FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College.

FEED FEWER COWS MORE — If feed is scarce, it is better to sell a few cows than to short-feed the entire herd. More milk, and not less, will result and the profits on the remaining cows will be increased.

STORE FOR FUTURE USE—Immature pumpkins and squashes should be used first, as they will not store well. Mature specimens may be kept all winter if stored under warm, dry conditions. More appreciation of these vegetables will come with the enjoyment of good pumpkin pie and properly baked squash.

START PULLETS RIGHT — Any change in feeding and management of pullets should be made before production starts. Pullets beginning to lay without sufficient size and weight are likely to quit and molt soon after production commences. State College specialists say.

FEED BEES FOR WINTER—Bees not having good quality or ample quantity of stored food should be fed sugar syrup before cold weather comes.

KEEP FARM ACCOUNTS—Progressive farmers find that accounts kept on their operations reveal where profits are made and losses incurred. Changes in organization and operation can be made profitably only when sufficient information is available to justify them. Your county agent will tell you how to start your bookkeeping.

PROTECT FARM MACHINERY—A farm machine which stands out all winter not only depreciates in value but requires a lot of extra time and patience to get it ready to run when it is wanted again. Housing the farm implement pays.

PRODUCE QUALITY MILK—Health and cleanliness are important factors in the production of high quality milk. Healthy cows, kept clean, and sanitary practices throughout the dairy contribute to high quality production.

CENTRE HALL HIGH SCHOOL.

Centre Hall High school soccer team met the Rebersburg team on Thursday, October 31st, and tied the score 2-2 on the Rebersburg field. During the first quarter both teams played hard and Rebersburg emerged victorious, with one goal. The C. H. H. S. team rallied and tied the score in the second quarter and added one goal in the beginning of the third, making the score 2-1. After that the Orange and Black felt sure of victory, but Rebersburg, got to be outplayed, found an opening and added a goal, making the final score 2-2. Since the score was a tie, they played two five-minute periods but neither team scored further.

This was a hard-fought game throughout, and not only hard-fought but clean also. The skill of both teams was displayed in the game. The record for the home team so far this season is five victories, one defeat, and two tied scores.

Centre Hall dodge ball team also played Rebersburg at the same time, at Rebersburg. The score was 5-2 in favor of Centre Hall.

It seemed as though both teams were evenly matched as to dodging and throwing and the interest in the playing did not lag at any time. Rebersburg was the fastest team the girls met this season and the game was a model for alert playing and good sportsmanship.

This was the third victory for the Centre Hall team, Millheim and Boalsburg having been defeated previously with respective scores of 25-3 and 29-3.

Other Activities.

Hallowe'en party, preparations for the Senior play, delivery of Junior Class rings and of Senior beret hats and pennants have been the extra-curricular events of the week at the High school.

The Juniors received their class rings. This is the first class to receive the standard ring which is in the form of an octagon with a pipe tread and two tomahawks engraved on it. The hats and pennants which have been ordered by the Seniors were received last week also. The Seniors seem to be well pleased with their colors, blue and tan.

A Hallowe'en party was held by the three lower classes on Friday evening, in honor of the Seniors and the faculty. A ticket was received by each pupil in the school. Each person entered by way of the cellar in which a line of ghosts and witches had been stationed. The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, cake, pumpkin pie, and chocolate nut sundae. Four prizes were awarded: for the prettiest costume, for the most appropriate for the season, and for the best dressed couple.

The Seniors are making preparations for their play entitled "A Whiff of Evidence." It is a comedy-drama in three acts which will be presented November 29th and 30th, in the Grange hall. The cast will be announced in a later issue.
