

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

John S. Slack, of Coburn, was in town Saturday.

Fresh fish and oysters at the Hotel Restaurant, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank and little son, of Baltimore, were here over the week end with relatives.

Homan Motor Company, Centre Hall, sold a new Chevrolet coach to T. L. Smith, of Centre Hall, during the past week.

Don't forget the toxin-anti-toxin clinic, for diphtheria prevention, at Centre Hall, Saturday afternoon of this week at 1:30 o'clock.

On Friday, Mrs. A. J. Hazel, Mrs. W. H. Brouse and Mrs. Robert Bailey, of Housburg, were dinner guests of Mrs. D. F. Smith, in town.

Progress Grange will hold an open lecture hour in Grange hall, Saturday evening, when a speaker will dwell on the matter of the proposed Centre County Library.

Treasurer L. L. Smith and family are now living in the Cadillac apartments, Bellefonte, where they will reside until April 1st, after which time they will again return to their home in Centre Hall.

Compared with last year the express business on the L. and T. railroad has greatly fallen off. The shortage in this business is largely charged up to the recent curtailment of train service on the branch.

Mrs. S. F. Greenhoe, Mrs. F. K. Frank and Miss Evelyn Colyer attended the sessions of the Woman's Missionary conference of the Susquehanna Synod of the Lutheran church, held at Milton last week.

William F. Fetterolf, east of town, has set Monday, March 25th, 1929, for holding public sale of his farm stock and implements. He will quit after 21 years as a farm owner, and will be followed by his son, Burton Fetterolf.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will serve a chicken and noodle dinner and supper in the social room of the church, October 27th. Dinner served from 11 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.; supper from 5:00 P. M. to 8:00 P. M.

Rev. D. R. Keener, pastor of the local Reformed church, attended the 52nd annual session of the Eastern Synod of the Reformed church in the U. S. Rev. G. A. Fred Griesing, of Aronsburg, also attended the meetings. D. K. Keller attended as a layman.

J. H. Detweiler, long interested in the breeding of Guernsey cattle, last week attended a sale of that breed of cattle near Baltimore where cows sold as high as $750 and grades at $300. Two heifers the dams of which were bred and reared by Mr. Detweiler on his farm near town, sold for $450 and $210, respectively.

F. P. Duck purchased the Paul Wise farm, south of the school house near the Duck homestead, and will occupy it in the spring. The price paid is something above $5000. Mr. Duck, it will be recalled, sold his farm to G. Edward Haupt, of Bellefonte. It is on this latter farm where Mr. Haupt is developing the Velled Lady Cavern.

An engagement at Reading prevented Col. H. W. Shoemaker from making his appearance at "Velled Lady Cavern" east of town, now being cleaned up by its owner, G. Edward Haupt, formerly of Bellefonte, on Monday afternoon, but he promised to be on hand later. The work of cleaning the refuse out of the cavern is progressing nicely.

Isiah Emery, of town, and Adam K. Garner, of State College, collided on the State highway east of the William Grove farm, this side of Lemont. The former was driving a Ford coupe and the latter a Ford sedan. Both cars were pretty badly damaged. The parties, after having a patrolman look over the situation, agreed to adjust their loss without further inviting the aid of the law. Mr. Emery had his sweetheart with him and Mr. Garner was returning from "seeing" his. Time: 2 A. M., Sunday.

A special train carrying fifteen coaches, four of which were speeppers, carried Penn State students to Philadelphia on Friday night to witness the game on the gridiron between Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania, on Saturday. The round trip fare was $6.00, sleeper accommodations extra. Penn State contracted for fares to the amount of $6000. The train over the branch was piloted by the various section foremen. This was necessary because of the fact that the engineer was unacquainted with the road.

"Without cause, provocation or malice aforethought," the Ford car driven by William Meyer, a former Millheim butcher, plunged into the mill dam at Spring Mills on the north side of the highway at a point between the restaurant and the iron bridge, on Friday evening, and buried itself in several feet of water and mud. A good friend of Mr. Meyer, shod with his boots, went to the rescue and in an effort to help him out of the car and onto the ground, misjudged the load, with the result that he flopped into the water up to the waist. The car was moored in the mud and required rope and tackle to get it back onto the road.

SPRING MILLS
Mrs. William Sinkabine, of Virginia, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harold Meyer.

Mrs. A. J. Shook is spending two weeks in Altoona.

Harry Hoy and an auto party from Mt. Carmel collided at Penn Hall on Saturday evening. The party from Mt. Carmel were slightly injured. Mr. Hoy was unhurt but his car was demolished.

Kate Fredericks, of Potters Mills, is moving in with her brother William. She will sell her property which was occupied by Jessie Gentzel and family. Blaine Bitner and wife returned on Friday from a trip to Erie.

Schools have resumed their regular routine.

William Musser, of Altoona, spent a day with his father, Robert Musser. George Hosterman and wife, of Penn Hall, became the proud parents of a little son, recently.

SMITH VICTORY OR RUIN, SAY FARM LEADERS

Anxious to Get Out Every Possible Vote for Champion of Agriculture.

CITE RECORDS OF NOMINEES

Scores of Farm Organizations Endorse Democratic Candidate and Denounce Hoover; Officials Active in Campaign.

Threatened with ruin by a "continuance of the Coolidge policies," and realizing their only hope for relief lies in piling up enough farm votes to ensure the election of Governor Smith, American farmers are making, through their various organizations, a tremendous effort to get every agricultural worker to the polls on election day.

Unqualifiedly endorsed by practically all farm organizations of consequence in the West and South, the Democratic candidate is assured, despite attempts to defeat him by appeals to bigotry, of the votes of all farmers who place their own prosperity above partisan prejudices.

Farm leaders, however, are anxious to make the Smith farm majority large enough to offset any possible advantage gained by the Hoover forces in backward districts which might be influenced by the misleading propaganda of the Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Saloon League.

Calling upon all farmers and members of their families to register and vote for Governor Smith, they stress the attitude of the two presidential candidates as revealed in both their past records and their utterances during the present campaign.

Candidates Contrasted

Governor Smith has consistently proposed and secured the passage of legislation which was invaluable to the farmers of his State. Herbert Hoover has just as consistently opposed measures which might have benefited Agriculture. It was he who, as Federal Food Administrator, held down the price of wheat and hogs during the war.

What is more important, Governor Smith promises to give the farmers immediately the legislative aid for which they have struggled unsuccessfully for the last five years. Herbert Hoover is opposed to it, the agricultural leaders point out, and his election would mean the death of the farm movement.

Perhaps the most important expression of organized agriculture's stand in this election is the resolution endorsing Governor Smith's position and condemning that of the Republican party, adopted recently in Des Moines by the Corn Belt Committee. This is the alliance of the 40 most important farm organizations in the Middle West, with a combined membership of 1,500,000 heads of families. Mr. Hoover's record has been bitterly condemned, also, by a resolution passed by the National Farmers' Union.

Leaders Endorse Smith
Among the many prominent farm leaders who have endorsed Governor Smith's position on Agriculture and denounced that of Mr. Hoover, are the following:
S. H. Thompson, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation.
W. H. Settle, President of the Indiana

W. L. Stockton, President of the Montana Farm Bureau Federation.
J. J. O'Shea, President of the Montana Farmers' Union.

C. E. Huff, President of the Kansas Farmers' Union.
Joe Simpson, President of the Oklahoma Farmers' Union.
Milo Reno, President of the Iowa Farmers' Union.

J. F. Reed, President of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.
Chas. C. Talbot, President of the North Dakota Farmers' Union.
A. W. Ricker, Secretary of the Corn Belt Federation of Farm Organizations.

H. B. Keeney, President of the Nebraska Farmers' Union.
Chas. Stewart, Secretary of the Nebraska Farmers' Union.
George Dulis, President of the North Dakota Wheat Growers' Association.

E. J. Kennedy, Secretary of the Illinois Farmers' Union.
H. B. Keeney, Editor of Wallace's Farmer.
Miles Cannon, Former Commissioner of Agriculture of Idaho.

John Nagler Dyer, Director in the American Farm Bureau Federation.
Chester C. Davis, Former Commissioner of Agriculture of Montana.
Thos. E. Cashman, Member of the Executive Board, Minnesota Farm Bureau.

N. S. Winder, Secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation.
H. B. Keeney, Colorado Wheat Growers' Association.
C. G. Kilgore, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Cotton Growers' Association.

George N. Peak, Chairman of the Communist Party, President of the North Central States Agriculture Conference.
Mrs. Verma L. Hatch, Social and Educational Director of the Indiana Farm Bureau.
Clarence Ousley, of Texas, former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Robert A. Coules, Treasurer of the Illinois Farmers' Union.
This is an incomplete list of farm leaders who have made public announcements that they are supporting Governor Smith.

METHODIST DEAN, A DRY REPUBLICAN, FOR SMITH

One of American's foremost educators, Dr. Edward T. Devine, dean of the American University Graduate School, Washington, D. C., a prominent Methodist minister, is speaking in behalf of Governor Smith. Dr. Devine is a Republican and a Dry.

CARRIED OUT—FEET FIRST.

The following is from a column of "Observations" by Chas. M. C. Woodland, editor of "The Redfield Press," Redfield, S. D. This newspaper is owned by Peter Norbeck, republican United States Senator from South Dakota:

Among the very first pieces of literature we received during the present campaign was the announcement that business men should organize behind Hoover for he would carry out the Coolidge policies. That didn't sell well here. We agreed the Coolidge policies should be carried out—feet first. We have seen nothing to change our opinion. When we look at the price of wheat, the foreclosed farms, the busted banks, and other evidences of prosperity brought on about here by the Coolidge policies, we wonder why the republicans didn't nominate him and give us a crack at him. But we are told that Hoover will do just as well—later that song has grown fainter and fainter. We seldom even hear the high notes now.
