

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Here we are at the longest day of the year.
The Homan Motor company advertises for cars to wash and polish.
Ernest Frank, of near Baltimore, Md., was with his family in Centre Hall over Sunday.
Children's Day will be observed in the Sprucecreek M. E. church Sunday evening, June 23rd, at 7:30.
Jean Wagner, of Lewistown, since last week was a guest of Bettie Ebricht at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ebricht.
Harold H. Keller has been regularly employed by the Homan Motor Company, Centre Hall, as a Chevrolet and Oldsmobile car salesman.
Mrs. F. P. Geary and daughter, Miss Agnes Geary, left on Tuesday morning by motor for York, where they will be by motor relatives for a week.
William Korfing has added to his menagerie a good sized snapping turtle which he picked off the road near Colyer on Tuesday morning.
The Children's Day service of the Linden Hall Sunday school will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, June 24th. Everybody is invited.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Puff and children, of Tyrone, were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fetterolf, parents of Mrs. Puff, for a few days, returning home on Tuesday morning.
Mr. and Mrs. William H. Homan, on Sunday, accompanied their niece, Mrs. Condo, to her home in Pittsburgh, where they expected to remain until the middle of the week. The trip out was made in a car.
Mrs. S. T. Swartz, of Tusseyville, who had been seriously ill, has very much improved, but later may be obliged to undergo an operation to remove the presumed source of her recent illness.
John Wert, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wert, of near Tusseyville, is improving in health somewhat. He suffered for several weeks from an abscess on his neck below the jaw. The young man and his family were very much alarmed as to the outcome of the trouble.
Miss Helen Odenkirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk, on Friday went on a visit of two weeks to Philadelphia and Wrentham, N. J. At the former city she will be a guest of the John Auman family, former neighbors of the Odenkirks, and at the latter place entertainment will be afforded by her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Alexander.
Harry Shreckengast, of Farmers Mills, is a Lock Haven hospital patient and very seriously ill. He has been at the hospital three weeks and underwent a serious operation. Mr. Shreckengast is a carpenter by trade, a brother of H. E. Shreckengast, of Centre Hall, who also had been seriously ill but has recovered. Rev. S. F. Greenhoe and C. E. Flink on Tuesday visited Mr. Shreckengast at the hospital.
Mrs. Jennie Barnes Johnston, wife of a former Boalsburg young man, is one of six heirs to an estate worth a million dollars. The Johnstons now live at Comandagua, New York. Mrs. Johnston's mother, Mrs. Ann Barnes, who died in Philadelphia, a resident of Barnesboro, left the estate. A trust was formed by the mother and provision was made for all her children to share alike. The only other bequest was one of $500 per month for the rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church at Barnesboro.
There was a fire scare down town Tuesday morning, but the flames were cutened by the fire hands whose owner's misjudgment caused it. The fire was in the John A. Martz home and caused by their smaller children using kerosene to boost the fire over which breakfast was to be prepared. In some manner the fire reached the floor and set the carpet on fire. This frightened one of the children who ran to the neighbor's house where the mother was engaged at the time. The greatest damage done was to Anna May Martz, whose hands were burned in striking the flames to extinguish them.
A large truck owned by Harter Bros., Lumberton, and driven by Wm. Harter, of Colburn, and a Dodge coupe came together on Tuesday evening close to the railroad crossing. The coupe was badly done up at the front. The cars were going in opposite directions when they came together but when they came to rest both stood close together, headed for Old Fort, the direction the truck was traveling. The coupe was driven by L. J. Patten, manager of the Doughnut Seed company, Philadelphia. A State patrolman came on the scene, but the court will be asked to decide who was in the wrong.
Mrs. Catharine Burris quietly celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday Saturday at the home of her son, Lawson, and Mrs. Burris, in Centre Hall. Of course there was a fitting dinner and birthday cake. So far as is known Mrs. Burris is the second oldest lady in this locality. She is one of a family of nine children, all of whom lived to a good old age—a brother, Daniel Eberhart, having attained his ninety-third year. The only other member of the family living is a brother, James Eberhart, of Lewistown, the youngest of the family, who is past eighty. Mrs. Burris is in good health and spirits and interested in the happenings of the day.
The Mountain Group Institute of the W. C. T. U. of the five central counties will meet this year at State College on the 27th and 28th of June. Date and place have been selected so as to permit a part of the sessions to be held jointly with the meeting of young people which lasts through the week. The luncheon on Wednesday at the University Club is intended as a meeting time for the two meetings. A talk on Clean Fairs by Miss Mary Sawyer of Waynesburg, is featured. The evening address will be given by Mrs. Ella M. George, State President. A discussion on Law Enforcement, conducted by Mrs. R. M. Beach, of Bellefonte, is announced for Wednesday afternoon. Entertainment over night is offered delegates by State College members.

FROM SPRUCE CREEK CAMP.

A Youthful Camper's Views of Kanesatake Sunday School Camp—Camp Made Up of 117 Girls.

CAMP KANESATAKE ON SPRUCE CREEK.

We have had our first night's and day's experience in camp. There are a lot of us, the records show 117 girls registered and I guess they are all here. If you would see us at mess in the hall you would think there were that many, and more. We are all youngsters in this group. Many of us are away from mamma and papa for the first time, and instead of being "tucked in" by them at night our cabin leader does it, and nicely, too.
Twenty cabins are occupied by us, the average to a cabin being about five. Each cabin has a leader, a young lady who has had training in leadership. These leaders mother the little groups, and it looks as though they were doing it right. It is too early in the week to tell you what we study, etc., but it looks as though the camp life here was not going to be made up of a dip in the pool in the morning—dinner—supper—bed—but I know we will all like it.
I heard a man say: "This don't look like an invalids' camp," and I am sure he is right. You ought to see the "busky kids" when we break camp. I believe we will be fatter, if not fatter. We all know each other—that is, we talk to each other like school children do. We learn to know those in our cabin best, and Cabin No. 2 has the dearest, sweetest girls of all. But that is only what every girl says of her own cabin mates, so it must be true. Bettie (Ebricht) is in Cabin No. 10, and Margaret (Rudy) is in Cabin No. 16. Ask them about the girls in their cabin.
Miss M. Letitia Brown is the director of this camp for girls of from 12 to 15 years. I guess every girl that came here had heard of her before, for they were all saying, "Where is she?" and then someone would whisper, "There she is." She's here and there and everywhere on the camp.
Sixty boys were here for a week before we came, but they left no marks except foot-prints.
When we set back on Monday, Centre Hall will have three more Camp Kanesatake Boosters. Lovingly,
ISABEL (BRADFORD.)

STATE ENJOINED FROM PRINTING HIGHWAY BONDS

Dauphin Court Decides Governor Fisher's Orders Unconstitutional—Holds Question Important.

The State on Monday was enjoined from printing $3,000,000 of road bonds to replace those purchased and canceled by the Board of Finance and Revenue by the Dauphin County Court.
The Court held that, Gov. Fisher's orders to State Treasurer Lewis and Auditor General Martin to prepare and print these bonds were without any constitutional or legislative authority and therefore void.
The decision upheld the contention of Wm. M. Montgomery, Jr., who brought a taxpayer's suit against the fiscal officers. Costs of the action were assessed against the State.
In the opinion, written by President Judge Hargest, the question raised is defined as "whether, under the Constitution and the act of 1913, the power of the Commonwealth to issue bonds for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways was exhausted when $50,000,000 of bonds were issued, or whether the amendment authorizes the issuance of other bonds to take the place of those paid out of the sinking fund and canceled, so that the indebtedness may be maintained in an amount not exceeding $50,000,000."
President Judge Hargest said the question is both serious and important, because the same section of the Constitution will come before the people for amendment at the general election this year to authorize the State to issue further large bond issues for roads, buildings for penal delinquents and mental defectives, State College, for acquiring lands for forest purposes and for erecting and equipping buildings for the National Guard.
The opinion states that there is a dearth of authority upon which to base an opinion. Quoting one decision the Constitution is to be interpreted according to the construction placed on it by the people whose bond it is, Judge Hargest said that, being curious to know the construction placed upon the amendment in question by the citizens, he inquired of a large number of them and, without exception, was told that the voter did not understand when he voted for the amendment that it contained any authority for a ressure.
The State contended that under the wording of the past amendments and those to be voted upon in November the limit of continuing indebtedness was fixed rather than authority being granted for the specific sum named.
The Commonwealth immediately appealed to the State Supreme Court and June 20 was set for a hearing.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College.

SELL THE COCKERELS—As soon as young cockerels can be distinguished they should be separated from the pullets. When large enough to sell as broilers, market them, even though the price is not high. Very little, if any, money is made from broilers.

KILL RATS ON FARMS—Rat eradication is becoming more popular in Pennsylvania. Several demonstrations have been run, using calcium cyanide. It is shot into the holes with a dust gun. The rats die in their retreats or come out in such a dizzy condition that they are easily killed.

CAN FOR WINTER USE—Cans filled with vegetables and fruits this summer and stored for winter use will help to reduce the grocery bill next winter and will improve the health of the family.

ALFALFA BEST PASTURE—For hogs, alfalfa is the best pasture obtainable, furnishing a maximum of food in forage throughout the season, even in dry weather. As many as 20 shoats can be carried on an acre.

ERADICATE CANADA THISTLES—In small patches, Canada thistles can be eradicated by covering for an entire season with any material that will completely exclude light, such as tar paper, heavy building paper, and old tin roofing.

MAKE GOOD LAWN—Cut the lawn often and do not remove the clippings. They help to build a good lawn soil.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
