

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Frank P. Geary went to Williamsport on Monday.

Mrs. William S. Brooks is on a very fair road to recovery after a serious illness.

Mercury touched zero Sunday morning, and that's about as cold a February 26th as we know of.

Mrs. Cloyd Brooks, who has been ill for more than two weeks, is improving although obliged to be in bed all of the time.

A. S. Allen was brought to his home at Centre Hill from the Lewistown hospital on Saturday. His condition has improved very much.

A report from the Centre County Hospital on Wednesday morning indicated that Mrs. Herbert Grove's condition continued very serious.

Samuel Stump has been laid off the State Highway repair force for three weeks due to sickness. He is about town now, but not yet able to work.

Miss Louise Smith, a student in a Williamsport business college, is at her home here and will remain for a month before returning to her school work.

Fords are beginning to appear on the road, and their drivers are as anxious as ever to show you the rear as it appears through the windshield of the machine you are driving.

Prof. W. H. Haney, teacher in the Grammar grade of the public schools here, will move to town about April 1st. He will occupy the Bartholomew house now tenanted by William Garis.

Orelis Weaver is recovering from a very serious attack of pneumonia. During part of last week his condition was critical and it became very difficult to care for him owing to his being delirious. On Friday he began to improve.

Harry Haney, a senior in Susquehanna University, accompanied by J. Jones, a railroad telegraph operator of Wilkesbarre, and the Misses Everett, of Selinsgrove, motored to Mr. Haney's home at Spring Mills on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mary Coble, of Williamsburg, for a few days last week was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larson Burris in Centre Hall. The young lady is a high school girl and took the advantage of a closed school to visit here.

H. E. Pebooy will move into the Harry W. Potter house when Mr. Potter vacates it. Mr. Pebooy comes here from Bellefonte and will continue in the capacity of inspector of the Sheffield Farms Company plants in Centre county.

Miss Christie Krape, of Pasadena, California, is very ill. The information was received last week by her brother, A. P. Krape, in Centre Hall. Miss Krape is seventy-six years of age. She is a school teacher by profession, having taught in various schools for forty-two years.

Miles Bilger, of Pleasant Gap, will accompany his uncle, Harry Bilger, of the same place, to the state of Michigan, next week, where the latter has contracted for the erection of a number of beacon lights to be constructed under the direction of the Department of Commerce.

On the arrival of the express load of horses sold here on Wednesday, a horse and a mule were found to be down and injured to some extent. After the other horses were unloaded, Veterinary P. C. Frank took the two animals in charge and managed to get them to the sales stable.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford, their sons Luther and Randall, of Phoenixville, and the former's mother, Mrs. Nancy Bradford, who had been staying with him for some time, came to Centre Hall on Saturday evening by auto. The senior Mrs. Bradford remained here while the others returned home on Sunday.

Anna Steinger, the little niece of Mrs. Charles Cupples, is ill at her home in Lewistown, and has been kept out of school for three weeks. The little girl will be recalled by many in town whom she befriended while visiting here on various occasions during the past two years.

Up to Wednesday morning Governor Fisher had not appointed a successor to John B. Payne, county Vocational Superintendent. There are a number of applicants for the position, among the aspirants being J. D. Beck, of Hubbersburg, and Edwin Dale, of Lemont.

The Penns Valley Ministerium met at the Reformed parsonage in Centre Hall on Monday at 1:30 o'clock. "The Making of a Minister" was the subject presented by Rev. Greenhoe. The paper was enjoyed by all. The following ministers were present: Revs. Greenhoe, Keener, Hazen, Dayton, Metzgar, Kirkpatrick and Smith.

The Spayd and Dutton families, after a two months' sojourn in Florida, returned to their homes here on Tuesday. Their first impression of Florida was not so good, for the weather was cold, but in a few days normal conditions again prevailed and living there was delightful. While liking the State for a short winter stay, they would not exchange good old Pennsylvania as a place of permanent residence. On the return trip home, a short stop was made at St. Petersburg, where their families visited Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kerlin, and found them delightfully located.

Not always must we pay the highest price asked for an article to assure us we are getting the best. Overhead expense, enormous advertising appropriations, numerous salesmen, etc., all reap a profit at your expense and mine. When you can buy a chick starting and growing mash, made over a formula that has been tried for years and found true—a mixture that is right and sold to you on a one-profit basis and that profit equal only to a reasonable storage charge, then you are getting something that will develop your birds quickly evenly and bring a surprisingly high percentage through to maturity. The Kerlin Poultry Farm offers you just that kind of Chick Starter and Developer. Fifteen per cent. protein, only 6 per cent. fibre. It's a Butter Milk Mash and costs you only $2.95 per 100 pounds. It is foolish to pay more.

FEBRUARY COURT.

The list of traverse jurors was called and absentees noted, on Monday morning.

George Searson vs. Boalsburg Estate and P. C. Shoemaker. Being an action in assumpsit; continued.

The first cases called for trial were two of Commonwealth vs. G. A. Cadden, indicted for removing personal property from the county to avoid levy by constable. Prosecutor in the first case, W. R. Metzgar and in the second case, W. R. Gentzel. After the case was opened it was discovered that some documentary evidence was not presented in court and the jury was set aside and the next case called.

Comm. vs. Harry M. Hoy, indicted for assault and indecent proposal. Prosecutor, Olive Hendershot. This case is from Spring township, and the occurrence is alleged to have taken place October 24th, last. The Commonwealth alleging the substance as contained in the indictment and the defendant denying having been at the home of the prosecutrix, but setting forth that he was at another home. Verdict of not guilty and the prosecutrix to pay the costs.

Comm. vs. Andrew Kokur. Indicted for statutory offense. Defendant pleaded guilty and the usual sentence was imposed. The prosecutrix was Julia Mulholland.

Found Guilty of Manslaughter. John Kelley, charged with manslaughter, was found guilty and was sentenced to two years in jail.

All Jurors Discharged Wednesday. Wednesday morning a jury was empaneled for the hearing of the J. P. Johnsonbaugh automobile case, after which all other jurors were discharged.

MEDICAL MISSIONARY TO AFRICA SPEAKS AT CENTRE HALL

Dr. Lucius Ernest Smith, medical missionary to Spanish Guinea, Africa, visited the public schools of Centre Hall on Monday and gave a lecture in the Presbyterian church in the evening. He had a crowded house and brought to the people a very instructive lesson. He pictured the need very forcibly. Dr. Smith is home on furlough because of the health of Mrs. Smith. He hails from Lexington, Kentucky. He hopes in the future to return to his work in Africa. The work he is doing now is that of educating the church people of America to the good that has been done and the great need for more work to be done by the Church. The offering that was taken went to the Mission cause. The amount was $14.19. The church was glad for your attendance and offering. ***

Jodon Sale Totals $10,000.
The T. E. Jodon sale of Western horses and cows, held at his sales stable, on Tuesday, at Pleasant Gap, was a great success. The grand total of the sale was $10,000, less twenty cents. The twenty-eight horses sold at an average of $217. The high bid passed for $775. The cows sold for an average of $147. The sale was largely attended. The purchasers were made up exclusively of farmers. Dealers were absent.

PINCHOT'S PLACE IS IN "THISTLE PATCH," SAYS HUMPHREY
Castle Reply to Former Governor's Charges in Utilities Finance Probe Shows Bad Feeling.

All doubt as to what Gifford Pinchot and Chairman William E. Humphrey, of the Federal Trade Commission, think of each other is cleared up. A statement on Tuesday by Mr. Humphrey showed that Mr. Pinchot looked upon him as one who had been a "bitter enemy of the Roosevelt conservation policy, an opponent of Federal action and a lobbyist for lumbermen."
Mr. Humphrey, replying in a letter to the former Pennsylvania Governor, said that for the "infinite relief of the country," Pinchot should have his "keeper lead you to a thistle patch." He added that his "idea of a perfectly useless thing is to waste time on Gifford Pinchot."
The exchange was brought about by Pinchot's expression that he had no hope that the Federal Trade Commission would make an effective investigation of the financing of public power utilities, as required under a Senate resolution.

Niagara Long Magnet for the Foolhardy
The first of Blondin's brave but foolhardy feats at Niagara was performed about sixty-six years ago, when he walked a rope stretched across the gorge between the falls and the whirlpool rapids. He carried a balancing pole 40 feet long and weighing 45 pounds. Several times thereafter he repeated the performance, once trundling a barrow across, and on another occasion carrying Henry Colcord, his manager. In 1860 Blondin walked across on stilts, and this performance was witnessed by the prince of Wales, afterward Edward VII. Many tight and slack rope performers have since emulated Blondin, among them a woman, Maria Spolterina, who crossed with baskets on her feet. The first attempt to swim the whirlpool rapids was made more than forty years ago by Captain Webb, who lost his life in the foolhardy venture. Five years later a Philadelphia cooper named Graham went safely through the whirlpool rapids in a barrel. A Mrs. Taylor was the first to go over the falls themselves, which she accomplished strapped in a specially made barrel.

Window No Barrier to Flight of Hawk
R. E. Bidlake supplements the tale of a hawk following a bird into a house by relating the following incident which occurred in a house in County Donegal a few years ago, says the London Post. "The staircase went up straight in front of the hall door and turned abruptly about twelve or fourteen steps up. At the turn there was a very high window reaching almost to the ceiling. As I went up the stairs a swallow flew over my head from the door, followed by an immense hawk, which came along with such fearful impetus that it went right through the window like a shot and all the splintered glass fell around me."

Perfume by the Ton
A Sunday paper states that Grasse, in the south of France, is the chief center of perfume manufacture, and that nearly 2,000 tons of orange blossoms, about 1,000 tons of roses, 150 tons of violets and 130 tons of jasmine are handled by one company each season. It is stated further that the perfume industry is over 100,000 acres, says the Flower Grower. With the manufacture of synthetic materials of many kinds the natural perfume industry of southern France will doubtless suffer, as have other industries dependent on the natural product, but it is a question whether the manufactured perfumes can be made to take the place of the natural ones.

Sir Robert's Destination
A Londoner went north to attend the funeral of a local magnate who had not been too popular by reason of not paying very large wages. After the ceremony, he returned to the hotel before leaving for London. There—over the smoking-room fire—he encountered the head stalker of the estate, who had not attended the obsequies. "Well, Duncan," said the traveler, "we had an awful day of storm and rain for the funeral. Would you believe it, we had to let the coffin down into two feet of water." "Ay," said the stalker, "Sir Robert will need all the water he can get where he's gone to."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Lucky Noodler
It is reported that a noodler has found a valuable black opal in Queensland. The black opal is one of the costliest of gems, as it is also one of the most elusive. This is being exploited today by men, mostly Chinese, termed "noodlers," who rake over the tons of debris from old abandoned workings in search of opals thrown away through not being seen. On the case of it this sounds rather like looking for needles in haystacks. Yet many noodlers, it is asserted, earn good money.

Ring With a History
The museum of Versailles now has the ring with which M. Clemenceau sealed the famous treaty in 1919, and it is a ring that had an interesting history even before that. Charles X, who maintained that he was Louis XVII of France, gave it to Felix Faure, who became foreign minister and M. Faure used it to seal the armistice of 1871 at Versailles, because Clemenceau was unwilling to wait until the state seal could be brought from Paris.

Friend Husband Again
Hugh Walpole was approached at a tea by a rushing woman who asked him to name his favorite among his books, adding helpfully, "Personally, I think you have done nothing better than 'Sonia'." "That may be," said Walpole, "but I did not write 'Sonia'." Whereupon the woman's husband, standing behind her, broke in with a cheerful "Stung again, Isobel."
