

MRS. BASSETT ALWAYS TIRED

Now in Good Health by Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Michigan.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. Was first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day."—Mrs. E. F. Bassett, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

MISSIONARY TRAVELS IN AUTO-CHURCH

Father Riboud, a French Catholic missionary, believes in bringing the Gospel of God right to the door of the unbeliever instead of waiting for him to come and seek it. So he secured an automobile and equipped it with everything a chapel needs. Now he can minister to the soul-needs of the natives of the Dark continent. The photograph shows the exterior of the auto-church, with Father Riboud holding an illustrated Bible lesson to the semi-naked Malaisian children at Bukit Martajam, province of Wellesley via Penang (Malaisia).

NEW SPARK PLUG IS MONEY SAVER

Small Investment at Proper Time Helps Make Larger Outlay Unnecessary.

Exhaustive tests by automotive engineers prove that motor car owners many times are compelled to spend considerable money to have their engines overhauled, and new parts put in, to overcome operating difficulties that could have been obviated had a new set of spark plugs been installed at the proper time.

More than 2,000 tests reveal that a complete new set of spark plugs at the end of each 10,000 miles of driving, or at least once a year, is actual dollars and cents economy. These tests have definitely shown that the saving in oil and gasoline alone, with new spark plugs, more than pays their cost within a few months, in addition to insuring greater general operating efficiency.

Change Plugs Regularly. Motor car manufacturers, a few years ago, boasted of the long life of spark plugs. Today they are recommending in their instruction books that owners change their plugs regularly, even though spark plugs have been vastly improved in recent years.

It was formerly believed that a spark plug was giving efficient service so long as it continued to fire regularly. The engineering tests supplied overwhelming evidence that this was incorrect. The greater stress on spark plugs, caused by a combination of poorer gasoline and higher compression engines, saps their efficiency rapidly.

To secure full power from gasoline it is vital that the gas mixture in the cylinders be burned with tremendous rapidity. New spark plugs provide a sufficiently hot spark to accomplish this, despite the poorer quality of present-day fuels.

Causes Leakage.

Under this tremendous stress the electrodes become pitted. Carbon is burned on to the insulator and the shell. This causes a leakage of part of the current supplied, from the battery, reducing the spark's intensity. Full power is not extracted from the gas mixture. Much good gasoline is wasted by passing out the exhaust. The longer the old spark plugs are permitted to remain in the cylinders the more vicious becomes the circle of poorer combustion, crankcase dilution and pitting of pistons and cylinder walls.

That is why manufacturers recommend that car owners install new spark plugs at regular intervals. To do so restores power and speed. In less than a year's average running there is a distinct loss which impairs engine performance. Then the owner may be faced with a bill for considerable repair work which could probably have been obviated had he renewed his spark plugs at the proper time.

Proper Steering Often Eliminates Bad Skids

Just why it is that so many motorists think of their brakes alone in connection with skidding remains a problem. Experienced drivers have said time and time again that they can take a car with bad brakes and prevent it from skidding through sheer good steering. But the average driver still clings to the idea that the skid is all a matter of traction and braking. When the streets are slippery and in dangerous condition, careful consideration always should be given to steering, with avoidance of quick movements in steering as the outstanding point. Make changes in the car's direction as carefully as you would apply the brakes, and if the car starts to skid, always steer in the direction of the skid, meanwhile releasing the brakes.

"Put on Your Chains," Is Advice to Autoists

Once you have bought chains for your car, use them. That is the advice of Charles E. Hill, vice president of the National Safety Council. "Too many motorists fail to do so, either because they are too lazy to put them on or because the process seems too difficult, according to Mr. Hill.

Chains are so simple to adjust, however, that they can be put on by children in very quick time. Some girl members of the headquarters staff of the safety institution recently demonstrated how comparatively simple it is to drape the chains over the tire, so that the hooks just about touch the ground at the rear; shove the car forward until the connecting hooks are about a foot above the road, connect first the inside and then the outer hook as tightly as possible by hand, and when the automobile starts rolling the chains loosen up a bit, which allows them to creep on the tire.

Auto Racers Refuse to Race With French Woman

Giving up a promising career as an opera singer, Mile. Mozette, petite French automobile driver, now finds that men drivers refuse to race against her. Efforts are being made to match her against Jean La Costa, world's champion racing driver, of Los Angeles. Photograph shows Mile. Mozette in her racing car.

Must Prove Innocence

The French automobilist in an accident is assumed to be guilty unless he can prove his innocence. The court of cessation, in a test case, laid down the principle that will guide automobile jurisprudence. Heretofore the theory that the person damaged by an automobile accident must prove the driver of the car to be at fault, has prevailed in many courts. Sometimes the same court decided differently in different cases.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

More auto accidents are caused by defective brains than by defective brakes.

"Wrist pin" or "piston pin"? Which is correct? Both are used a great deal these days. Either is correct, but piston pin seems more accurate.

There are ruts at the bottom of most hills, warns the National Safety Council, which advises motorists not to hit these ruts at too high a speed, else they may lose control of the car.

Mental tests for automobile drivers, to help decrease the number of accidents, are favored by the committee on the causes of accidents of the National Conference on Streets and Highways.

The sports editor should take over the auto casualties under the head of "The Human Race," for they are running even with births, which average five every minute for the United States.

Advice in Selecting Trees for Roadsides

Oaks are more generally useful for roadside planting than any other kind of tree, says the United States Department of Agriculture. There are species of this tree native to nearly all parts of the country. Maples are next in importance for a large part of the country, but, as the most used species are not well adapted for the purpose, the selection must be made carefully.

The most promising trees for the cooler dry regions are the green ash, black locust, hackberry, thornless honey locust and poplars, with box elder, willows and poplars for the extremes of cold and drought, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1482-F. "Trees for Roadside Planting." In warm, dry climates the eucalyptus, or gums, the palms, the Jerusalem thorn and the mesquite are good.

Success in roadside tree planting, says the bulletin, depends on properly locating the plants along the highway, selecting suitable varieties and adequately protecting them from thoughtless persons, roving stock and insects and diseases.

The best effects in roadside planting are produced usually by giving the predominant place to the common plants of the neighborhood, using introduced plants in subordinate positions, it is pointed out. Next in desirability are plants from regions having similar growing conditions, either in this country or abroad.

The bulletin gives the characteristics of the different regions throughout the country and suggests trees that may be expected to grow in each.

Good Investment in Ownership of Home

The psychological advantages of owning one's home are quite often intangible yet nevertheless practical. A man's self-respect is increased and he becomes a more substantial citizen by reason of home ownership. He takes a larger interest in civic affairs. His mind is freed from worry and his undivided energies can be directed to his livelihood. His home is an expression of his individuality both in architecture and interior arrangement, and pride of ownership is fostered. His home is an index of his success in business and his sense of justified vanity is gratified. His home lends him social prestige, which in turn reacts favorably on his position in the community and in his business.

The old quotation is true: "Where your treasure is there will your heart be also." What finer place on earth can a man select to place his treasure than in his own home? Home ownership gives a man more comfort, pleasure, safety, satisfaction, material and spiritual return than any other investment on earth.

Plan Home Carefully

Impatience has caused as many unsatisfactory homes as poor construction. The home is the most complex investment the family unit ever makes. Hence more thought should be given to the matter than is given to the selection of the Easter hat or to having the old car overhauled and refinished. Planning and building the new home should be considered deliberately, not with furrowed brow and intense, get-it-over-with look. Give it the time its importance deserves, and as you admire its splendid silhouette in the moonlight as you approach it after an evening with your favorite film star you will feel well repaid for having accomplished the big job well.

Save Money for Home

There never was a better time for you to begin to own your home than right now. You'll look back some day and count the years before you began saving for a home as years practically wasted. The average man of small or moderate income becomes a saver only as he has a definite and desirable object in view. Few people, except misers, economize just for the joy of saving, but many a spendthrift family has learned to economize for the real joy of having a home.—Exchange.

Get a Stake in Land

It's a queer trait of human nature that the possession of a little real estate changes a man's general appearance, his disposition and his efficiency. It makes him feel as though he had a place in the world with a right to it. It gives him responsibility—it spurs him on to do his best. It's just like having your own wife, or your own baby, or your own car—the other fellow's possessions may be very nice—but you want your own!—Exchange.

Making Use of Maps for Dress Patterns

Old maps are amusing and interesting, says the Paris correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor. Whether they will be altogether suitable as patterns for dresses remains to be seen. The French couturiers, who have ransacked the world for ideas, have now hit upon the notion of designing geographical frocks. They have taken the Sixteenth and Seventeenth century maps and propose to convey their quaint colors and contours to silks and satins. Afternoon and evening robes are dotted with many-starred mariners' compasses and little images indicating winds. Sometimes the new frocks are covered with wavy seas and tree-bearing islands, but others are simply bordered with map scales. The firm which first thought of this ornamentation made a large collection of early travel books containing primitive maps. It is said that the new models have been favorably received by the "trade."
