WHY SPECIAL AUTO TAGS! The Harrisburg Patriot looks with disfavor on the proposition to issue special auto tags to judges of county courts and members of the Legislature, and makes these comments: "It is difficult to understand why special automobile license tags are to be issued by Pennsylvania for the judiciary and for members of the Legislature. If it is a move to flatter these two classes of public officials, it is silly."

"There is a risk, however, that such classifications may result in unfair discriminations. A tag indicating that the license is issued to a legislator or a judge might overawe certain police officers that they might not see the derelictions which would be quickly spotted in other cases. The average traffic officer is in no great hurry to arrest a car which bears the mark of the judge who presides in the county court."

"There seems to be no sense whatever in creating these two new classifications. If the purpose is to confer special privileges upon these classes in even such trivial matters as granting right of way or ignoring speed or other actions which would not be ignored in the case of others, it is a wrongful purpose."

"The people are entitled to further explanation as to why legislators and judges should have distinctive auto markings."

Hospital Patients. Albert Smetzer, of Pleasant Gap, who made his home with his daughter, Mrs. T. E. Jodon, has been in the Centre County Hospital for a week, due to a fall in which he injured his hip. His condition had not improved up to Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Stanley Brooks, of near Centre Hall, is reported getting along well.

OUR OWN LITTLE CORNER. Lock the Door. There is a legend about a farmer who went to great expense to fortify and lock his barn after a very fine blooded horse had been stolen.

That legend has come to be a means of showing how unwise it is to wait until the horse has been stolen to lock the door.

Advertising is a form of protection against loss of business which is occasionally treated like the farmer treated the barn and the horse.

From a seemingly logical premise that since there is no business or since business is not quite what it should be now, the merchant proceeds to the decision that there is no need to advertise.

This reasoning overlooks a great fundamental fact and that is that advertising is extended salesmanship; that just because a man hasn't money with which to buy today is no reason he will not have it tomorrow; that the man who goes after business consistently reaps consistent rewards; that most folk who shop where they are invited to shop; and—that

UNUSUAL INCREASE IN POTATOES SEEN

Fear is expressed by County Agent R. C. Blaney that potato production will be overdone this year as a result of favorable crops and prices during the past few years. Since all agricultural commodities move in price cycles, it is reasonable to believe that a drop in potato prices is coming.

Extension farm crops specialists and rural economists of the Pennsylvania State College are urging farmers not to increase their acreage or to go into potato growing unless conditions permit a high yield per acre and a consequent low cost of production per bushel. Then if prices are low a profit may still be obtained.

Good quality seed is scarce this year so it is expected that many farmers will be tempted to use poor seed. This factor alone may cause loss.

CURRICULUM REQUIREMENTS ARE URGED

Old Law Requiring Instruction in Bad Effects of Alcohol and Nicotine Restored in New York. Principals of New York city schools in a general order had their attention called to a section of the education law making instructions in the effects of alcohol and tobacco compulsory.

The order was issued by Dr. Harold C. Campbell, acting superintendent of schools, on receipt of complaints that the subjects, which are part of the physiology and hygiene courses, were not being taught with sufficient thoroughness.

The law was passed a quarter of a century ago and makes such instruction mandatory for the major portion of the elementary schooling and the first two years of high school.

COURT ADJOURNED FRIDAY.

Two Automobile Cases Passed On By Juries—Dotterer Assessed $125 for Cow Hit by Car—James Starrette Not Able to Collect for Injuries Received When Struck by Auto.

In the two cases of Neal Graffius vs. Steve Sawkin, and Minnie Graffius vs. same, verdicts were rendered as follows: In favor of Neal Graffius for $72; in favor of Minnie Graffius for $50.00.

J. E. Weaver vs. B. C. Dotterer, being an action in trespass. This case is from Nittany Valley. The defendant driving from the vicinity of Lamar west past the residence of the plaintiff east of Zion, on August 15, 1926, hit three cows belonging to the plaintiff between twelve and one o'clock of said date, injuring one to such an extent that it had to be disposed of, and the other two damaged. The cows were being driven from the barn of the plaintiff across the State highway to the pasture through an area, which lane the defendant claims he did not see.

and the cows could not be seen until they were driven out in front of the defendant's automobile out of this lane; that the lane was not visible to him nor had he observed any notice or any warning given and that he hit the first three cows, hitting one and the one hitting the other two. Suit was brought by the plaintiff and the case was tried on Wednesday and recessed on Thursday morning of a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $125.00.

J. Fred Slack vs. Paul Bradford and W. F. Bradford, being an action in replevin. This case grows out of an exchange of a team of mules by the plaintiff to the defendant for a team of mares. The plaintiff was dissatisfied owing to the fact that one of the mares was blind, and in an interview had between the plaintiff and defendant, the plaintiff alleges a promise made to exchange back, but when he brought the mares to the home of the defendant, Paul Bradford, he refused to accept them and to surrender the team of mules. The case was tried on Thursday and resulted in a verdict in favor of the defendant.

James Starrette vs. Harry Spector and David Schwab, trading as Williamsport Auto Parts Company. This case grows out of an accident on the State highway a short distance west of Central City in Boggs township on the evening of June 13, 1926, when the plaintiff was struck by an automobile coming east in the same direction the plaintiff and his wife were walking. The plaintiff was very seriously injured and was taken to the hospital. It was discovered that the automobile that struck the plaintiff was operated by one Peter Shelman, who was operating, as the plaintiff alleged, an automobile belonging to the defendant company. The defendants defending on the ground that Peter Shelman was not an employee of the defendant company, that he was not using the automobile in furtherance of the defendant's business, and that the automobile had been secured without the knowledge of the defendant or either party. The case went to trial Thursday afternoon and resulted late Friday afternoon in binding instructions for the defendant.

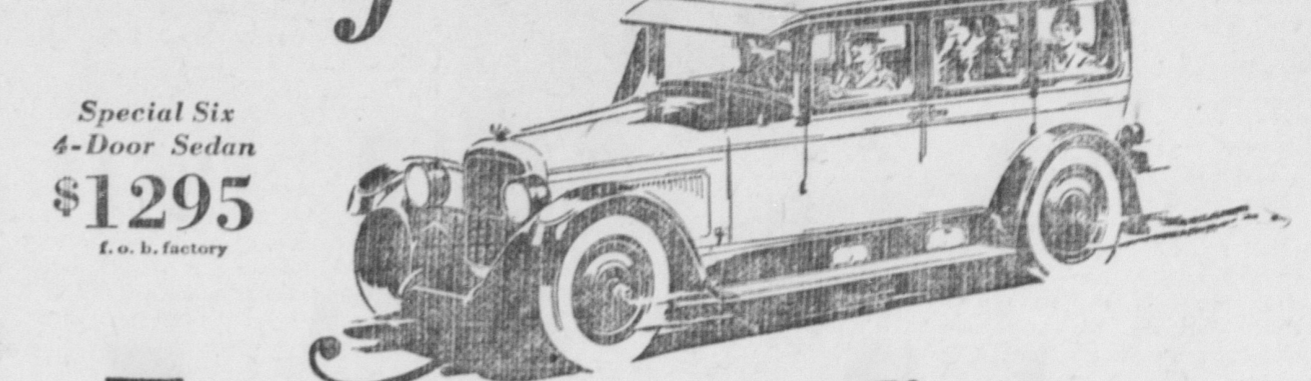

Dorner S. Ishler vs. James Schreck, executor of the last will and testament of W. E. Tate, deceased. Being an action in assumpsit. Settled.

Daniel Paul vs. C. P. McCord, being an action in assumpsit; continued—not reached.

Court adjourned late Friday afternoon.

Charles F. Groovy of the Lycoming county bar, of Williamsport, was interested in the Starrette case.
