Gliders of Early Times.

Short glides in the air were made as early as the reign of King Harold of England by a monk named Eilmer, who, after several successful flights, jumped from a lofty tower with wings strapped to his body. He glided for a furlong or more, when, striking a cross air current, or "air pocket" he fell to the ground, breaking both legs. He attributed the accident to his neglect "to fit on a tail."

The Gospel of Reform.

Sometimes, in addressing men who seriously desire the betterment of our public affairs, but who have not taken active part in directing them, I feel tempted to tell them that there are two gospels which should be preached to every reformer—the first is the gospel of morality, the second is the gospel of efficiency.—Theodore Roosevelt.

The Human Body.

The approximate chemical analysis of a man five feet eight inches in height, weighing 148 pounds would be: Oxygen, 92.4 pounds; hydrogen, 14.0; carbon, 13.8; nitrogen, 4.6; phosphorus, 1.4; calcium, 2.8; sulphur, 0.24; chlorine, 1.12; sodium, 0.12; iron, 1.02; potassium, 0.84; magnesium, 0.04; fluorine, 0.02; total, 148.30 pounds.

Temperament.

"I should advise ladies always to avoid artists who are in search of new sensations and emotions either in friendship or love. . . . Never fall in love with a genius, ladies, nor a man of temperament. All that is left of temperament at home is temper."—Jacinto Benevente, Spanish Playwright.

Dice Games Ancient.

No one can say positively when dice were invented. Credit for the invention is usually given to Psealmides of Greece (1244 B. C.). Games played with dice are the simplest and most universal games of chance in the world.

One of the Inducements.

Philippa—"I don't want to go to a girl's school. I'm going to a co-educational college." Lucy—"But the men there are likely to be bold and flirtatious." Philippa—"That's what the girls all tell me."

Crowning Fortune.

"The crowning fortune of a man is to be born to some pursuit which finds him employment and happiness, whether it be to make baskets, of broadswords, or canals, or statues, or songs."—Emerson.

Not Consistent.

Bashful Boy—"Sir, Jane and I have decided that our happiness is the biggest thing in the world." Father—"You change your mind so often—just yesterday you wanted to marry her!"—Maltéaser.

First Linen Clothes Dark.

First linen clothes, so costly that only kings and nobles could afford them, were dark and discolored, because the art of bleaching had not been learned in olden times.

Going Some.

A Chicago woman was made a great-grandmother three times in one day when baby sons arrived at the homes of two of her granddaughters and one grandson.

The Boss' Plan.

Typist—"The idea of your working steadily eight hours a day! I would not think of such a thing!" Friend—"Neither would I. It was the boss who thought of it."

A Thoroughbred.

Ecks—"Call that snub-nosed cur an Irish police dog? He looks like a mutt to me." Wye—"He might do that. But, nevertheless, he's a plain-clothes bull."

Bald Heads.

The thing that most annoys a bald man is the fact that every barber wishes to use his head as an experiment station.—Duluth Herald.

Precaution.

Store Detective—"I'm suspicious of that woman; she seems furtive." Floor-walker—"Well, keep your eyes on the furs."—Boston Transcript.

Youth and Age.

Youth needs but to hear a new tune twice to know it by heart. Elderly folks have to hear it 20 times to merely identify it by its name.

Sometimes.

In any organization, if a member is reluctant about accepting its work, he is more likely to be allowed to do it the way he likes.
