanchard.

The five men had gone to Juniata to Clinton county to buy turkeys, and falling in securing them had purchased chickens and were on their way home with their purchases when the accident happened.

In turning at the narrow bridge to avoid another car they struck the railing of the bridge, and were thrown out. One man, Ray Leate, of Juniata, was severely injured, and has since died in Juniata. Orrin Hanna was found dead in the bottom of the creek by the other three companions, who were also thrown into the waters of the creek, but whose injuries are not considered serious.

FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS.

The 1926 sale of Christmas seals to fight tuberculosis is now on.

These seals, messengers of health, picture three minstrels who in their "Merry Christmas" message are spreading health and happiness.

These seals cannot be used as postage but are to be placed on the reverse side of letters and parcel post packages. They can also be used on gift packages in the home.

Much of the work of the Tuberculosis society for the coming year will depend upon the success of the sale of these little seals. For this reason it is the hope of the officers of the county society that the goal can be reached in order to make possible the most extensive health program of the association.

Since the Christmas seal was first sold in 1907 the death rate from tuberculosis has been materially decreased but the disease is still a serious menace.

The majority of the victims are taken between the ages of 15 and 45 years.

If the war against tuberculosis is to continue, the aid of the public is needed, and at this time of the year the Christmas seals come as one of the most convenient ways in which the public can show its appreciation of the work of the tuberculosis organizations, local, state and national, and at the same time make possible a continuation of this very necessary health program.

Centre county in 1926 has 96 less dogs carrying license tags than in 1925. Dogs now number 3,494. There are in the State 482,928 dogs.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold their bazaar in their rooms of the church, on the afternoon and evening of December 4th. There will be a nice variety of both useful and fancy articles from which to choose Christmas gifts. A chicken and noodle supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock, and ice cream and cake will be on sale. adv.

DEER HUNTING SEASON OPENS.

As the Reporter goes to press the deer hunting season opens. The season at this time is but a few hours old, consequently no reports of killings can be made in this issue.

Seven Mountains, reputed to be one of the best hunting regions in the State, is alive with hunters. Additional permanent camps have been established, and groups of hunters with temporary quarters have squatted on or convenient to prolific fields. Day hunters are also becoming more numerous than heretofore and they hope that like last year their efforts will meet with the same good success. The individual hunter—the man who hunts but a few hours each day—who struts along the edge of the mountains and through the fields, also finds his buck not infrequently.

Sections where a month ago deer could be seen almost any time have apparently been forsaken by the fleet-footed game. The little animals once bold enough to look you in the eye from under an apple tree in the Bible tract, at Sunset, or at the Foust place, became very shy within the past ten days. Few deer and less bucks could be seen on a trip over the State highway from Porters Mills to the end of the concrete road during the past week. Something seems to have told the deer of the coming season—if it was instinct, all the better.

MRS. ROGER T. BAYARD TO BE GUEST AT EXECUTIVE MANSION

Signal Honor for Former Centre Hall Lady, and Husband, in Invitation from Governor and Mrs. Pinchot to Be Present at Dinner Today.

One of the nicest honors to be tendered Tyrone residents, was that received recently by Mrs. Roger T. Bayard, of Eighth street, in a personal invitation from Governor and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, to Mr. and Mrs. Roger T. Bayard, to be present at a dinner to be given at 7 o'clock p. m., at the executive mansion today (Thursday). This is the third time Mrs. Bayard has been invited to the executive mansion. She was formerly Miss Florence Thome, daughter of the late Hon. Leonard Rhoads, of Centre Hall, for four years member of the legislature from Centre county. She was prominently identified with the State Grange, and since going to Tyrone has been particularly active in civic and church affairs. Her many friends in Centre Hall are naturally elated that her labors have been recognized.

Corner Stone Laying.

Harry E. Knepp, chairman of the building committee, assisted by John D. Lucas and James J. Maury, the three serving as overseers of work throughout the progress of construction now under way at Trinity Reformed Church, Oak street and Central avenue, Lewistown, set in position the corner stone for the completion section of that church's group of structures, shortly after the noon hour Sunday. Following their treatment of the stone, the pastor, Rev. Dr. F. A. Ruple, led the acts of religious devotion appropriate to the occasion.

Rev. A. A. Black, now deceased, when pastor of the Reformed church at Boalsburg, preached the sermon at the organization of the congregation now erecting the new edifice.

The McClure Bank Robbery.

The Burns detective agency is trying to discover who looted the McClure bank. In New York several men and women are under arrest.

A check-up of the loss places the amount definitely at $103,566, as follows: $50,359 in coupon bonds; $51,650 in registered bonds, and $1,557 in cash. No check-up has yet been made of the safe deposit boxes, but it is thought that he amount missing from these will not go over $15,000.

POTTERS MILLS.

ROAD SUPERVISORS AND AUDITORS TO MEET

State Highway Department to Be Represented by Several Officials—Meeting December 7th.

The Department of Highways in conjunction with the officers of the Township Supervisors' Association of Centre county has scheduled Tuesday, December 7th, as the date for holding the annual convention of the association. The meeting will be held in the Court House at Bellefonte at 10 A. M.

The purpose of this convention is to discuss the township road problems and to devise ways and means to advance the improvement of township highways.

The association membership is made up of township supervisors and township auditors of the townships of the second class in Centre county, each township supervisor and township auditor being a member of the association. The officers of the association are Harry Abstein, president (now deceased); Harry Brown, secretary, and E. J. Gentzel, treasurer.

These officers have arranged for a very interesting program and expect to have one of the most largely attended meetings this association has had since its organization.

The Department of Highways will be represented at this meeting by N. A. Staples, District Engineer, and F. W. Curtis, Assistant Engineer of the Bellefonte office, and C. D. Felton, Assistant Engineer of the Harrisburg office.

Community Christmas Cantata.

Centre Hall will have a Community Christmas Cantata, something new in a Christmas song festival. A committee, composed of two members from each of the five Sunday schools in the town, are now at work in preparation for the event. So far about all that has been done has been to select the conductor, the pianist and the time for holding the service. Mrs. Alberta Krader, of Bellefonte, has agreed to conduct the cantata, while Mrs. J. M. Kirkpatrick, of Centre Hall, has been selected as pianist. The singers will be selected from the community, and it is expected that thirty or more will participate.

The date selected is Thursday evening, December 23rd, and one of the five churches of the town will be named at a later date as the place for holding the cantata.

This committee also has in charge the securing and placing of a community Christmas tree, in the square.

Old Map of Penna.

While looking over some of the personal effects of the late Prof. W. A. Kris, W. S. Slick found one of Mitchell's tourist maps of Pennsylvania issued in 1821. It is in splendid condition and folds up conveniently in size for a side pocket. The back is of leather. The map is highly colored, 12 1/2 by 15 inches in size, and shows fifty-one counties. The population of the State is given at 1,359,251; Centre (the spelling being e-e-n-t-r-e) county is credited with 18,756. Potter county is least in population, having but 1265, and Philadelphia county the largest with 188,956.

The principal roads, passing through the county are shown and are the road from Northumberland to Birmingham (Huntingdon county). This road touches Aaronburg, Millheim, Earleysburg, Boalsburg, Pattonville. The road north and south through the county leads from Lewistown to Earleysburg, Bellefonte, Milesboro, where it intersects with the road east and west from Williamsport to Phillipsburg. Other towns than those mentioned are Rahersburg and Walkersville; the latter being about two miles west of Boalsburg, now known as Shingletown.

HENRY FORD PLANS TO BEAT DEVIL BY GIVING BOYS REAL WORK.

Automobile Manufacturer Instructs Employment Office to Hire 5,000 Boys, Believing that Idleness is Reason for Youths Turning to Crime.

Henry Ford plans to compete with the devil, who proverbially finds work for idle hands, it was revealed in an interview with the automobile man in World's Work. Ford's plan is simply to get honest work into the idle hands before the devil has a chance to set them at dishonest work.

Crime, Ford says, is largely an expression of a desire to get easy money, and is committed in the main by youths not being taken care of by industry.

"As an experiment," he says, "we have instructed our employment officers to take on five thousand boys between sixteen and twenty as quickly as possible, put them at men's wages." Ford says he "takes no stock about boys and girls having degenerated," but that when they are released from school, a crisis comes to most. After a few efforts to get work, he says, they drift into idleness and loose ways.

A few weeks ago, he says, he asked a fire chief to count how many boys between sixteen and twenty attend the next fire. The fire chief, he says, got fired counting after reaching 2,200.

"The fire happened," Ford explained, "at three in the afternoon" when few boys who held jobs could get away from them. Nine-tenths of these boys must have been just hanging around keeping out of sight of their parents.

MAN GETS BULLET WHICH WAS INTENDED FOR PIG

George Albright, of Tyrone, Probably Fatally Wounded While Butchering, Thanksgiving Day.

George Albright, 40 years old, of 1207 Hamilton avenue, Tyrone, was probably fatally wounded shortly before 2 o'clock Thanksgiving morning, at the home of his brother-in-law, Alvin Ray, who lives nearby, when he was accidentally shot in an effort to kill a pig, which was being butchered.

Albright, early in the morning, went to the Ray home to help butcher a large porker. The pig was captured by Albright, who was struggling with it, when it suddenly made its escape. Albright called to Alvin Ray to shoot the porker, and giving chase was in direct path of the bullet fired by Ray.

The bullet, which was from a .32-caliber revolver, entered Albright's body just below the heart, and came out the back. He was rendered unconscious.

Dr. John B. Nason, of Tyrone, was immediately summoned, and administered first aid, ordering the removal of the victim to the Altoona hospital.

Some Turnip!

Farmer Roy Garbrick, west of town, just smiled when he read in one of the Centre county papers last week that a certain farmer raised a turnip which he thought would take the prize for size, since it measured 23 inches in circumference and weighed 5 1/2 lbs. Going to his patch, Mr. Garbrick took hold of one which he believed had it beat to a frazzle, and procuring measuring tape and scales he found his giant turnip to weigh exactly 7 pounds and measure 26 inches in circumference. The turnip was a "purple top," the seed for which he purchased locally.

Hospital at Evangelical Home.

Hospital equipment costing $3,000 has arrived in Lewisburg and soon the Emergency hospital at the Evangelical homes will be fully equipped and ready for use.

Miss Alice M. Snyder, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Snyder, reported for service last Friday.

Dog's Bark Saves Family.

The bark of "Jack," the faithful watchdog at the home of William Swanger, in Yeagerstown, saved the entire family from death, one night last week when a fire began in a store building owned by Jane Hollis. It had gained considerable headway under the floors in the second story, occupied by the Swangers, when the continual barking of the dog awakened the family. An alarm brought the Burnham fire companies after they had escaped.

Banks Open All Day Saturdays.

Both banks in Centre Hall will be open Saturday afternoon and closed Saturday evening, starting Saturday, December 4th.

A jet black deer was seen along the road across Tussey mountain, at Pine Grove Mills. The strange colored animal was closely looked over by D. D. Peachey and C. G. Milliken, two Mifflin county cow buyers.

Fred, son of Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Daubenspeck, of Aaronburg, was taken to the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville, and while there an operation for mastoids was performed. Not so long ago the youth was knocked down and run over by an auto, the most serious injury having been a broken leg.

PRESIDENT'S FAMILY ARRIVES AT PENN STATE

Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, who will start as president of Pennsylvania State College in January, accompanied his family to the college last Saturday, and after seeing Mrs. Hetzel and their five children settled on the campus, returned early in the week to his present duties at the University of New Hampshire. The arrival was during the Thanksgiving recess at the college, and the Hetzels were greeted by Judge H. Walton Mitchell, president of the board of trustees, and other college officials.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS.

William D. Shoop, who for a number of years was a clerk in the Pauble clothing store, is again employed there and will remain to the close of the year.

Miss Mary Weber and Miss Ruth Grove, students in a commercial school in Williamsport, were at their respective homes over the Thanksgiving vacation period.

The American Car and Foundry Co., at Milton, received an order for three hundred tank cars. Half of the tanks will have a capacity of 8,000 gallons, the others 10,000-gallon capacity.

Earl J. Grove, who has been employed on the farm by his brother, Herbert Grove, near Red Mill, will go to Altoona this week, where he expects to be employed on a large dairy farm.

Mrs. E. E. Zettle recently entertained a class in the Lutheran Sunday school. The attendance was almost complete. Every member enjoyed the program executed as well as the splendid refreshments.

Fifty Japanese white pine cedar trees were shipped recently to the management of the Sesqui-centennial at Philadelphia by W. F. McKinney, forest ranger at the State House in Seven Mountains.

Lester Garbrick, driving a Star coupster, collided on the diamond with a sedan driven by a stranger. No great damage was done. The parties, it appears, adjusted their losses after a brief private conference.

Mrs. L. L. Smith returned home from the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville, the latter part of last week. She had a number of teeth removed that are supposed to have been removed for much of her trouble.

John D. Patterson, the Boalsburg merchant, has a reputation for growing large hogs, and this year is no exception to the rule. He has two which he expects will tip the scales at over 1100 pounds, dressed, at butchering time.

William White, of Centre Hall, had the ill fortune to lose his bill fold containing some forty dollars, on Wednesday night last week, between Centre Hall and the Edgemoor gas station, at Axemann. He offers a reward for its return.

The apple crop in the Frank Gibbons orchard, near Belleville, was of sufficient importance to attract a photographer who made a picture of the orchard, the picking, sorting and packing of the fruit. The picture will be shown on Mifflin county screens.

Rev. Ralph W. Hingsworth, son of Rev. Ralph Hingsworth, who served a Methodist pastorate in Penna. Valley some years ago, has accepted a call by the Presbyterian church in Phillipsburg, Rev. Hingsworth was previously located at Fredericktown, Ohio.

William H. Lingle, wife and little daughter, Arlene, of Sunbury, were guests of relatives in the valley during last week, among whom was his sister, Mrs. Bloomer Weyer. Mr. Lingle is route foreman for the Sunbury Milk and Products Company, where he has been employed for ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Smith, of Williamsport, their daughter Margaret and husband, William Hunter, and Mr. Smith's sister and husband, Harry Jackson, were an auto party who spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cloyd Brooks, west of town. The men had rabbit hunting in mind, but a continuous rain prevented their engaging in this sport.

Luther Musser, the Penn Hall music teacher, was in town on Friday. He has a number of music classes in various villages in the valley, and is especially looking forward to a concert in the Zion Hill Evangelical church, near Tusseyville, as the climax to a season of instruction to a class of some thirty of Tusseyville and Colyer students among whom, he says, are some fine singers.

The Rev. P. N. Osborne, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Rocky Grove, Pa., has accepted the office of chaplain of the Rockview penitentiary and will assume his duties on January 1st. Rev. Osborne will succeed Rev. C. E. Kolb, incumbent, whose resignation has been accepted, effective on December 1st, so that he could assume the duties of state secretary of the Christian Endeavor, with headquarters at Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ralston and children, of Mifflinburg, ate their Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mrs. Ralston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Brooks, in Centre Hall. Mr. Ralston holds the position of advertising manager of the Mifflinburg Telegraph and Montgomery Mirror, the latter a publication recently revived by the Telegraph company. He is also manager of the Mifflinburg moving theatre.

The Smulton correspondent to the Mifflin Journal compliments in laudable words Mifflin Moyer, who takes care of the Millheim Turnpike which was taken over by the county commission. It is showing the people what his would have done to the roads of Miles township had he been elected supervisor of said township. We believe that the crushed stone which are at the side of the roads would have been put on the beaten path and the chuck holes between our town and the pike would have been imbedded some of them to the satisfaction of the tax payers and the traveling public in general.
