Auto Oil for Pigs.
Oil drained from the crank case of an automobile effectively destroys lice on hogs, says the United States Department of Agriculture. It may be poured into the hog wallow when the weather is mild. During cold weather, however, it is best to sprinkle oil on the hogs with a sprinkling can, making a number of light applications at intervals of about ten days. Don't cover the hogs thoroughly with oil at one time. Apply some of the oil to their ears with a swab, as the lice may lay eggs inside the ears.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

SPRING MILLS
The funeral of Mrs. Annie Immel, on Tuesday, was attended by a large circle of relatives. Mrs. Immel will be missed in the vicinity. She was always ready to help out in every case of sickness or need. Her many friends mourn her loss.

The L. O. O. F. will hold their banquet on Thursday evening of this week.

Miriam Shook returned from the hospital at Lewistown on Sunday. Although greatly improved she is still unable to walk without crutches.

Miles Bressler took his youngest son to the Geisinger hospital at Danville for an operation on one of his hands. The lad's fingers had grown together. Jacob Sharer, of Centre Hall, was a visitor at the home of his son, Jacob Sharer, Jr., on Tuesday.

Wednesday, Feb. 2nd, (ground hog day), as well as Candlemas day. Winter is half over. The farmers should still have half their feed remaining.

Miss Ethel V. Duck, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Duck, of Midway, Washington county, formerly of Madisonburg and later of Millinburg, was seized with an attack of acute appendicitis and was taken to the Hanover General Hospital by her parents, accompanied by Dr. M. J. Brennan, where an operation was performed by Dr. Wright, assisted by Dr. Bernman. According to latest reports the patient is doing as well as can be expected. This is the second operation for appendicitis in this family within 7 months. Mr. Duck having been operated on at the Warner Hospital at Gettysburg on July 12th.

DEATHS

GETTIG.—Mrs. Samue D. Gettig died Sunday afternoon in the Centre County hospital where she had undergone an operation for the removal of the appendix and gall stones about ten days previous. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the home; interment in Bellefonte, services having been conducted by Rev. Reed O. Steeley, pastor of the Evangelical church.

Mrs. Gettig was a daughter of Michael and Rebecca (Kerstetter) Kerstetter, and would have become fifty years of age on June let, next, had she lived. Her husband, Samuel D. Gettig, a well-known attorney, and two children—Mussler, a teacher in the Bellefonte public schools, and Miss Eleanor, a stenographer in her father's office, survive her, as do also these brothers and sister: William W. Kerstetter and Ammon M. Kerstetter, of Pleasant Gap; James Kerstetter, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Reuben Welty, of Bellefonte.

IMMEL.—Mrs. Anna Immel, widow of Daniel Immel, died at Spring Mills, on Friday evening, at the home of Howard F. Weaver, for whom she kept house, after a brief illness of pneumonia. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning, interment in Paradise cemetery, near Coburn. Her age was 57 years, 3 months and 24 days.

She was the daughter of Jacob Auman and is survived by one son, George Immel, of Farmers Mills; also three brothers and three sisters, as follows: Daniel, Joseph and Motz C. Mrs. Daniel Musick and Mrs. M. C. Wance, all of Penn township, where the deceased was born, and Mrs. Emma Hasenplug, of Spring Mills.

JORDAN.—Mrs. Sarah (Seltzer) Jordan, 86 years old, widow of the late Peter Jordan, and a resident of Will county, Illinois, nearly sixty years, died at the home of her son, Horace G. Jordan, of Manhattan, Illinois, following a protracted illness.

Born in Berks county, Pa., January 12, 1841, Mrs. Jordan was united in marriage to Peter Jordan in 1858, and the couple moved to Will county ten years later, settled on a farm near Wilton Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan moved to Joliet in 1883, and Mr. Jordan died on December 26, 1912. Some time ago his widow went to Manhattan to live with her son.

Besides the son, Mrs. Jordan is survived by two daughters, Mrs. P. J. Stanton, of Joliet; and Mrs. Fred K. Goodspeed, of California.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jordan were reared in Potter township where the elder Jordan and Seltzer lived. The Jordans living there now are relatives.

WYTHE.—Frank Burton Wythe, who was serving his second term as postmaster at Philipsburg, died Wednesday night of last week. He was born in Mahony City, in 1869, but had lived in Philipsburg for forty years. He began life as a compositor on the Johnstown Herald and later on the Philipsburg Journal.

HORNER.—Mrs. Catherine Horner, widow of the late William Horner, died in the State College State Hospital, three days after the death of her mother, Mrs. Amanda Ripka, an account of whose death appeared in the issue of this paper of last week.

She is survived by one son, Clyde W. Horner, of Lewistown, and three daughters—Mrs. John Drabe and Miss Adalene Horner, of Altoona, and Mrs. Alice Williams, of State College. One sister, Mrs. Alice Sheesley, of Lewisburg, and two brothers, William Ripka, of State College, and Edward Ripka, of Millroy, also survive. Interment was made at Lewistown beside the body of her husband.

STOVER.—John H. Stover, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Mill Hall, died at his home of ailments incident to old age. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and was born in Brush Valley, January 10, 1842. When a young man he removed to Flemington, where he learned the blacksmith trade with Samuel Wren.

At the outbreak of the Civil War Mr. Stover enlisted as a volunteer and remained in the service for three months. He re-enlisted August 23, 1864, and was made corporal in Company D, First Penna. Cavalry, under Captain Warren L. Halbrook. He served his country faithfully until the close of the war, receiving his discharge June 6, 1865, at a camp near Alexandria, Va. He was in a number of major engagements. At the battle of Hatcher Run he was wounded from the effects of which he suffered until his death. Mr. Stover was twice married and is survived by his second wife—Ray ne Aaron, and Mrs. Harry Tyson, all of Mill Hall.

SWARM.—John E. Swarm, of Williamsport, died after a lingering illness. He was 80 years of age. For the past thirty years he had been a resident of Williamsport, but prior to that time lived in Centre county, having lived for a while at Centre Hall and Spring Mills.

Surviving Mr. Swarm are his wife, the following daughters: Mrs. H. B. Herring, of Spring Mills; Mrs. J. Ott, of South Williamsport, and Miss Clara C. Swarm, at home; one son, W. L. Swarm, of Millheim; and one sister, Mrs. Mary A. Dolander of Beltsgrove. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning of last week at the residence at Williamsport. Interment in the Fairview cemetery at Millheim, services at the grave being in charge of Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck.

The hull-less or naked oat, although attractive in appearance, is an exceedingly poor yielder, particularly susceptible to smut and other diseases. It is primarily a plant novelty, and farmers are advised not to grow it.

Farmers Want Electric Service.

A group of farmers east of Centre Hall are anxious to have the Keystone Power Company extend its lines so that they may have electrical service for light and power on their farms. A meeting of farmers was held at the home of Clyde Dutrow, in town, on Tuesday evening, attended by a representative of the Keystone Power Company.

Tentative arrangements were made at this meeting providing for the extension of an electric service line as far east along the Brush Valley road as the Dutrow farm, tenanted by John Dutrow; a branch line to run along the private road leading from the Brush Valley road to the W. H. Homan farm, tenanted by Ralph Homan. This would give service to all along the Brush Valley road to the terminus of the proposed line, and the branch line to the Homan farm, Keller, Luse, Crust, Krape and Frohm farms.

There is a possibility of extending the branch to the Decker farms.

Child Injured at School.

Lois McKibben, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McKibben, of Salona, suffered a fracture of both bones of the right leg between the knee and the ankle and burst a blood vessel.

The little girl was skating near the school house and some boys who were coasting came around the corner of the building. They were traveling so fast that it was impossible for them to turn out and so struck the child, throwing her to the ground and injuring her. She was admitted to the Lock Haven hospital, where it was found impossible to set the bone because of the burst blood vessel.

Mamolen—Nieman.

Miss Miriam Nieman, second daughter of Merchant D. J. Nienna, of Millheim, and Morris M. Mamolen, of New York, were married at the home of Dr. Samuel Fire, in the latter city, Sunday a week ago, the families of the contracting parties being witnesses to the affair.

The Millheim Journal makes this reference to the wedding: Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party congregated at the Hotel Manhattan Square where a reception was held for the newlyweds.

Mr. Mamolen and his bride departed on a honeymoon at the conclusion of the latter function, their itinerary unknown to any but themselves. Miss Nieman, an accomplished young lady, is a graduate of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, class of 1925.

Mr. Mamolen, a cousin of his bride, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mamolen, of Williamsport, and held a lucrative position in New York City. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1924.

The young couple will make Millheim their home and will be at home in the Nieman apartments in the near future. Mr. Mamolen will become a business associate in the D. J. Nieman clothing store.

Mr. Nieman, with his son, Lester, daughter, Rosaline, and his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Zucker, the latter of Sharon, Pa., were guests at the wedding ceremony and reception.

The newlyweds have the good wishes of a host of admiring friends.

Word was received by Millheim relatives recently of the death of their home in Houston, Texas, of Eileen Keister, wife of Clarence Keister.
