

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Men's 4-buckle dress arctics, $3.45—Yeager's Tiny Boot Shop.

Mrs. James W. Runkle has been quite ill since the beginning of this week.

Merchant Charles Cupples was successful in killing a buck on Monday, while hunting with a party of local day hunters making the Bradford camp their headquarters.

Mrs. Jacob Sharer and son Franklin drove to Lock Haven on Saturday and until Monday remained with Miss Mabel Sharer, in the school for nurses in the Lock Haven hospital.

The Centre county board of jury commissioners will meet on Monday and together with the court will select 660 names and place them in the jury wheel for use during 1927.

Of more than thirty sacks of mail received at the local post office on a recent morning, more than one-half of them were made up at a well known mail order house in Philadelphia. And they were not catalogues, either.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, on the Wagner farm south of Centre Hall, Sunday evening. The newcomer on arrival weighed nine pounds and had ample lung power to heartily greet a brother and sister.

Miss Mary Weber and Miss Ruth Grove, last week, completed their course of study in the Williamsport Commercial College, and returned to their homes here. They will both be employed in the offices of the Kerlin Grand View Poultry Farm, in this place.

James L. Decker, who a short time ago purchased the Harper farm east of Centre Hall, has decided to move onto it with his family next spring. Mr. Decker has several grown sons who will be standbys in operating the Harper place, one of the largest farms in this section.

Mrs. E. C. Cronk, of Philadelphia, well known to women engaged in mission work in the Lutheran church, is seriously ill in the Lock Haven hospital. After delivering an address in a Lutheran church in that city, Mrs. Cronk was found in the pastor's study unable to speak.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gross Shook, of Spring Mills, are attending the sessions of the Pennsylvania State Grange in Lancaster. Mr. Shook is secretary of the Centre County Pomona Grange. Progress Grange is not represented, its master, G. W. Ralston, not being able to attend.

Centre county will not be represented by an exhibit of corn at the corn show at Harrisburg, owing to the fact that the county is quarantined against shipping corn because of the discovery of the corn borer within its boundaries. It appears the borer was last discovered on a farm west of Centre Hall, in Potter township.

William Horner Whitehill, nine-year-old son of Mrs. Grace Whitehill, of State College, was rushed to the Centre County hospital Sunday afternoon, and at 9:00 o'clock the same evening an operation for appendicitis was performed. The lad's condition was extremely critical at the outset, but since he has improved sufficiently to guarantee his ultimate recovery.

Under the direction of Prof. I. P. Myers, the pupils of the local public schools will render a cantata, entitled "What Happened to Santa," Wednesday evening prior to Christmas, in Grange Academy. No admission will be charged, but the silver offering should be liberal. Every possible encouragement should be given the school children in undertakings of this character.

Miss Carrie Sweetwood, R. N., who is practicing her profession in Philadelphia, was injured in an auto collision and is confined to a hospital. She is suffering from injuries to her back, as revealed by x-ray pictures. Miss Sweetwood, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Sweetwood, of Norristown, formerly of Centre Hall, was seated in the rear seat of a car, the physician who was accompanying being the driver, when a car struck them. The physician received no injuries.

The Butaw House, at Potters Mills, of which W. E. Lee is proprietor, did a rushing business during the hunting season. Two parties, one the Flood City Hunting Club, with a roster of thirty-one men, and the Lone Pines Club, with thirty-two members, made their headquarters at the hotel. Aside from this there were many hunters who stopped there for only a day or perhaps a meal. The hotel is in the good graces of the Seven Mountain hunters, who appreciate the accommodations extended to all guests whether for a long or short stay at the hostelry.

A very foolish and inconsiderate man put to great inconvenience all users of electric light, heat and power in Penna. Valley and Bellefonte—in fact, all the county connected with the 44,000-volt transmission line passing over Tussey Mountain at Pine Grove Mills. It was done by shooting to pieces several insulators on that mountain. The interference was Saturday afternoon at about three o'clock and it was five hours later that light was supplied. If the man who did the mischief had all the curses piled on him that the Keystone Power got, he would be humped-backed, all the remainder of his life.

The Camp Union Deer Club, of York, who had headquarters at the John Blausser home, at Potters Mills, during the early part of the deer season, killed four bucks the first day of the season, two more than were credited them in the printed report last week. A seven-point was shot by Carl Stambaugh, a five-point by Wilfred Spangler, both of Thomasville; a five-point by John Eyer, of Emigsville and a four-point by C. M. Benedict. Mr. Blausser, who acted as guide for the party, stated to the Reporter that only poor marksmanship was responsible for the party failing to get their full quota of six deer the first day.
