Hospital Board Meets.

The board of trustees of the Centre County Hospital held their regular monthly meeting at the hospital on Tuesday evening, at which time twelve of the fifteen trustees were present. The seven standing committees were appointed and other business transacted, including hearing reports of various committees, among them the finance committee. These committees reported progress in auditing the account of the former treasurer.

Probably the most gratifying bit of information to come before the body was the statement by Manager Brown that the growth of the hospital was thirty per cent. over a similar period a year ago.

Farmers are delayed in doing fall plowing on account of the soil being so dry and hard that it cannot be turned properly. The result is largely due to the excessive rains during the first part of the summer and lack of it during the past two months.

The farm house on the S. F. Moser farm, near Salem Reformed church, east of Penn Hall, has been very much improved in appearance by the use of pressed steel sheeting.

Red Cross Membership Is Sound Investment, Business Leader Says

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction," is the statement of William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in endorsing the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, Nov. 11-29. Mr. Butterworth's statement follows:

"The men engaged in carrying forward the business and industry of this nation are quick to respond, and respond generously, when human suffering calls for their assistance. They welcome the existence of an organization authorized by international treaty and congressional charter to act as their agency, and the agency of all the people, in providing relief in disaster and promoting their beneficial services to humanity. The nation's business men take particular pleasure in supporting The American National Red Cross because it has applied sound and efficient business technique and administrative methods without sacrifice of sympathy and understanding in the prevention and mitigation of human suffering.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as representative of the nation's business, has such confidence in the American Red Cross that it calls upon its member organizations to contribute to relief in disaster only upon Red Cross assurance that an appeal is necessary.

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction. The Red Cross is seeking to increase its membership to five million; the opportunity to join its ranks is presented by the Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation from November 11 to 29. It is good to be a link in this great chain of service reaching around the world." (Signed) WILLIAM BUTTERWORTH, President The Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Vast Store of Nectar That Is Unproductive

Agriculture, or bee-keeping, is one of the few branches of agriculture that does not tend to exhaust the soil. The account with the honey crop therefore does not include the usual item, "cost of fertilizer," says a report in the New York Times.

The nectar produced in the flowers is wasted unless gathered by bees or similar insects. It has been conservatively estimated that not over one-tenth of all the nectar produced in the United States is actually harvested. The amount that goes to waste in a dozen counties near New York city is over 1,500,000 pounds.

The study of the honey bee and bee-keeping methods is becoming more popular, and to satisfy those desirous of knowing more about this subject short courses are being offered in several of the leading schools and colleges, among them Columbia university. Many people living in the suburbs cannot go in for poultry raising, gardening, etc., because of lack of space. For them a few hives of bees should afford an interesting and remunerative enterprise.

World Illuminated by Spread of the Bible

A man from Corea arrived recently in London with his two sons. He could not speak a word of English, but he showed an address inside a little Bible and was guided to the Bible house, in Queen Victoria street. Then he poured out a heap of money on a table and pointed to his two sons. When an interpreter was found, writes a London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, the man related how he knew of nothing else in England but the place which had sent his Bible to him in Corea, and he had come there with his sons because he wanted them to be educated as Christians.

In the windows of the Bible house are Bibles which show the link with little peoples and great peoples all over the world. Because of this work, the Bible, or parts of the Bible, are printed in 572 languages today. By reason of such efforts the Gospel has been published in a fresh language every six weeks for the last ten years.

New Mechanical Marvel

Cigars have been sorted by hand according to color. The process was slow, expensive and inaccurate. To eliminate the hand-sorter a machine was invented and is now in use. It recognizes 32 shades of brown in the cigar wrappers, puts each by itself and does it all at a rate better than one a second. Some of the principles of radio and photography are used, but the description is too technical for us laymen. The machine is called a triumph of science. Most of us could not understand how it distinguishes such fine shades, when the average eye cannot do it.

The machine is another development in mechanical invention. Like the linotype, it displays an "intelligence" almost beyond belief. Perhaps if the inventors keep working they eventually will create a machine with "super-human intelligence" that can be placed behind the automobile steering wheels and prevent some of the grade-crossing accidents.—New Orleans Item.

Sunlight and Health

We now know that health and well-being are directly dependent on the sun through acting through the medium of the sunbeams sent down to earth. There is something more essential in the sun than the glowing splendors of the sunrise and sunset, the brightness of the day and its mental effect of creating hope, joy. It has the power of stimulating growth and building up resistance. It is one of the best medicines that God has given to man.

The ultra-violet rays, those invisible waves of light which the camera only can see, are the life-giving, health-creating element of sunlight. They are that part of the sunshine that helps to prevent rickets, a disease all too common in nursing infants.

Rich but Unhealthy

The climate of British Honduras is hot, moist and generally unhealthy for foreigners. The coast is, as a rule low and swampy and a large part of the interior is covered with forests yielding large quantities of mahogany and logwood. Over 50,000 acres are under cultivation and yield fruits, rubber, coffee, etc. The colony is administered by a governor, and has an executive and legislative council. United States gold currency was adopted as legal tender in 1894. The majority of the population is composed of negroes, mulattoes and Indians.

No Blare of Trumpets

With the opera flourishing, and the names of prima donna figuring in all the papers, it is interesting to recall the modest announcement which heralded the first appearance of such a lady on the British stage. It appeared in 1892, and ran as follows: "The Italian lady, just come over sea, who is so famous for her singing, will perform." No more than that, not a word about her palaces, her jewels, her pets, or her differences with other gifted ladies. No mention even of her name.

Must Make Opportunity

Time and tide, the adage says, wait for no man; neither does anything else that nowadays is run on schedule. The great struggle of modern life is to make connection with opportunity, for this makes possible success.—Grit.
