Finest Athletes Come From Cold Countries

The most athletic countries are those with the lowest average temperature, according to computations made by Dr. Guillermo Hoxmark of the Argentine weather bureau on the basis of performances at the last two Olympic games in Antwerp and Paris.

Twenty-six countries were represented and the number of inhabitants of each were divided by the number of points gained, thus giving the number of thousands of inhabitants per point. The countries were then ranged in the resulting order.

When brought into relation with the average annual temperature it appeared that a high average athletic ability and a low average temperature go together.

The figures of the two competitions taken separately and together, give approximately the same result. In each case Norway, Finland and Sweden head the list in the order named, Great Britain stands twelfth; Spain, Czechoslovakia, Japan and Egypt are among those at the bottom of the list.

American Cities Need Color, Expert Thinks

A freer use of color in modern buildings is advocated by the chairman of Architectural and Allied Arts exposition. He hopes to see American cities take on color to such an extent that it will make life more interesting and more cheerful. He suggests that the shade used in a building should suit the needs and general atmosphere of its locality, mentioning green as a soothing antidote for the high tension of the Wall Street neighborhood. Conversely, suburban regions of peace and quiet might run to gay reds, yellows and oranges to counteract a too constant calm. Broadway and the theatrical district call for rose color, or perhaps primrose. The vicinity of the Tombs suggests purple for the proper motif. Tropical cities have long used brilliant pinks and blues in their make-up. Even southern California boasts of brightly colored buildings which would seem startling if set down in the gray and tan and buff of Northern and Eastern cities. Anglo-Saxons are shy of color, and if American men are anything like self-conscious about color in buildings as they are in clothes we shall not soon see Wall Street in green or Lower Broadway in bright blue.—New York Times.

PROPER WALK ON COUNTRY HIGHWAY

Children in Rural Sections Know Better Than Walk With Traffic.

Do you know the proper way to walk on a country highway? Most persons, especially the city bred, do not, and so the Chicago Motor club, in the poster issued to school children, illustrates the proper method of walking on a country road.

Children Visit Country.

In 25,000 classrooms in this territory the following bulletin, prepared by the club, will be read:

"June days are here; many children living in cities and towns will go to the country. The lesson taught by the poster does not apply to country children. Children who live in the country know better than to walk with traffic, that is, to walk on the right side of the road. Country children always walk on the left side of the roadway, against traffic. Visitors from the city and town are the ones who need this warning.

Some Drivers Careless.

"Cars travel swiftly on country highways; drivers are not looking for anything to cross their paths. If you were to walk with traffic a car might bear down upon you before you could get out of the way or before the driver could stop his car. Many accidents have happened in this way. Drivers whose vision has been obscured by other cars, a turn in the road, a hill, or by poor light have struck persons walking on the right side of the roadway. These accidents, never would have happened if the persons injured had known that the only safe way to walk on a country road was to walk against the traffic."

Obedience to Traffic Lights Is Important

Now that traffic lights have become rather universal in large cities as well as in small towns, it is important that every automobile driver get behind the movement to use these signals to the very best advantage. They are not perfect by any means, but with a little co-operation from the progressive car owner and driver, it is obvious that many of the present difficulties will be ironed out and the situation cleared to the advantage of everyone.

One thing to remember in driving through a city in which traffic light signals are employed is to stop on the far side of any street intersection when it is possible. Very frequently when driving along the street one sees a friend and stops to give him a lift. At other times it is a case of allowing a passenger to alight. Whatever the occasion may be for stopping, other than those halts required by the exigencies of traffic itself and obedience to the traffic lights, it is best to stop on the far side so that when one is ready to start again, it is not necessary to wait for the signal. Also it obviates the possibility of stopping some other drivers who may be following.

FARMER WOMAN IN OKLAHOMA

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Because It Gave Her Health and Strength

In a sunny pasture in Oklahoma, a herd of sleek cows was grazing. They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checked apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows, tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a household of boarders, besides caring for her own family. The burdens of life seemed too heavy for her falling health. She had lost confidence in herself.

One day she began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her general health began to improve. She took it faithfully. Now she can do her work without any trouble, sleep well and is no longer blue and timid.

This woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. R. 8, Box 257, Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: "Everybody now says: 'Mrs. Short, what are you doing to yourself? I weigh 135 and my weight before I took it was 115. I have taken seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound.'"

Other women who have to work hard and keep things going may find the road to better health as Mrs. Short did, through the faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Destroyed Currency

A flat sum of $1,000,000 is carried on the books of the United States treasury as "unknown-destroyed," according to Paul Kinkaid in an article in Liberty. This, he explains, attempts to account for all currency that is lost or destroyed, but, as he says, "A much greater percentage of paper money is lost than is shown on the books—how much, the treasury has no way of knowing."

Favorable Criticism

At a recent meeting of librarians a speaker said that he was surprised to find that, in a class of 30 boys, 29 had never heard of H. G. Wells, Booth Tarkington and—would you believe it?—George Bernard Shaw. Yet they knew a great deal about Caesar, and something about Cleopatra. He once asked a boy who was returning "Vanity Fair" what he thought of Becky Sharp.

"Oh," replied the boy, "she was some Jane!"

Town vs. Country

It is a matter of common observation that country-bred people are not more dull-witted than town-folk. Rather have they stores of wisdom which the feverish distractions of town-life do not breed. For the purposes of education the country provides for more favorable material in some ways than the town. One does not need to be a Wordsworth or a Jefferies to find inexhaustible subjects of interest and inquiry in the earth and every common sight. The boy who lives amid meadows, mountains, woods and streams is at an advantage as compared with his fellow whose horizon is bounded by bricks and mortar, the endless monotony of the streets and the endless bustle of the factory and workshop.—London Morning Post.

Extend City-Cleaning Idea

From a health point of view, says Hygeia Magazine, spring housecleaning is not sufficient. This authority points out that the alleys, back yards and vacant lots need to have the winter's accumulation of trash moved. The garbage pile and the manure heap should be taken away before the disease germs in them are spread about. Stagnant pools and ditches breed mosquitoes and should be drained and cleaned. Weeds on vacant lots should be cut down, the water supply should be looked after, and all outdoor toilets should be inspected, cleaned or rebuilt.

Personality in Garden

In the creation of your garden, which should bear the stamp of your individual fancies, let the first step be the free play of your imagination. Vague day-dreaming, however, will not do it. Your dream-garden must be definite, practical. Plan the garden with a fair degree of definiteness before going to a seed store, or sitting down with the catalogues to actually make out the order for your seeds.

Build for Permanence

The intending home builder should realize that permanent construction is the only sensible type of construction for him. This is doubly true in the case of the man of moderate means, and that takes in most of us, where the investment in a home is a big thing, probably the biggest single investment he ever makes.

Justify the Kind Words

Do the best you can when called upon to aid your city, your church, your friends, then some one can tell the truth about you when you pass on to another world.—Decatur (Ala.) Daily.

Flattening of Springs Interferes With Action

Keeping springs fit is not a matter merely of keeping the friction qualities between the leaves constant and in keeping with the car. A point usually overlooked is that springs tend to flatten out so they are unable to do their best work. This also interferes with the action of the devices that control the spring recoil.

It is the first half-inch of spring deflection that makes for the easiest ride. This is when the springs are doing their best work as the car's natural shock absorbers, and no amount of added equipment can compensate for this loss, which develops through wear. When springs flatten just a quarter of an inch, it is obvious that this much of their first half-inch of best deflection has been sacrificed.

The remedy is to have them removed and rearched.

Open Garage Doors

Be sure that the windows and doors of your garage are open ere starting your automobile, cautions a bulletin issued by the national safety council, which reminds motorists that all gasoline engines when running generate carbon monoxide gas. Scores of motor vehicle owners have died as a result of breathing a small quantity of this odorless gas which cannot be seen. Fresh air alone will avert this hazard.

FILING CABINETS SHIPPED VIA AIRWAY

When the Union Trust company of Cleveland wanted a certain type of cabinet and none was to be found nearer than the factory in Buffalo, the latter made delivery by airway and highway in order not to inconvenience a customer. The photograph shows the cabinet being transferred from the plane to the truck at the Cleveland flying field after a 300-mile flight from Buffalo.

Many Baltimore Deaths Blamed on Jay Walking

Baltimore City has more jay walkers than any other city of its size in the country, according to John H. Truett, director of the Baltimore safety council. Mr. Truett made the statement while discussing the increased number of traffic fatalities in the city.

According to a report of the United States Department of Commerce, such deaths increased 125 per cent over the corresponding period of 1926.

"Four traffic policemen are unable to keep the women on the sidewalks at one crossing in the shopping district while the traffic signal indicates 'stop,'" Mr. Truett asserted. "Compare that with conditions on the busiest streets of New York, Cleveland, Boston or other cities."

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

If there were no fluffers in prehistoric days, why did nature produce the kangaroo?—Kitchener Record.

Version B: "You see, Judge, when the officer held up his hand I thought he was waving, so I waved back. I did not know he was following me. Then when I turned into an alley there was no alley there."

One pedestrian says the trouble about a woman motorist is that she always thinks she has the right of way, says the Houston Post-Dispatch. Here in Houston, if she thinks that way, she has; we never dispute it.
