36 FROM CENTRE COUNTY GRADUATE AT PENN STATE

Graduation Exercises Completed On Tuesday—Attendance Large from County and Distant Points.

The various activities incident to the commencement at Penn State were largely attended by interested persons from local points and from points distant. In the record breaking class of graduates on Tuesday there were 36 from Centre county, many of whom have been among the most prominent students in campus affairs during their four years.

Miss Ellen Burkholder, Centre Hall, who was graduated in the curriculum in education, led the girls with first honors as "bow girl" in the class day exercises. She is the retiring president of the senior class, was woman editor of the college annual last year, a member of the editorial staff of the women's handbook, president of the freshman Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and a member of the campus clubs council. She is a member of La Camaraderie, girls social club.

Miss Dorothy Grace Lowder, Oak Hill Station, who was graduated in science education, is a member of the college choir, and of her class and varsity hockey teams. Kenneth G. Haines, Rebersburg, who was graduated in arts and letters, was a pitcher on the college baseball team for three years. He is a member of the Skull and Bones and Blue Key, honor societies, and Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Others who received degrees were as follows: Ralph R. Peters, Philipsburg, dairy husbandry. Elizabeth Hazel, Bellefonte, education.

Lorraine E. Way, Port Matilda, arts and science.

George B. Gohsen, Penna. Furnace, arts and letters.

James H. Carpeneto, Bellefonte, commerce and finance.

James G. Mitchell, Lemont, electrical engineering.

Wm. S. Nichols, Bellefonte, arts and letters.

The following are all from State College: Robert H. Fletcher, mechanical engineering.

Sheldon A. Hoffman, commerce and finance.

Kenneth F. Bottorf, landscape architecture.

Robert A. Graham, commerce and finance.

Mary M. Houser, arts and letters.

Wm. Jones, electrical engineering.

Claud Koch, animal husbandry.

James Markle, dairy husbandry.

Max Markle, electrical engineering.

Mary E. Strachem, education.

Mrs. Nora Schroppe, education.

Natalie Smith, education.

LAUNCH DRIVE FOR PASSAGE OF BOND LOAN FOR FORESTS

Pointed Out as a Money-Saving Move by the State Forestry Association—Definite Figures Quoted.

A drive to insure approval by the voters in November of the $25,000,000 constitutional bond issue amendment for the purchase of additional forest lands by the State has been started by the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, of which Dr. H. S. Drinker, former president of Lehigh University, is the head. The bond issue has been endorsed by the State Game and Fish Commission and numerous patriotic, civic and business organizations.

The State now owns approximately 1,133,000 acres of land, but with the exception of an appropriation of $500,000 for land purchases, the Legislature in recent years have done little to add to the State's holdings. If the timber lands of Pennsylvania are to be reforested it generally is admitted the task will have to be done by the Commonwealth.

"Competent experts," a bulletin by the Forestry Association says, "estimate that $25,000,000 would be required to buy all of the additional land that the State should have. When we first think of this amount it may appear large.

"It is a significant fact, however, that each year Pennsylvania's dependence upon outside wood resources costs her people $109,000,000. This is four times the amount of the bond issue. The annual freight bill on lumber imported into Pennsylvania amounts to $25,000,000. This is as much as the bond issue. Such expenditures will insure the welfare of our people and the prosperity of our industries, and incident to these advantages, develop a good investment.

"When the $25,000,000 becomes available it will be spent to purchase at a minimum cost forest land suited primarily for timber production. All expenditures will be made under the immediate direction of the State Forestry Commission and in accordance with its well-established policy of forest land purchase, which began in 1898 and has been developed on a sound economical basis during the past 30 years.

"Not one cent will be spent for land not suitable for forest purposes, and not one acre will be bought at an exorbitant price. The act of May 14, 1915, limits the purchase price to $10 per acre. About 1,150,000 acres that are now State forests were purchased at an average cost of $2.29 per acre."

PROF. PAMAHASIKA PRESENTS HIS PRIMA DONNA, PRINCESS FRIEDA, AT CHAUTAUQUA.

Brilliant and Colorful Animal Performance for First Day of Centre Hall's Chautauqua.

On Friday, June 22d, we will have the opportunity to enjoy one of the most colorful and brilliant animal performances in existence, Pamahasika's "Society Circus." From the advent of the first animal performer to the final ensemble, there's never a dull moment. Number follows number with precision and skill. Man may vary—these animals, never.

Princess Frieda, the Shetland pony, is a finished artist. Never flustered or overcome by stage fright, she performs tricks by trick, completely captivating her audiences with the Charleston before she makes her final bow. Poodles, terriers and coolies form the canine contingent, full of snap as they obey the slightest wish of their trainer and go through their marvelous antics.

The feathered world is represented by the Australian cockatoos, Brazilian macaws, and a most remarkable group of trained canaries, white, blue, red, beauty, loco, and outja, have exploded the idea that cats have no intelligence.

Pamahasika's "Society Circus" is but one of the features to appear during the three festivals of the Radcliffe Chautauqua. Other musical, dramatic and intellectual feasts will follow.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The Loysville Orphanage band will give a concert this (Thursday) evening on the diamond in Centre Hall.

The local Evangelical S. S. will give their annual Children's Day service on Sunday evening, June 17, at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Smith was again re-elected a teacher in the State College Grammar school where she taught successfully during the past few years.

Mrs. Ernest Frank and little son, of near Baltimore, Md., are here for their summer vacation, with headquarters at the home of Miss Sara McClenahan.

Miss Edith Sankey, secretary of the Grange Fair Association, was in town during last week and attended the meeting held on Grange Park incident to the Grange Homecoming Week.

Miss Mildred Brown, who last week completed a successful term as school teacher in the West Philadelphia schools, returned to her home near Potters Mills for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Smith and grandson, Elwood Smith, on Saturday, June 9, returned to visit Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Smith and children, the chief attraction being little Miss Myra Loraine, a granddaughter.

H. B. Stover, of Millroy, was a pleasant caller at this office on Monday. Mr. Stover retains the old place in Seven Mountains, back of Davidheiser's, tenanted for many years by Benjamin Confer, but finds no need for the large bank barn on the place, and offers same for sale.

Sixty-four friends of Mrs. Thomas F. Delaney gave her the surprise of her life on Thursday of last week, when on her forty-sixth birthday they rushed into the Junior Farmers' building, Grange Park, to celebrate the event. The place named was selected owing to the rainy weather. There was an abundance of choice food for refreshments, and every one did justice to the inner man, and had a most delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foreman, of Canfield, Ohio, on their return home from Washington, D. C., stopped overnight with Mrs. Foreman's brother, P. V. Goodhart, in town, and also visited other relatives here. They were accompanied by three of their children, Hugh, Roy and Ethel. The trip to Washington was made to witness the graduation of their second son, Roy, from Bliss Electrical College. On Saturday the party continued their trip home.

MOTOR CAR MAKES THE FARM AND CITY ONE

Automobile Has Been an Important Factor in Checking Drift of Population from the Farm.

The general alarm felt by economists some years ago over the drift of population from the farm to the metropolitan centers seems to have subsided, and the pendulum actually is beginning to swing the other way.

Statistics can be produced to bear out this statement. The suggestion has been offered that the automobile has perhaps been the greatest single factor in bringing this drift to a stop and restoring the equilibrium.

Isolation is no longer one of the conditions of farm life. The motor car, together with hard-surfaced roads, has brought the farmer closer to the market and closer to the big world in general. The motor bus carries his children to the community school which has a thousand advantages over the old district school. The latest film releases at the village cinema house are within a few minutes' drive from the farm. The farmer's wife, or daughter, if she needs a beauty treatment, a "facial" or a "permanent" has only to hop into the family bus, step on the gas, and return an hour later as if from a Fifth Avenue salon. The farmer today has all the advantages of country life with none of the discomforts of the city.

The automobile has come to be as much a part of the farmer's equipment as the plow, the harrow, or the churn. While "Old Dobbin" had, at most, a radius of twenty miles a day, the motor car has eliminated distance and made the farm and city one.

"THE GYPSY ROVER" NETS FAIR RETURN TO STUDENTS

Hundred Dollar House in Presentation of Musical Comedy Which Young People Put on With Great Skill.

On last Thursday night the High school students of town presented "The Gypsy Rover," a romantic musical comedy, to a hundred dollar house in the Grange Park auditorium.

The cast of characters were: Sara Runkle, Algie Emery, Harold Bradford, Russell Colyer, Elwood Smith, Fay Bradford, Homer Sweetwood, George Luse, Mildred Smith, Emory Floray, Henry Blausser, Fred Luse, Paul Martz. The bridesmaids were Mary Reber, Kathryn Goodhart, Laura Smith, Margaret Luse, Sara Smith, Rena Burkholder, Edna Cummings, Dorothy Garbrick. The gypsy chorus was made up of Alice Burkholder, Evelyn Bradford, Eugene Colyer, Bruce Knarr, John Wert, Wm. McCormick, Paul Palmer, Helen Odenrick, Wanda Brown, Mary Long, Mildred Kline. The failures were Celia Delaney, Edith Delaney, Thelma Brungart, Margaret McClenahan, Goldie Stover, Alda Cummings. The gypsy children were Wilma Allen, Mary Allen, Pauline Burkholder, Amelia Copenhaver, Walter Wilkinson, Richard Bailey, Robert McCormick, William Weber, Ernest Cummings. The hunters were Fred Luse, Paul Martz, George Luse. Colored folks were Freda Cummings and Elizabeth Brooks. Pianist, Myra Spicker.

When we consider the weather and the difficulties through which the practicing made its march, the ditches of discouragement which had to be crossed, we are glad to recognize in the youth of our town such ability as was exhibited on the night of the 7th. These young people rushed into this opera with the dust of the final examinations still in their eyes, and the cobwebs of the commencement prospect hanging in the air. They were given a grand clapping to their memories. In a little better than one week they put the finishing strokes to this difficult program.

It was done to fill the need in the athletic association cash box. This opera filled the emptiness of that receipt to the amount of $17.07, and all bills paid. Through the untiring efforts of the ticket salesmen, every one in town had an opportunity to know that Thursday night was to be important, even if they had not read the lines given by our faithful "Reporter." Then the handwork of Miss Grace White, who was a first year senior of the local high school, put the artistic touches to the posters and the necessary change on the hand bills which was caused by a change of character after the hand bills had been printed.

The organization saved the sum of $14 through the kindness of Mrs. Alberta Krader of Bellefonte, who loaned fourteen programs to the entertainers.

All these things and many others too numerous to mention made possible a good house and a fine program.

Thanks to all who were interested and to all who helped.—Committee.

Centre Hall, 7; Port Matilda, 6.

At Port Matilda, on Thursday, the local baseball team applied the whitewash to the "Port" team, using several long strokes of the brush in doing an effective job. The enemy never had a chance against George Lutz's left-hand shots, while our boys nicked the old apple time and again, collecting seven runs in as many innings.

J. L. Trossel, county health officer and justice of the peace, located at Pleasant Gap, stopped in town on Monday on his way to some point in the valley on business. During his stay he hears many cases in which automobile operators are charged with violations of road laws.

Every good citizen should assist the local committee in putting over the 1928 Chautauqua by buying season tickets. The guarantors have underwritten the Chautauqua simply because they felt it to be a good thing for the community, and who can deny it? Here is a season of instruction and wholesome amusement that makes everyone better for having partaken of it. It means a lot of work for the local committee, much more than the "outsider" has any idea. They hope to come through without a deficit; not to make any money, but simply to pay the bills and not oblige their co-guarantors to dig down in their jeans, as is usually the case where, for lack of sufficient interest, worthwhile endeavors are not given due support.

WHITE PINE PEST CONTROL DEMONSTRATION

At Ranger McKinley's Station, Seven Mountains, Friday, June 22.

White pine is one of our best wood lot trees in this section. It grows rapidly, produces excellent lumber, and will make a valuable crop on otherwise waste farm land.

This ideal tree of Centre county is threatened with an almost invisible parasite which will destroy the tree if precautions are not taken against it.

Most everyone has heard of the "Bible Rust" that imported disease which is doing so much damage to white pine in the New England States. On the afternoon of June 22, at 2:00 P. M., at McKinley's Ranger Station, on the road from Potters Mills to Lewistown, in the Seven Mountains, a control demonstration will be put on.

Specialists from the Pennsylvania State College and County Agents R. C. Blaney and J. C. Thompson of Mifflin county, and District Forester Harbison will be on hand to show methods of keeping out the disease.

Owners of white pine timber should set down the date, June 22, as a pleasant and profitable afternoon in the Seven Mountains. In case of rain a large barn floor will be available. Plantations of various kinds of trees will be visited and discussed.

GRANGERS HEAR FINE TALKS AT HOME-COMING GATHERING

Rain Mars Outdoor Activities on Grange Park, But Big Gathering Is Repaid by Listening to Prominent Grange Workers from This and Other States.

The celebration, June 4th to 9th, of a Grange Home-coming Week in Centre county proved an unparalleled success notwithstanding the inclement weather experienced.

The meetings in various parts of the county, held in subordinate Grange halls, were well attended, an interchange of visiting members, speakers present from outside the county, and a general enthusiastic interest in the Grange and its work displayed everywhere, culminating in a grand rally on Grange Park, Saturday afternoon and evening, June 9th.

A full program of out-door events had been arranged for Saturday afternoon, which rain prevented from being carried out, but Howard G. Eisman, Lecturer, Penna. State Grange, entertained in the auditorium with an interesting and comprehensive program of nature subjects and historical views.

By evening the auditorium was well filled with an interested audience who gave careful attention to the splendid addresses from an unusual array of talented speakers brought here by the committee under the auspices of Centre County Pomona Grange.

J. Gross Shook, Master Centre County Pomona Grange, presided and introduced the speakers of the evening, first on the list being E. B. Dorsett, Master Penna. State Grange, who talked on the past history, present accomplishments and future possibilities of the greatest organization in the United States working for the good of rural communities.

Next came Hon. David H. Agans, Overseer of the National Grange and Master of New Jersey State Grange, outstanding speaker of the evening, who forcefully commended conditions in his own State with Pennsylvania and other States in the union, showing what might be accomplished by combining forces in State and National government with local organizations.

Also strongly advocated recognition of the value of reciprocal feeling between the Grange and the various service clubs in solving rural community problems.

Mr. Eisman coming next, expressed enthusiasm over his work as lecturer of such an organization as the Grange, and finding a great lack of trained leadership in community work, stressing its importance in any great good was to be accomplished.

The value of the County Library to small town and country communities was explained by Mr. Eisman and the fact deplored that so few counties had furnished themselves of the privilege afforded by the State.

J. Audley Book, Overseer of the State Grange, touched on civic and economic problems of importance, particularly emphasizing the duty of going to the polls and voting.

Mr. Gimbel, chairman of the committee on arrangements, gave a glowing report of the success of the whole week's program, and the meeting closed with an entertaining musical medley played by the Spring Mills band, that had having rendered a concert at the opening of the program.

Leaves Home Without Ceremony.

The disappearance of Harry Snavely from his Haines township farm home is causing some concern among friends of the family. Mr. Snavely, formerly a tenant on the W. N. Duck farm in Penn township, some time ago purchased the A. S. Muser farm but later resold it to H. S. Winkleblich, states the Millheim Journal. It is related that he stated no reason for leaving—just walked off with the remark that he was going to attend Memorial services and would return for his wife and child in the afternoon. He later advised her by letter that he was joining a construction company that was headed for the Hawaiian Islands. That is the last information anybody seems to have of him.

PENN STATE CO-EDS SELECT HONOR GIRLS

Miss Ellen Burkholder First Honor, "Bow Girl"—Class Program on Tuesday.

Honor girls for the class day exercises at Penn State college by senior women students include Miss Mildred Wheeler, of Allentown, and Miss Jane Smith, of Beaver. Miss Wheeler was class donor and presented the symbols of office to the first three honor girls on Tuesday evening. Miss Smith presented the class mirror to the incoming senior girls with a prophecy of future events for that class.

Others to take part in the ceremonies, which were held June 11, the evening before commencement, were: Ellen Burkholder, Centre Hall, first honor, "Bow Girl"; Frances Gager, of Scranton, second honor, "Slipper Girl"; Winifred Probes, State College, third honor, "Fan Girl"; and Eleanor Pomeroy, of Troy, class poet. The boys, slipper and fan, in the shape of small pins, are presented each year to girls most deserving of the honors based on interest in activities of the class. These symbols are presented in keeping with a tradition of Penn State graduating classes.

Miss Burkholder is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Burkholder, south of town, and a graduate of the Centre Hall High school, from where she entered college. She soon was recognized as a leader and continued as such throughout her four years college career.

From the positions offered her Miss Burkholder has selected to teach in the Andrew G. Curtin Junior High school, Williamsport, and will devote her time in the class room to instruction in English and student government.

PRECIOUS METALS OBTAINED IN HILLS IN SNYDER COUNTY

Gold and Silver in Quantities Promising Wealth Found in Two Areas.

Gold has been discovered in Snyder county in what are believed to be paying quantities. Three certified analyses of ore have been revealed by reputable local citizens that show gold contents ranging in value from $31.50 to $40.00 a ton and silver worth from $1.50 to $9.35 a ton.

The deposits have been discovered in mountainous sections in the northwestern part of the county about 25 miles from Selingsgrove. One lode has been unearthed at the base of Shade Mountain, south of Beavertown, and the other on the south side of Jack's Mountain, northwest of Troxville.

Only one find has been made along Shade Mountain, but several have been vouchered for in the Jack's Mountain area, and that is where the greater amount of mysterious operating prevails. The Jack's Mountain find is on the most southern of the Seven Mountains of those Allegheny foothills and the prospecting country adjoins to the north the State forests preserve, which includes nearby the Snyder-Middle-swarth Park.

SHEFFIELD CONTRIBUTES $25.00 TO CENTRE COUNTY HOSPITAL

The Sheffield Farms Company made a contribution to the Centre County Hospital in response to a solicitation made by the writer, one of the solicitors in the borough. The check signed by B. H. Freeburg, cashier, and H. T. Brown, treasurer, was received Tuesday. A like amount was sent some time ago to Mr. Sommerville, at Bellefonte.

Through a like solicitation the Oriole Stores Company, Tyrone, responded with a check for $25.00, which amount was credited to Centre Hall because of the fact that the writer initiated the movement to solicit firms doing business here whose offices were located elsewhere.

With the addition of the contribution of $25.00 from the Sheffield Farms Company, the total for the borough sums up to $405.00.

Local Youths Go to S. S. Camps.

The Sunday school camps at Susquehanna University and at Spruce Creek have opened or are about to open. The former camp opens today (Thursday). Russell Colyer, Fred Luse, Russell Walker and Richard Bailey will represent the local Lutheran Sunday school at this camp. Messrs. Colyer and Luse are taking their second year there and are being sent at the expense of individual parties, while the expenses of the latter two will be met from the Sunday school treasury.

Charles E. Woodring, of Lewistown, will succeed Jordan. A banquet will be given in their honor at the clubhouse at Flat Rock, at which bank directors and their wives attended.

Mr. Jordan was formerly from Tusserville.

Booze Venders in the Tolls.

Chief Yougel intercepted a move by George R. Reed, aged about twenty-five years, of Beech Creek, to furnish Penn State students with booze. Reed was taken before a justice and from there to the county jail on falling to furnish $2000 bail, $1500 for liquor law violation and $500 for carrying concealed weapons.

Rudy D. Kistler, a Penn State alumna, of Reading, is under $1000 bail for his appearance at next term of court, charged with possessing, furnishing and transporting intoxicating liquors. He was also captured in State College by the borough police.

Y. P. B. Food Sale.

The local Y. P. B. will hold a food sale on Grange Park, Saturday afternoon, June 23rd, beginning at 1:00 o'clock. Your patronage is solicited.

A rumor that is likely to prove true is that beginning on Monday the trains over the L. & T. will be operated on a new schedule. The change forecast is that both trains will be made up at Sunbury—one leaving there in the morning and returning in the forenoon, and the other leaving in the afternoon to make a round trip.

The Steubenville Herald-Star gives an extended account of the extensive business handled by the Citizens Budget Co., Inc., in which Guy W. Jacobs is a director. The institution is one of this character of banks conducted in Ohio.

Preparations are being made to give the State highway between Potters Mills and State College an application of crushed lime stone chips, which will be rolled down with a steam roller, but no oil will be applied.

Twelve thousand trout were consigned to Philipsburg to be placed in the Seven Springs dam near that place. The fish arrived on Monday of last week from the Federal hatcheries at White Springs, West Virginia.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS.

The Radcliffe Chautauqua is booked for Rebersburg next week, beginning Monday and closing Wednesday.

Miss Phoebe Potter, who makes her home with her nephew, L. O. Campbell, Pennsylvania Furnace, was a guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs, last week.

Miss Martha Geles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Geles, Bellefonte, is one of the 1124 to graduate from the Teachers College of Temple University, Philadelphia.

W. H. Decker expects to begin the erection of a private dwelling along the main highway approaching Millheim from the west on a lot purchased from W. F. Stover.

Russell Hosterman, of Millheim, who enrolled in an aviation school at St. Louis, recently had the misfortune to have an arm broken when turning over the propeller of a ship he was starting.

Twenty thousand trees have been set out this spring on portions of Pennsylvania State College farms not suitable for the production of the ordinary farm crops grown in this region.

While absent from their home, thieves carried away 175 chickens belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker, in Ferguson township. There were only one of four or five farm homes the thieves visited in a successful way.

Next Wednesday the exercises incident to the closing of the school term at the Industrial Reformatory, Huntingdon, will be held. One of the big features is the exhibit of the work done in the industrial department.

Harold H. Keller is here for the summer, but at the opening of the school term in September will return to Laurel, Delaware, where he has again been elected to take a place on the faculty of the High school.

Centre Hall baseball club will hold a festival on the High school athletic field, Saturday evening, June 30th. A ball game will take place in the afternoon, and the Lemont band has been secured for the evening's entertainment.

Squire W. M. Grove, of Berwick, was in town for a day or more last week. He reports that his daughter, Miss Lois, who has been a patient at a sanitarium at Warm Springs, Ga., for almost a year, Miss Foreman will remain in Bellefonte with her parents until fall when she expects to return to the sanitarium in the South for further treatment.

Wilbur McClellan was the first of the graduates from the local High school to step into employment. He is working with a State Highway Engineering corps, now located at Mt. Jewett, McKean county. He will not be able to visit his home here for some time. He is a young man deserving of the recognition given him.

Because State auditors have been hanging around West Chester since the beginning of April, a report is being circulated that some one connected with the West Chester Teachers' College got away with $14,000 or less. The sum named is not sufficient to slime over tracks, so we may expect the culprit to be discovered and punished.

C. E. Snyder, who has long been in the automobile business in State College, in fact was the pioneer dealer there, has disposed of his garage. The new proprietor of the plant is the R. F. Stein Motor Co., which recently came into possession of the Nittany Motor Co., a Ford agency, which business will, on July 15, be removed from East College avenue to the Burrows street plant.

The macadam road through town is being repaired by State highway employees. The work is being done with greater care than heretofore. This piece of road built about eight years ago under the supervision of I. A. Sweetwood, has given the best of service. No repair work has been necessary on the crown, the edge only breaking away, a condition found on all roads of this class.

Mrs. T. F. Delaney and daughter, Agnes, attended the Sunday school convention at Spring Mills, and while doing so were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sharer, Jr. On Sunday, accompanied by Mr. Delaney and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hoy, the latter couple of Howard, drove to Aaronsburg where they heard Rev. Z. A. Yearick, a cousin, preach. Mr. and Mrs. Hoy were guests at the home of Mrs. Henry Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. Delaney at the Fred Best home.

Mrs. Grace (Alexander) Reed, of Los Angeles, California, arrived here Wednesday of last week and for a few days was among friends. She attended her class reunion at Penn State and from there went to Philadelphia, where she is a guest of the Isaac Miller family. From Philadelphia she will return to her home. Mrs. Reed is looking unusually well, the twenty years lapse of time since she was here having dealt kindly with her. Those who entertained her were themselves well entertained.
