

SPRING MILLS

(Received too late for last week.)
 Calvin King is laid up with rheumatism.
 Isabelle Lee was brought to her home in a very weak state of health.
 Mr. Williams has a crew of several men busily engaged at the Meyer garage.
 Quite a large number of hunters are located nearby in different camps. They have almost all been successful in getting some game.
 In the death of Andrew Shook the town has lost one of its most valued residents, a good, kind friend and neighbor. Although justice of the peace for several years, and having many disputes to settle, he died without an enemy. In feeble health for some time, nevertheless his place was never vacant in God's house. He left a host of sorrowing friends who know his place can never be filled. He was a great reader, a lover of books, and his library contained hundreds of volumes.

BOALSBURG ITEMS.

Mrs. John Harkins, of State College, spent several days with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Jacob Felty, Mrs. Paul Coxey, John Stover and Charles Faxen, who were among the Altoona people who spent the week end in town.
 Henry Reitz had a fine new radio installed in his home last week.
 Our local merchant are displaying a fine line of Christmas goods.
 Mrs. Luther Zerby, of State College, and A. E. Gingsrich accompanied Miss Ethel Gingsrich to Baltimore Tuesday, where Miss Gingsrich received medical treatment which proved quite beneficial.
 Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rockey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rockey, drove to Petersburg last Thursday to visit the Willard Rockey family. En route for home, while attempting to close the sedan door, Mrs. Ralph Rockey was thrown from the car and was seriously injured. A nearby physician rendered aid and Mrs. Rockey was brought to her home and has been confined to bed since the accident.

Bullet from Own Gun Kills Youth.
 To be fatally injured by a bullet from his own gun a few moments after he had stood it on a porch and went into the house was the fate of Donald E. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown, of Huntingdon.
 The boy was visiting an aunt at Coles Summit and was hunting in that vicinity. Late in the morning he went to a neighbor's house on an errand, taking his gun with him. He stood the gun on the porch of the home, went inside and started to talk, when the gun fell and discharged, the ball piercing the wall and entering the boy's abdomen.
 He walked for over a mile before he finally was given first aid and was sent to the J. C. Blair Memorial hospital, Huntingdon, where he died Saturday morning.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College.
SHRUBBERY IS PROTECTED.—People tempted to gather ornamental materials along the highways and in the forests for holiday purposes should remember that the State law protects all evergreen or deciduous trees, shrubbery, and ornamental vines. Better be safe than penalized.
BRING WORK UP-TO DATE.—Have all farm accounts complete to date in preparation for closing the year. Get together a number of samples of your best farm products and prepare them for entry in the State Farm Products Show.
MAKE TIMBER INVENTORY.—When the leaves are off is a good time to size up the timber on your woodland. A tree count by size and kind is the next thing to a detailed estimate.
WHY ICE CREAM GETS GREEN.—A greenish discoloration appearing in chocolate ice cream packed in rust-free cans has been found by State College dairy manufacturing research workers to be caused by combined action of an alkali present, the metal of the container, and the tannin products in the cocoa. The color was more pronounced at points where scratches or abrasions occurred on the inside of the can. This trouble may be eliminated by rinsing the cans free from alkali or by using paper liners.

A gift of $100,000 was made to Temple University, Philadelphia, by Charles Erny, a Germantown contractor, for the erection of a stadium having a seating capacity of 25,000. Dr. Charles E. Busby, successor to Dr. Conwell as president of the institution, received the gift.

Oysters for Christmas.
 You'll want oysters for the Christmas season, and in order that you may not be disappointed, it will be well for you to give me your order at once.—Wilbur Bland.
