FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from the Pennsylvania State College.

GOOD HENS DEMANDED—Breeding, selection and poultry culture are employed by alert Pennsylvania poultrymen to meet the shifting market demands for poultry and eggs. To carry on heavy production hens must have strong bodies and a good supply of nourishing feeds.

FEED CALVES WELL—Keep the dairy heifers growing. They will develop into larger cows and better milk producers if not stunted through short rations or neglect during the period of growth.

KEEP COLT GROWING—A foal makes more than half of its entire growth during the first year. If stunted during this time, it will never fully recover. Good bone and muscle are of prime importance with the horse and feeds which tend to produce these should be chosen. Legume hay and oats are good feeds and blue grass makes excellent pasture.

SHORT COURSE OFFERED—Short courses in agriculture, dairy manufacturing, poultry, horticulture, and co-operative marketing once more will be offered at the Pennsylvania State College this fall and winter. Thousands of men and women, unable to spend more time in college, have found these short periods of study profitable.

SHOW GOOD VEGETABLES—Marketable types of vegetables are best for exhibition, say vegetable gardening specialists of the State College. The specimens selected should be uniform, of the best quality and condition, and free from injuries and blemishes. BUY SEED CAREFULLY—Potato growers are urged to be cautious in buying their supply of 1930 seed from unknown dealers. It is best to obtain seed from dealers of proven reliability. Seconds, grown on the home farm from first-year disease-free stock, may be used as seed next year.

QUESTIONS NEED OF STOP-GO SIGNALS

Captain Wilson C. Price, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, has directed his several hundred patrolmen to observe the need for automatic stop-go signals erected in boroughs and townships along State highway routes. Captain Price is confident that a great many of these signals are unnecessary, and, in addition, violate the law which requires that before municipal subdivisions may erect such devices they must have the approval of the State Highway Department. Captain Price believes the Highway Department's standard "Thru Traffic-Stop" sign is all that is needed in many localities.

The oldest citizen in Mifflin county, Mrs. Betty Wilson, celebrated her 90th birthday at her home in Belleville. She is in good health and enjoyed a party tendered her, with a program of music and congratulations.
