DEATHS

WEBER.—The community was startled Tuesday noon over the announcement of the death of John Henry Weber, which occurred about eleven o'clock. Mr. Weber had been in delicate health for some months, but no one looked for the end so soon. Interment will take place in the family plot at Boalsburg, Friday forenoon, after brief services at the home here. Mr. Weber was a son of Jacob and Catharine (Huber) Weber and was born in Boalsburg, March 25th, 1852. When quite young he came to Centre Hall and for a time was an apprentice under Wm. A. Curray, then a well-known cobbler. Later he engaged with Abner Murray, in Boalsburg, a carriage and wagon builder, and in time succeeded him in business there. Prior to coming to Centre Hall in April of 1904, he was engaged in the mercantile business in Boalsburg and conducted the Oak Hall grain and coal business. In this time his brother, Samuel E. Weber, was associated, and Weber Brothers was the firm name to conduct the grain, mill, coal and implement business carried on here from 1904 to 1913. In the latter year Mr. Weber took over the interest of his brother and did business alone until disposing of it in 1915, at which time his health failed him. During his active business career here, Mr. Weber was one of the town's most successful and progressive citizens. He built up the Centre Hall Flouring Mills from a zero point to one never attained before or after. The firm also enjoyed an extensive trade in farm products and excelled in the sale of farm machinery, fertilizers, etc. Mr. Weber was a staunch Democrat, and was always regular at election time. He never aspired to office, but filled several local offices which he never sought. He was a member of the local lodge of Masons, and in religion he adhered to the tenets of the Reformed church. The deceased is survived by a wife, who before marriage was Miss Mary Sellers, and Mrs. Bessie Dunham, of New York City, one of his three children; also a grandchild, Miss Mary Weber, a daughter of the late Samuel Weber. The three surviving members of the Jacob Weber family are Fred W. Weber, Samuel E. Weber, and Miss Annie Weber, all of Boalsburg.

English, a minister and teacher, and was born at Milroy. A sister, Mrs. Amelia King, of Centre Hall, is the only surviving member of the English family. The surviving children of Mrs. Furey are Wm. W., Pittsburgh; Millie, wife of Webster Kerstetter, Curwensville; Margaret, wife of Hiram Lee, State College; and George, Bellefonte.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College.

PROTECT SWEET CORN—Increase of 10 to 20 per cent in yield of sweet corn has been obtained by treating seed with organic mercury compounds. The treatment prevents certain root and stalk rots. It can be obtained in liquid and dust forms and is applied according to the manufacturer's directions.

REDUCE HERD SIRE COSTS—Bull associations provide the service of a splendidly bred sire at a cost below that of an individually owned sire. Ask your county agent about the plan.

GUARD CHICK HEALTH—As a sanitary measure place a disinfectant mat at the entrance to the brooder house. This mat can be made by filling a square box with gunny sacks soaked in some reliable disinfectant. All workers about the poultry plant should clean their shoes on the mat before entering the brooder house, say State College poultry specialists.

SEEK BETTER PASTURES—Pasture

improvement is an important question with many Pennsylvania dairymen. Fifty-one Wyoming county farmers attended a recent meeting for the discussion of this important subject. These men prefer to have blue grass instead of weeds in their pastures.

ATTEND FARMERS DAY—Take a day off to attend the State College Farmers' Field Day, June 21. The time taken from farm work will be profitably spent in getting the latest information from demonstrations and experiments at State College. Bring the whole family.

ERADICATE WEEDS—Some folks use weed-killing preparations for eradicating weeds in walks and driveways.

GOOD SEEDS PAY—It pays to buy and plant good seeds, as good crops are largely dependant on the use of good seed.
