

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Henry Lingle, of Colyer, has been very seriously ill during the past two weeks.

Mrs. David Snyder, of Harrisburg, spent several days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Frohm.

Arthur Thoman, of Altoona, was a guest of the Strohmeier family over Easter, and at the morning service in the Lutheran church sang a solo in his usual splendid manner.

Clarence Musick moved from Spring Mills where he was engaged as a painter and paper hanger, to Halifax, near Harrisburg, where he believes work in his line to be more plentiful.

Mrs. G. O. Benner, who has been a patient in the Clearfield hospital for several weeks, was brought home by Mr. Benner the latter part of last week. Her condition shows marked improvement.

The downpour of rain on Saturday evening, followed by rough brisk winds made Easter Sunday in this section one too pleasant. Monday it was also cold and rough, but since the temperature has risen.

Russell Goodhart, who has been employed by an automobile spring concern in Newark, N. J., for some time, came to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goodhart, in Centre Hall, beginning of the week, for a short stay. He is looking fine.

Harold H. Keller drove here on Friday from Laurel, Delaware, in a two-door Buick he purchased recently in Delaware. Mr. Keller is teaching school at Laurel and returned there on Tuesday at the close of the Easter vacation granted by the school board employing him.

Miss Edith Miller, of Toughkenamon; Miss Romaine Watson, of Landenberg; Miss Lillian Lawrence, of Quakertown, were guests of Miss Elizabeth Royer, at her parental home here from Friday until Tuesday. The young ladies are all teaching school and are former class mates of Miss Royer at West Chester State Normal.

At the six o'clock morning Easter service, in the local Lutheran church, Miss Miriam Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. L. Moore, sang a solo appropriate to the Easter season. It was beautifully rendered. Miss Moore is taking voice culture together with her other studies at Shippensburg Teachers' College, and if there is the same degree of advancement in the remaining period of her studies as has been noticeable up to the present, there is no doubt that the young lady will develop extraordinary ability as a singer.

Miss Margaret Luse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Luse, has been ill for five weeks and may be obliged to undergo an operation. She was not feeling well prior to the entertainment, "A Regiment of Two," given by the senior class of the Centre Hall High school, but put in an appearance and took her part. She attended school but for a few days since, and on Friday was taken to State College to the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Harvey, R. N., where she is being cared for at present. Her case has not been completely diagnosed.

Blaine Palmer, of Potters Mills, for a few months past has been employed as a carpenter by one of the contractors building for Penn State.

The Spring Mills First National Bank will be open Saturday evenings from 6:30 to 8:00 and closed during Saturday afternoon from now on until fall.

A bathroom outfit was installed in the Max Hery property, tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Pettehoff, last week. Caldwell & Son, of Bellefonte, did the work.

Wednesday of last week a number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. James Frohm, near town, for a quilting. By evening they had finished their work. The following were present: Mrs. John Burkholder, Mrs. Thomas Delaney, Mrs. Harry Reish, Mrs. George Sharer, Mrs. George Heckman, Mrs. Jewett Brooks, Mrs. James Decker, Mrs. Frank Decker, Mrs. James Brooks, Mary Durst, of Centre Hall; Mrs. Irvin Ebert and Mrs. Miles Vonada, of Zion.

Literature of the Hughesville Holiness Camp Meeting Association is being sent out announcing the annual opening of the camp in July. The organization had its beginning in 1904 with a single tent, but later in 1910 the association organized and purchased the property, a site with many natural beauties which has since been materially improved, and has erected on it a tabernacle, dormitory and dining hall. Rev. Sarah P. Ercoyd, with whom many of our readers have personal acquaintance, is president of the association.

The Hummels, Emericks, Jacksons and other largely connected families who were to become heirs to large holdings of real estate in Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, have never had their expectations fulfilled. These families were played upon as a set of suckers by a group of keen swindlers who informed them that their ancestors had left behind them large holdings of real estate, to which the present possessors had no title. All would revert to the heirs of the original families through process of legal proceedings. Many members of the families mentioned paid a big price to the fakirs.

Some of our readers are fearful of receiving too much publicity through newspapers and perhaps others think their names appear too infrequently. News items fail to appear in local papers almost exclusively, if not entirely, for the reason that the information failed to reach someone connected with the paper. Some people have an idea that newspapers may only use their names with their sanction, and occasionally write the editor to the effect that his or her name is not to be used without permission. Such notices usually follow some questionable incidents the mention of which would necessitate the use of the name of the individual making the request, or, as is usually the case, the command. If newspapers were bound to respect such requests or demands, the shysters, crooks, impostors, thieves, robbers, murderers, and a host of others would have a joyful time. Fortunately for society, newspapers may use the name of any individual in any legitimate news item.

Miss Edith Moltz, a student in a Williamsport business college, was at her home here over Easter.

James I. Fetterolf, the local Durant automobile dealer, received a shipment of new cars this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Martz, on Friday, spent theday with their daughter, Mrs. Gibson Baney, in Bellefonte.

What the Honorable J. Laird Holmes thought of doing and didn't do for the good of his party, the rank and file will attend to on April 24th.

S. Eugene White, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. White, living west of town, is a member of the Bellefonte community orchestra that gave its annual concert in the court house Wednesday night, under the direction of Mrs. Louise Schadt.

The restaurant room in the Bartholomew building is being redecorated by John M. Coldron and assistants. The metal ceiling is being repainted and the side walls repapered. The restaurant, conducted by D. C. Mitterling, is being well patronized.

John Lingie, of Old Fort, and a young man, a Mr. Boob, of Millheim, experienced a head-on collision on Saturday evening on the State highway near the Colyer farm below Old Fort. Earl White, of Penns Cave, had stopped in the road at that point to make a car adjustment. His car was headed west, and when Mr. Boob came along from the east on going around the White car, he struck the Lingie car doing considerable damage.
