

Slowing Up?

OVERWORK, worry and lack of rest, all put extra burdens on the kidneys. When the kidneys slow up, waste poisons remain in the blood and are apt to make one languid, tired and aching, with dull headaches, dizziness and often a nagging back-ache.

A common warning of imperfect kidney action is scanty or burning secretions. Doan's Pills assist the kidneys in their eliminative work. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. F. E. Watson, 7 High St., Lynn, Mass., says: "The time came when I found myself in bad health. The kidney secretions were scanty and caused me much annoyance. My back ached constantly and I had attacks of dizziness. Doan's Pills were prompt in helping me and I shall never cease to be grateful to them."

Dates and Titles of French Kings

Whether one believes that figures never lie or that they may be manipulated to mean almost anything, it is curious to find a writer in Les Motes Croisées busying himself with pointing out the following coincidences:

Louis IX of France was born in 1215. If you take the trouble to add these four digits you will discover that the total, nine, just equals the figure in the king's title.

Charles VII, known as the Wise, came into the world in 1402. Addition discloses that the sum of your efforts will match Charles' number in the succession of his name.

Louis XIV began to reign in the year 1643 and this assuredly adds up to fourteen; he was seventy-seven years of age when he died and one gets fourteen points from the two sevens.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Kellogg Curtly Refuses to Discuss Mellon Letter With England.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WHEN Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in a recent letter to President Hibben of Princeton university stated that "all our principal debtors are already receiving from Germany more than enough to pay their debts to the United States," there was immediate protest in England against the accuracy of the statement in so far as it applied to Great Britain. Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill and others made heated speeches, but it was not supposed that the government would take formal notice of the matter. Last week, however, Washington was surprised to receive from Great Britain a long note attacking Mr. Mellon's letter and asking that the United States government "take steps to remove the unfortunate impression that has been created by the issue of this statement."

Secretary of State Kellogg conferred with President Coolidge and others and then handed to the British ambassador this decidedly curt reply:

"The government of the United States regards the correspondence between Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hibben as a purely domestic discussion and does not desire to engage in any formal diplomatic exchanges upon the subject."

Mr. Mellon, believing the attacks in the British note should not go unanswered, gave out a statement justifying and explaining at length the position he has taken in the discussion.

Diplomatic circles in London were as much surprised by the British note as was Washington. In government opposition circles there was an inclination to suspect that the note was meant largely for home consumption and for the benefit of the Conservative party, which has difficulty in explaining the budget deficit.

AMERICAN correspondents in Geneva say that the underlying idea of all delegations (except the American) at the League of Nations economic conference which opened last week is that the most practical step toward world reconstruction and general prosperity would be the cancellation of all war debts and reparations. Some of them also had schemes for the limitation of production of wheat, corn, cotton, copper and other goods, chiefly produced in the United States. The American delegates, headed by Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, were primed to meet all such suggestions. Soviet Russia, having settled her quarrel with Switzerland, sent a bunch of economists led by Valerian Ossinski. That gentleman said they would submit "concrete proposals to alleviate the difficulties of the bourgeois world and give a full report on what was accomplished in Soviet Russia."

M. Theunis of Belgium is presiding over the conference and 50 nations are represented. The conference will adopt resolutions and make recommendations, which, however, will not be binding on the countries represented, whatever may be the attitude of their delegations.

FACTS and problems of commerce and trade on the Western continent were brought out and discussed in Washington where both the third Pan-American commercial congress and the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States were in session. President Coolidge was chief speaker at a joint session of the two bodies and set forth the development of trade between the United States and the countries of Central and South America. He said that not only has the United States purchased more from Latin-American countries than it has sold to them, but it had for a long time been the chief foreign purchaser of their products.

Next day the Chamber of Commerce heard reports from the principal sections of the country, all showing present prosperity with prospect of its continuance, except in the case of the farmer. His plight, in the Middle West and the cotton-growing part of the South, was described as discouraging.

FLOOD conditions in southeastern Arkansas, northeastern Louisiana and western Mississippi grew worse steadily during the week. The water, pouring through new crevasses on the Mississippi, inundated a region about 5,000 square miles in extent, only a few narrow ridges being left above the surface. Most of the population already had been gathered at concentration points, but many hundreds were left stranded on the levees and small high places. The rescue of these unfortunates was being carried on as rapidly as possible, being directed by the scores of navy aviators sent there by the government. Civilian Dictator Parker was in general charge of the rescue operations and was doing splendid work. Secretary Hoover returned to Washington long enough to report to the President, and the result was a call for another $5,000,000 subscription to the Red Cross relief fund. The spread of disease in the flooded states was the cause of great anxiety and of such precautions as could be taken.

"We have definite reports of 25 cases of typhoid fever in the refugee camps, and there probably are many others," said Dr. William R. Redden, medical director for the American Red Cross. "And the worst part of the health problem is to come in a week or ten days, when the disease has had an opportunity to manifest itself. The health problem will increase as the waters recede."

A hundred thousand persons were immunized with typhoid and smallpox antitoxin, and the Red Cross obtained from the army ten mobile laboratories for the purification of water.

President Coolidge has indicated that he did not think it necessary to call a special session of congress for providing relief and rehabilitation in the Mississippi valley. Senators Copeland of New York and La Follette of Wisconsin disagreed with him and both of them appealed to him by wire to call congress together. They asserted that funds from private resources would not be sufficient and that the flood victims were entitled to look to congress for assistance.

When Mr. Hoover returned from the capital he was accompanied by Secretary of War Davis, who was asked by the President to make a comprehensive study of the problem of flood control, in conjunction with the army engineers, and to submit recommendations for remedial legislation prior to the opening of the next congress. A flood-control conference also was held at Peoria, Ill., with numerous experts and officials in attendance. The people of the Middle West are so aroused by this disaster, described by Senator La Follette as the greatest in our history, that the national and state governments may be led at last to provide adequate protection against a repetition. Patchwork measures and dilatory tactics in the past have combined to make unified flood control impossible, according to those who have studied the subject. The federal government is held primarily responsible.

NINETY-FOUR men were entombed in the Everettville mine near Fairmont, W. Va., by an explosion. At the time of writing 29 bodies had been brought out by the rescue crews, and it was thought certain that all the rest of the unfortunate miners had perished, for fire was raging in parts of the workings.

THOUGH the peace conference in Nicaragua failed to accomplish its purpose, because the liberals would not consent to the retention of the Presidency by Adolfo Diaz, a two days' truce was arranged with the prospect of further negotiations. General Moncada, commander in chief of the liberal army, represented Doctor Sacasa at the conference and he said he was willing to treat further with Henry L. Stimson, the emissary of President Coolidge, provided the government troops were withdrawn from the Boaco and Teustepe regions where most of the liberals are concentrated. "Mr. Stimson told me," said General Moncada, "that the United States government intends to restore peace in Nicaragua immediately and to use force if necessary to do so." A number of the general's staff declared that if the United States formally ordered the liberals to lay down their arms and cease firing, they would be compelled to accept. But, he added, so long as the United States attempted to lay down terms, which included the continuance of Diaz in office, the liberals would fight for "constitutionality and justice for Nicaragua."

MARSHAL CHANG TSO-LIN'S Peking government executed the Chinese Reds caught in the raid on the Russian embassy grounds, and the other day it was reported that the Russian propagandists nabbed at the time were to be tried by court-martial. The Moscow government therefore transmitted to Peking a strong note warning Chang that if the Russians received the same sentence as the Chinese Communists, Russia would "immediately take the inevitable steps." The trials were postponed and a conference of Chinese officials was held at which, according to rumor, it was decided that the Russians should be deported. Mme. Michael Borodine, the captured wife of the Soviet adviser to the Cantonese government, presumably will have a separate trial.

Miles Lampson, British minister to China, has reported to his government that the Hankow faction of the Cantonese has offered to oust the Reds and make common cause with the Nanking moderates if the powers will cease further action against it. The offer was made by Foreign Minister Eugene Chen himself, but the London officials were suspicious that it was a ruse to gain further delay.

Some person or persons in Peking, apparently desirous of creating the impression that there was lack of harmony in the American government over its Chinese policy, sent out the report that Minister MacMurray had resigned. This was flatly denied in Washington and the administration showed considerable irritation over this and other false press stories from foreign sources. At present Mr. Coolidge does not see that any advantage could be derived by sending another note concerning the Nanking outrages, and he does not believe the other powers have agreed to follow up the former note and press for compliance because conditions in the ranks of the Nationalist party are too chaotic.

PREMIER POINCARÉ electrified France by the announcement that the government was planning the construction of a vast system of fortifications on its northern and eastern frontiers, so powerful and extensive that another invasion would be next to impossible. The northern gateways will be adequately safeguarded and the eastern gates at Verdun, Toul, Metz, Belfort and Strasbourg will be modernized. The plan also envisages the establishment of fortified works straight south to the Mediterranean.

EIGHT army aviators, the "good will" flyers who have been touring Central and South America, returned last week to Washington. President and Mrs. Coolidge and numerous officials went out to Bolling field to welcome them home, and to each flyer the President presented a certificate for the distinguished flying cross. It was announced, too, that posthumously awarded of the cross had been made to Capt. C. F. Woolsey and Lieut. J. W. Benton, who were killed when their planes crashed at Buenos Aires.

DETACHMENTS of the Arkansas National Guard were sent to Little Rock by the governor to avert threatened race riots as a result of the lynching of a negro. The victim of the mob had been identified as the attacker of two white women. After a few hours of strenuous work the militiamen gained control of the situation.

PRESIDENT FIGUEROA of Chile has resigned, and President Condorotis has withdrawn his resignation, agreeing to remain in office at least until September.

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

FARMER COMES TO TOWN

"I wish to buy some stocks and bonds. Nothing speculative. Public utility stuff preferred."
"Aren't you the farmer I boarded with last summer?"
"I am."
"Beg pardon, but last summer you talked dialect."
"That was for the summer boarders, my friend. I am talking finance now."

SHE'D BRIBE THEM

He—Do you think she'd tip the scales at a hundred and fifty pounds?
She—Yes, she'd actually bribe them if she could.

Some Credit in That

Boasting's a thing most men despise; But if you have that bent, Better to boast about your rise Than brag of your descent.

Infested

A conversation with an old Dartmouth farmer's wife turned on an empty house in the neighborhood.
"I am surprised," said the visitor, "that such a fine place should stand empty so long."
"Ah, sir," replied the old lady, "it's a fine house, but it's festive with rats."
—London Tit-Bits.

Considerate

Miss Thirtyodd—Oh, Mr. Blunt, this is so sudden.
Mr. Blunt—I know, but I thought you could stand surprise better than suspense.

Ruinous

Mrs. Crawford—Is that all you have left of the beautiful dinner set you got as a wedding present?
Mrs. Crabslaw—Yes; the breaks were against me.

Comforting Picture

Vera—I'm going to have the baby's picture taken today.
Henry—Have it taken when he's asleep. I'd like to know what he looks like that way.

GOOD FOR EXTRA SHOTS

He—Why does she have all her pins in the form of arrows?
She—So that Cupid will have plenty of ammunition, I suppose.

Fear the Band

We have a brand new radio. And folks, 'tis simply grand To turn a little dial or two, And hear a whole string band.

No Chance

Jerry—Saw Bill today.
Ted—What did he say?
Jerry—Nothing. His wife was with him.

Sidewalk Conversation

"Pardon me, madam," said the polite motorist, "I splashed one of your stockings."
"Would you kindly splash the other one?"
"Why?"
"I prefer them to match."

The Danger Signal

"How do you like your efficiency expert?"
"Fine! He says I have too much work to do."—Thrift Magazine.

Her Come-Back

He—Now that we are married, perhaps I might venture to point out a few of your little defects.
She—Don't bother, dear. I am quite aware of them. It was those little defects that prevented me from getting a much better man than you are.

Enough Said

Mr. Brewer—You had beauty and brains when I married you, Jane.
Mrs. Brewer—Well, I had beauty, but I couldn't have had brains, John.

Pneumonia Victim Praises Tanlac

Respected Baltimore matron, mother of seven children, tells how Tanlac helped her through convalescence to perfect health.

For several months Mrs. Alice Chaillou, 938 N. Wolfe St., had suffered from kidney trouble. To complicate matters pneumonia developed, leaving her weak and run-down.
"As soon as I could get out of bed," said Mrs. Chaillou, "I decided to try Tanlac, in order to build up my lost strength. My doctor made no objection, so I continued till four bottles had been used. The results surprised and delighted me."
"Even after the first bottle I regained strength so rapidly that I could hardly believe it possible. The effects of both the pneumonia and the old kidney trouble soon began to wear off, my appetite returned and my digestion was excellent."
"I am in splendid health now, look after my family of seven children and do all my own housework without difficulty. I am very grateful to Tanlac for what it did for me and give it first credit for bringing me back to my present health."

Mrs. Chaillou is but one of many thousands helped by Tanlac. It is nature's own tonic body builder, made from roots, herbs and bark. If overwork and neglect have left their mark on your health start in on Tanlac today. Your druggist has it. Over 52,000,000 bottles sold.

Flowers in Pickle

Flowers can be preserved in their natural colors and shapes by a new method recently tested with good results.

A half-inch layer of white scouring grade sand is placed in a dish or similar receptacle, and the flowers are inserted stem downward and sprinkled over until the petals and blossoms are covered. The dish is then put in a warm dry place, and in about a week most of the blooms will be found perfectly dry.

Blossoms treated in this way will often retain their natural shapes and colors for a year.
