MOOVER IS BLAMED FOR FARM ILLS

He Declared that "Deflation Is Necessary to Reduce Prices and to Correct Business Situation."

In a speech delivered at Knoxville, Tennessee, recently, before a record audience, Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, placed the responsibility for the farmer's financial suffering squarely upon the shoulders of Sir 'Erbert' Hoover, often referred to as England's candidate for President in the United States, and the Coolidge Administration. He also blamed them for the general condition of unemployment throughout the country.

Hoover, Reed asserted, declared at Minneapolis on August 21, 1920 that "Deflation is necessary to reduce prices and to correct the business situation." And immediately after that statement was uttered, Reed said, banks began to call in their credit and financial hardships were visited upon those least able to bear them.

In the following five years, quoth the Missourian, the value of farm lands, crops, and farming materials fell off in the astounding sum of $30,000,000,000, and in the seven years of the Harding-Coolidge Administration there were 3,785 bank failures, as compared to 578 in the Woodrow Wilson regime. There were 2,800 bank failures in twelve leading agricultural States, the Senator pointed out.

Directly contradicting the much-lauded "Coolidge Prosperity," Reed charged that only the great monopolies have prospered, but that none of the prosperity has been enjoyed by the small tradesman.

"But breadlines have been formed in many of the great cities where honest men wait for employment and beg for bread. Prosperity has been confined to the great corporations which have been allowed by the Coolidge Administration to establish monopolies and receive tariff and other bounties from the Government."

Death Casting Deciding Vote in Present Senate.

The hand of death appears to be ruling the political strings of the United States Senate this session. When Congress convened there were 47 Democrats, 46 Republicans and 1 Farmer-Labor, giving the Democrats a bare control. Then came the death of Senator Jones (Dem., N. J.), and a Republican, Eronson Cutting, was appointed in his place. The line-up shifted to 46 Democrats and 47 Republicans.

CHARITY SWELLS BANK ACCOUNT

Small Fortune Found Hid in Home by Woman Believed Destitute.

A small fortune in bills ranging in denominations from $20 to $1 was recently found under the carpets where Maggie Winkel, of Snyder town, Northumberland county, keeps house.

Miss Winkel, aged sixty-five years, was employed as housekeeper at the home of Charles Perich. She posed as being destitute, and neighbors were continually providing her with food and clothing.

HIGH SCHOOL PAPER MAKES ITS APPEARANCE

"The Tattler," Vol. I, No. 1, Issued by C. H. H. S.—To Be Published Monthly.

Vol. I, No. 1, of "The Tattler" was distributed among the student body of the Centre Hall High School, on Friday.

GRAND DRAGON SPEAKS.

Hiram W. Evans, Klan Leader, Is Charged With Inciting Murder in Deposition by Stephenson in Suit to Prevent Klan from Functioning in Pennsylvania.

Charges that Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, instigated a murder are contained in a deposition obtained for use in a suit to prevent the Klan from functioning in Pennsylvania, says an Associated Press dispatch from Pittsburgh.

The deposition was made by David C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Klan in Indiana, in his cell at Michigan City, Ind., where he is serving a life sentence for the murder of Judge Oberholzer.

Stephenson brands Evans as "the murderer" of Captain William S. Coburn, an attorney of Atlanta, "who was put out of the way because he was going to bring out some embarrassing matters in a suit against the Klan."

"The actual murder," Stephenson avers, "was committed by Phil Fox, who was incensed after Evans had told him he could prove Coburn had made derogatory remarks about Mrs. Fox."

When Fox said he was going to kill Coburn, the deposition proceeds, Evans told him: "Colonel Simmons is just as deeply involved and if he is going to kill Coburn he might as well make a good job of it and kill Simmons, too."

Colonel W. J. Simmons preceded Evans as imperial wizard. The deposition avers that gunmen were sent out to kill those opposed to the unseating of Simmons, and Evans finally got the job at $1,000 a month for life.

The deposition describes Evans as "an uncultured, uncouth, vulgar individual, like Neo, drunk, grasping at ever straw in an effort to identify his name with something of national importance."

The magazine article "Why the Klan Fights Smith" is analyzed by Stephenson as an article not written by Evans, who, he says, "is intellectually incapable of producing such an article." He avers Evans believes himself "the Mussolini of America," with a distinct leaning toward anarchy.

Governor Ed Jackson of Indiana is described by Stephenson as "not only a member of the Klan but one who had dreams of becoming president of the United States." And he continued, "Evans had Jackson on the dotted line of an agreement which would dispose of the spoils of his office if elected."

The copy of the deposition is now in charge of United States Clerk of Courts J. Wood Clark. It covers 177 pages.

Sheffield Milk Prices.

The cash price to be paid members of the Sheffield Producers Cooperative Association, Inc., for three per cent. grade B milk in the 201-210 mile zone for the month of March is 233 per 100 pounds with the usual freight and buttermilk differentials. This is equivalent to $2.59 per 100 pounds for milk sold on a 2.5 basis.

An extraordinary large surplus of milk and cream is now being offered in the New York market at very low prices and all dealers are obliged to meet these prices in the sales of their surplus stock. Altogether too much of the milk produced in the New York milk shed is produced in the early spring.

Motor Vehicle Receipts Increase.

Receipts of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles for the first quarter of this year showed an increase of $919,949 over the same period of 1927, according to an announcement made by the State Highway Department. The receipts so far this year total $26,549,548.

BUILDING OPERATIONS AT PENN STATE COLLEGE

Steel Work of Recreation Center Going Up—Break Ground for Hospital—Officials Contract for Additional Bulldozing Ag Hill.

Progress in Penn State's building program has been marked by the erection, during the past few days, of part of the steel structure for the large Recreation Center west of Varsity Hall and the beginning of excavation for the new College Hospital, both of which are to be completed by next fall.

The new indoor stadium will seat, according to present plans, eight thousand people. Permanent seats on a balcony stretching around three sides of the building will hold thirty-five hundred people while bleachers erected below the balcony will provide for three thousand more persons. It is believed that chairs and benches placed on the remaining floor space will bring the capacity of the building up to eight thousand.

Present plans for the Recreation Center call for the erection of only the main part at this time. When additional funds are available a unit for lockers and another for a swimming pool will be added.

Initial work was started on the College Hospital a few weeks ago when sewage lines were laid. A portion of the soil had already been removed as the first step in excavation work which, if fair weather continues, will be completed within two weeks.

Contracts for three buildings on Ag Hill have been let to the State College Construction company and work on the new additions will start this week, Raymond H. Smith, College controller, has announced.

A sheet piling will be built adjacent to the dairy barn while a veterinary barn, for the isolation of sick and diseased cattle, will be constructed as a part of the dairy group in the rear of the barn. In addition to these, the plans include a poultry brooder range as an extension to the incubator house.

To facilitate access to the new gymnasium, Burrows street has been extended directly past the new building.

Farming Leads All Industries.

A recent survey of America's twenty leading industries shows farming first in the number of employes first in the value of products and first in estimated investment.

Agriculture employs 10,241,000 persons; the value of its products is $16,963,000,000; the estimated investment in agriculture is $57,000,000,000.

EVANGELICALS TO RAISE FUND FOR ALBRIGHT EDIFICE

Williamsport District in Midst of Campaign to Raise Its Quota of $250,000 to Erect Memorial to Founder at Washington, D. C.

The Williamsport district of the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Evangelical church, the Rev. W. B. Cox, presiding elder, is in the midst of a campaign to raise in thirty days its quota of a fund for the erection of a $250,000 edifice in Washington, D. C. as a memorial to Jacob Albright, founder of the Evangelical church.

On Sunday, April 29, the Evangelical churches throughout the world will celebrate Founder's day in a specially prepared program of services. Jacob Albright was born May 1, 1759, near Gettysburg, Pa. As a young man he settled in the Revolutionary army, that the land of his birth might be established in freedom. Later he married, and with his bride settled down to private life in Lancaster county, where he engaged in the business of the making and operating a small farm.

He was the son of John Albright, who with his wife came to America from Germany in 1732. In 1791 he was converted and in his devotion to his spiritual ideals he became deeply concerned for German-speaking brethren who had allowed religious freedom to result in a lapse of religious ideals. Accordingly he set out in 1795 to preach salvation through Jesus and the conscious experience of saving grace. In 1808 he organized three groups of his converts as classes, numbering, in all, twenty members. These classes constituted the nucleus of the Evangelical church, which a few months after their organization was bereft of its founder, for on May 18, 1808, Jacob Albright laid down his life for the work which had been his supreme passion.

This was, as far as is known, the first church to find its beginning on American soil without being formed as the result of schism within an established denomination, as its founder was not a member of any other church. The denomination has a brilliant history, having made its progress chiefly by pioneering in sparsely settled regions of Pennsylvania and Maryland and there, with heroism characteristic of their worthy founder, pushing their way westward and northward, leaping the ocean barriers and planting mission stations in Europe, Asia and Africa until the total membership is now 250,000.

In celebration of the splendid achievements of past years, the Evangelicals are now erecting a church in Washington, D. C. as a memorial to the humble Albright.

Birthday Party.

A surprise birthday party was given Harry C. McClenahan on Thursday evening of last week at his home west of town. The affair was arranged for by Mrs. McClenahan and her daughters, Ethel, Margaret and Dorothy, and was a complete success. The husband and father, desirous of refreshments were served and two birthday cakes with candles and decorations graced the table. One of these was provided by Mrs. Musser Coldron and the other by Mrs. Robert Bloom. Mr. McClenahan was also remembered more substantially by his friends who gave him many useful and beautiful gifts.

There were present at the gathering these guests: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bohn, Harold and Wallace Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. John Delaney, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Fye, Mrs. Flora Baird, Miss Sara McClenahan, Mrs. M. E. Coldron, Bob and Donald Coldron, Mr. Hironimus, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hettiger and baby, Mr. and Mrs. McMoran, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Penny to Hold Dismantled Road.

The hearing before the Public Service Commission in the Court House last week on the question of the Bellefonte Central acquiring the abandoned section of the Fairbrook road leading to Tyrone, was largely attended by residents from many sections of the county. The hearing was uncompleted when the Commission adjourned to meet at some future time.

The impression appears to have gone out that the Penny will continue to hold its rights and that the building of the missing link between Struble and Fairbrook, and taking over and operating the Fairbrook branch abandoned by the Penny will never be accomplished. If this is true, State College will be unable to get the railroad facilities it desires and is entitled to.

Equal Religious Rights Proposed.

The Turks apparently intend to make a thorough job of secularization, which was theoretically begun by the abolition of the caliphate. A motion for the amendment of the constitution is to be introduced eliminating the words "The religion of the State is Moslem," and even demanding that the oath of office, swearing by Allah be changed to "on my honor."

Thus the Kemalists, if present plans are carried out, will call off eleven centuries of warfare between the cross and the crescent and recognize the equality of citizenship, including Christians and Hebrews.

State S. S. Children's Supt.

It will be good news to all Sabbath school workers to know that the State Sabbath School Association has secured a Children's Division Superintendent in the person of Miss Edith Mabel Town, of Eagle Rock, California, who will begin work on the 15th of next month. Miss Rock is a graduate of the Hartford School of Religious Education, and is a member of the State Association of Children's Division Superintendents of Wisconsin for eight years.

The Reporter's mailing list was corrected the past week, and if you have not received your copy recently, look at the figures on your label and see whether you received proper credit.

STATE FORESTS ENLARGED.

State Buys 112,740 Acres of Forests at Low Cost of $2.90 Per Acre.

Purchase of 112,740 acres of forest land by the State at an average price of $2.90 an acre, was announced a few days ago by Secretary of Forestry and Waters, Potter, Centre, Franklin, Cumberland, Perry Jefferson, Elk Clearfield, Lycoming, Union, Tioga and Cameron counties.

Money still available out of the $500,000 appropriation made by the 1927 Legislature will be spent in acquiring other tracts which have been offered to the State at varying prices, and the secretary hopes that about 60,000 additional acres will be added to the State's preserves.

Bucking the Penny.

Pennsylvania State College students showed their loyalty to their institution at the beginning of the Easter vacation when nearly every man refused to ride over the Lewisburg and Tyrone branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's line, between Lemont and Montandon. A special train of six coaches was on the track on Wednesday evening, which under ordinary circumstances would have been filled with students homeward bound, but when the train pulled out forty-nine passengers were aboard.

The reason for the withdrawing of its patronage from the branch service lay in the fact that Penn State resented the Pennsylvania's move to hinder the Bellefonte Central from extending its line from Bellefonte to Tyrone, by way of State College, over the Penny, which abandoned right-of-way. Evidence was being taken on Wednesday before the Civil Service Commission in Bellefonte and before it the Penny indicated no good feeling toward Penn State by its claim that the institution and community were well enough served.

Miss Bonquet.

Bridal bouquet marriage license No. 8960, was issued late, Saturday afternoon, by W. B. Rodgers, register and recorder of Mifflin county. It went to John Bohn, of Centre Hall, and Mary J. Bumgardner, of Mifflin, who immediately proceeded to the green house of Joseph Miller, Lewisburg, where the bride received a beautiful bouquet of fragrant roses as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Other couples had been anxiously awaiting the opportunity to get the even one-hundredth license which entitled the bride to a bridal bouquet at Miller's Green House. The Centre Hall man and the Mifflin woman slipped quietly into the court house, Saturday afternoon just before Dan Cupid's office was closed for the day, and secured the much coveted floral prize.

A few minutes after Mr. Bohn and Mrs. Bumgardner, a widow, received the lucky marriage license number, the telephone in the Recorder's office rang, and a young couple asked Recorder Rodgers if they could receive No. 8960 license for which they had been waiting. Mr. Rodgers replied that the coveted marriage permit had just been sold.

State Village Being Enlarged.

Plans have already been drawn and bids for the contracts have been filed with the State for the two large cottages to be added to the group of buildings at the State village located along the State highway at the eastern terminus of Penns Valley Narrows. The building operations will probably continue a considerable number of men and by the middle of next month, active work will be under way.

Through the efforts of the State Senator, Charles Steele, an appropriation of a million dollars for the buildings was secured. The additional structures will reduce the present congestion in the village.

Every Bone in Body Broken.

According to Undertaker Adams, of Watson town, every bone in the body of Samuel Leroy Cummings, who was instantly killed when struck by a main line passenger train of the Pennsylvania railroad at Dewart, on Wednesday of last week.

There were three large holes in the skull, both legs and both shoulders were broken, and his ribs and hips were crushed, the result of being dragged along the ground for 120 feet, after the train struck his bread wagon.

Equal Religious Rights Proposed.

The Turks apparently intend to make a thorough job of secularization, which was theoretically begun by the abolition of the caliphate. A motion for the amendment of the constitution is to be introduced eliminating the words "The religion of the State is Moslem," and even demanding that the oath of office, swearing by Allah be changed to "on my honor."
