

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Walter R. Hostrman, of State College, was a business caller in town on Monday.

F. V. O. Housman will erect a home for himself and family on the north side of East Main street, Millheim.

Roy Clemens, formerly a resident of Centre Hall, has acquired the Millheim Inn, and is now in charge of it.

Lloyd Vonada was one of the first in this locality to turn sod for a spring crop. He is located near Red Mill.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Potter entertained a number of their friends at Sunset Club house on Monday evening.

S. M. Campbell, the Millheim undertaker, on a business trip to Bellefonte, on Wednesday, favored this office with his presence for a brief time.

Miss Blair, a graduate nurse of the Centre County hospital, is the new nurse taking care of Mrs. M. E. Col-dron.

H. E. Eisenhour, salesman for the Drusbaugh hardware firm in Lewisburg, made his first trip through here since the middle of November. At about that time, it will be recalled, Mrs. Eisenhour had one of his legs broken in an auto accident.

Mrs. Amelia King is back to her home here after having been with her sister, Mrs. Furey, in Bellefonte, for four or five weeks. Mrs. King, who had been in Altoona for some time, also returned home beginning of this week.

A. M. Riegel, the local stock buyer, purchased this week from John Snave-ly, of near town, what he claims to have been the heaviest beef cow bought by him since he has been buying stock. The cow, a Holstein, weighed 1760 lbs. and was in the pink of condition.

The final preliminaries to the building of the Penns and Haines townships and Millheim borough High school building are about completed. The joint school board met the archi-tects, Horch & Scholler, of Altoona, in Millheim on Wednesday night. Actual work on the building will begin on or soon after the first of April.

Cupid is said to have interfered in the school affairs of Miss Beulah Bing-man daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Bingman, of New Kensington, who dis-continue her school work at Shippens-burg State Teachers College after hav-ing been a student there for a few months. The fact, so it is related, was shot from the bow during the fall of 1927, when Melvin Cowher was sent here from Tyrone as a substitute manager of the Oriole store. The wound has been kept burning all the while. Dune Rumor, posted otherwise, how-ever, does not know the season for the event. Miss Beulah is the youngest of the three Bingman sisters. The two older sisters, both graduates of Ship-pensburg, are engaged in teaching in public schools. Mr. Cowher is now manager of Oriole Store No. 10, in Ty-rone.

RICHELIEU THEATRE OPENS WITH VITAPHONE

The Richelieu theatre, Bellefonte, opened with Vitaphone talking pictures on Tuesday night, showing "The Lights of New York. Complete satisfaction was registered by the large audience present at the initial showing.

The Richelieu management has gone to tremendous expense in installing the Vitaphone equipment, which is the best obtainable in the cinema world to-day. It may truly be said that per-fection has been attained in Vitaphone construction, for surely the most critical in entertainment can find no fault with this greatest invention since mov-ing pictures were first projected on the silver screen. The voices of the screen stars are carried to the remot-est parts of the huge theatre with powerful force; the enunciation is so good that the picture really comes to life, and one may feel that the "silent drama" is no longer silent, but a liv-ing, breathing thing, full of tremen-dous possibilities.

Tonight and Thursday, Richelieu Theatre will present "Home Towners," said to be a fine all-talking picture.

If you entertain any doubt as to the real merit of Vitaphone, go see and hear for yourself. Your reaction will be most pleasant.

CENTRAL PENNA. M. E. CONFER-ENCE MAKES APPOINTMENTS

The sixty-first annual session of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Epis-copal conference opened last week in Clearfield. About three hundred min-isters were present together with many laymen. Bishop F. McDowell presided.

A commission of five was named to make recommendation as to a change in the meeting time of the conference from spring to fall. The committee is E. M. Stevens, Dorsey N. Miller, Robert Raynell, A. L. Miller and G. S. Womer.

Election of three trustees was the subject of various resolutions with a view to replacing younger men on the board. A motion by C. W. Karns pre-vailed that there should be nominated twice as many as are to be elected. This was done and J. E. Skillington, J. E. Burke and W. E. Watkins were chosen.

J. F. Winkleblich, pastor of St. Pauls Lutheran church, Altoona, was admit-ted to the conference in full connec-tion, on his credentials from Alle-gheny synod of the Lutheran church. Four young men were admitted on trial and a class of fourteen were ad-mitted to full membership.

Rev. Emerson C. Karns, of Tyrone, superintendent of the Methodist Home for the Aged, reported showing that the cost of support for each guest dur-ing the year is about $12 per month. The work deserves the consideration and support of each member and con-gregation in the conference.

The conference voted with but one dissenting vote in favor of admission of laymen to the annual conference. Both also approved the amendment to al-low conferences outside the United States to elect their own bishops.

Boys - Kites

Boys naturally fly kites at this time of the year. It is good whole-some sport and not to be discouraged but certain safety precautions should be taken to avoid possible serious in-jury.

Kites should be flown in open fields and lots where there is no danger of any part of the kite touching electric wires or poles. Wire and tinsel should not be used in making kites or kite strings because they conduct electric-ity.

FLY YOUR KITE SAFELY. In case of emergency get in touch with the nearest West Penn Power office.

AS THE DUCK TAKES TO WATER

Put the setting of eggs under the hen. Patiently she hatches them—faithfully mothers them—but knows nothing about training them. When she takes them near a pond every duckling plunges into the water.

As ducklings take to water will children take to thrift and saving, if properly trained in early life. Instinct in the animal and training in the child governs the actions of life. Thrift fol-lows an account here as the Constitution the Flag.
