An increase of 170 in the number of freshmen to be admitted to the Pennsylvania State College next September has been authorized by the college board of trustees. Last year's quota was 1000, and for the coming year it is set at 1170.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart, D. C. Mitterling and the latter's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Mitterling, attended the funeral of William Rearick, at Martinsburg, on Friday. A brief account of the death of the young man appears in this issue.

Twenty thousand Norway spruce, white and red pine trees were planted near the State House, in Greens Valley, by Forest Ranger Brooks and assistants. The work was finished the middle of last week. The pines planted in the same section sixteen or eighteen years ago, have made a good growth.

J. W. O. Housman, formerly of Millheim, but later of Lemont, who has been a patient in the Centre County Hospital for a few weeks, is getting along fine since he underwent an operation about a week ago. F. V. O. Housman, of Millheim, his son, visited him on Monday, and gave the good news to inquiring friends.

On his way to Bellefonte, on Saturday, L. E. Stover, the senior member of the Hosterman & Stover Co., hardware dealers in Millheim, stopped with the Reporter to arrange for advertising the Big 3 Speed Queen aluminum washer, as well as the Easy Washer and General Electric refrigerator. As was noted in the issue of this paper last week, F. O. Hosterman retires from this firm and was succeeded by E. J. Husted, of Williamsport. Mr. Husted moved his family to Millheim beginning of this week.

Chalmers Weaver, eight years old, was kicked in the face by a horse and severely injured. One of the calks of the shoe struck the lad on the side of the nose opposite the eye and made a laceration, needing several stitches in the dressing of it by Dr. Morrow. The boy, with several others, was with Larson Burris in a field where he was ploughing and when time to unthitch came Chalmers lent a hand, and it was then the horse kicked him. He was being taken to the physician's office by Mr. Burris when Ray Mark came along in his car and picked him up. The boy never winced when being stitched up, but the father, Orvis Weaver, who was watching the operation, fainted.

The six hundred White Leghorn chicks being raised by Roy Dutrow in town are doing very nicely, and last week, when six weeks old, the roosters commenced crowing. A brisk fire burned over between two and three hundred acres on Bald Eagle Mountain, Sunday. The territory covered lies in the narrows, between Howard and Jacksonville. A large number of men directed by foresters and fire wardens, among whom were Richard Brooks and John H. Knarr, from town, got the fire under control by night. The fire was first observed shortly after the noon hour.

T. F. Delaney, of Old Fort, made the acquaintance of a State patrolman one day last week as he was leading his tractor from one field to another, which necessitated traveling on the State highway for a short distance. It is lucky for Mr. Delaney that the cops have no rights over the fence, for if they had he'd be hauled up every day for speeding over ploughed ground.

Mr. and Mrs. James Spicher, of Altoona, visited in town on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lambert. Mr. Spicher is a railroad engineer and was reared west of Old Fort, and Mrs. Spicher spent her girlhood days about Colver, the village having been named for her father, the late William Colver. The destruction of the home of D. Geiss Wagner, on Hoffer street, was narrowly averted on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Wagner had kindled a fire and a spark from the chimney fell on the shingle roof and ignited the punky shingles. A hole about two feet square, near the comb, was burned through the roof.

The fire was observed by Mrs. C. N. Hockman, from the Hockman hatchery, who sent Paul Lingle to the rescue. Mr. Lingle, with a bucket of water, reached the roof from the inside and succeeded in greatly reducing the flames with it. A second bucket made for safety. The hose carts "stood by" in case they were needed.

Kerr, of Ogden, Utah, for a copy of the current number of the Union Pacific Magazine, the organ of that famous western railroad with which Mr. Kerr has been identified as a traveling auditor for some years. Before you select your next car see what
General Motors
offers

GENERAL MOTORS was organized on the principle that a group of strong companies, working together as a family, could serve the public better than they could separately.

The public has approved this principle.

In 1924 one out of every six cars chosen by the public was a General Motors car. In 1925 the proportion was one in five. In 1926 it was one in four.

And last year it was one in three.

The improvement in General Motors products is continuous. Great Research Laboratories are constantly seeking new paths for betterment. A 1245-acre Proving Ground tests all that science has discovered and proves each new design before it is offered to you. Each year there has been a steady advance in the quality, performance and beauty of General Motors cars, with no increase in price.
