FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College.

PREPARE FOR ALFALFA—Where early potatoes, canning peas, or oats and Canadian field peas for hay are harvested early enough, an excellent seedbed can be prepared for August seeding of alfalfa. Such crops leave the soil comparatively clean, loose and fairly moist. Use a disc or spring-tooth harrow to work up the soil. Sow 20 pounds to the acre.

PICK GOOD EXHIBITS—Points to consider in picking out specimens for vegetable exhibits are general appearance, market conditions, uniformity, and trueness to type. Remember the largest specimen seldom wins.

TAKE CARE OF EGGS——Keep the nests clean and on rainy days do not allow the birds to run out of doors until late in the afternoon. Provide one nest for every four hens. Market the eggs at least twice a week.

LET HOGS HARVEST CORN—The practice of hogging off small fields of corn is considered a good one in most sections. Where small fields of sweet corn have been planted early they are a big help in furnishing feed for the hogs from one to three weeks before the regular plantings of dent corn are ready for feed.

KILL THE WEEDS—Weeds allowed to grow in the cornfield rob the crop of much moisture and plant food, and make harvesting difficult. Shallow cultivation will destroy most of them.

FEED THE DAIRY COW—August is one of the danger months for the dairy herd. Pastures get short and many dairymen do not realize that their cows need extra feed. The herd should be watched carefully and if the milk flow shows a marked decrease or the cows begin to lose flesh, give green feed or hay with grain.
