

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

It rained and rained on Sunday and Sunday night.

The Ladies' Temple K. G. E., announce a bake sale for December 7th.

In Centre county in 1929 there were issued 3,097 dog licenses as against 3,556 in 1928.

The borough reservoir is full to overflowing as the result of the rains of the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kryder Frank gave a birthday party for their daughter, Mrs. Paul Fetterolf, on evening last week.

Paul Reese, of Conemaugh, was here over Sunday to visit his sister-in-law, Mrs. Wm. Reese, and family, in town.

The annual Red Cross membership drive under the direction of Prof. J. F. Wetzel, chairman, will open today (Thursday).

The Sheffield milk price for October was $2.83 1/2 per hundred pounds, an increase of nine and one-half cents over the September price.

Mrs. Blanche Louck and Mrs. Millie Kepler, of near Pine Grove Mills, each killed a wild turkey. They expect to spend some time hunting deer when the season opens.

A card received at this office from Guy W. Jacobs states that he was attending a convention at Boston, Mass., last week. On Saturday, the 16th, he saw the Harvard-Holy Cross football game.

James H. Lohr, of Philadelphia, arrived here on Friday, and Monday returned home, taking with him Mrs. Lohr who had been a guest at the Bartholomew home here for a few weeks.

Jennie Evelyn is the name of the fifth child born on the 15th instant to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hough, five miles west of Wolf's Store in Miles township. Dr. Hugh Morrow was the physician in attendance.

Mrs. P. H. Luse was taken to the Huntingdon hospital on Sunday and on Monday underwent an operation. Her condition is reported by her family as very favorable. She expects to remain at the hospital for at least a week.

A new roof is being put onto the barn on the E. M. Huyett farm, west of town. The ninety-five squares of roofing are being placed by Griffith P. Garrett, the Rebersburg contractor. The cupolas were first repainted by John Coldron.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crowl and the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Christine, motored here from Elysburg, on Saturday, and while Mr. Crowl attended the State-Bucknell football game at State College, the ladies remained at the T. L. Moore home. They returned home the following day.

Miss Stella Hosterman, clerk in the local post office, and sister, Mrs. Luu Hosterman, and children, William and Marie, of Woodward, on Saturday drove to Tower City, Schuylkill county, and returned home Sunday evening. While at the place named they were guests of an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Snyder.

Floyd Walker, the star route mail carrier between Bellefonte and Millheim, making a round trip daily, leaving Bellefonte at 3:09 o'clock p. m., will locate on the Isaac Baney farm, near Bellefonte, next spring. He will farm the forty acres in connection with carrying the mail. Mr. Walker now lives in Centre Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hemmis, of Johnstown, spent the week-end at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McClenahan, west of town. Mr. Hemmis is a dealer for the Harley-Davidson in that city. Other guests who took Sunday dinner at the McClenahan home were Mrs. Ella Royer and Fred Houser, of State College.

Mrs. A. W. Zettle, formerly from here, but now living at Berwick where her husband is engaged in farming, underwent an operation for the removal of a tumor. The operation was of a serious nature, resulting in the necessity of one or more transfusions of blood, according to reports received here.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. White, whose marriage took place recently, will begin farming operations next spring on the H. A. White farm, in the Penna. Cave district, now tenanted by Frank Long. Mrs. White, who was Miss Tacy Smith, is at present teaching school at Plum Grove, in Potter township. She is the daughter of William E. Smith of Spring Mills.

Mrs. (Dr.) G. H. Widder and son, George W. Widder, of Harrisburg, drove from their home to Centre Hall early Saturday morning, called on a few acquaintances and took dinner at the Arney homestead, west of town. They then went to Boalsburg to take back home with them Miss Elizabeth Harpster, a sister of Mrs. Widder, who had been spending the past six weeks with another sister, Mrs. Homer Barr.

F. V. Goodhart is in Philadelphia this week, an operative patient under Dr. George W. Mackenzie, 1724 Spruce Street. On Tuesday he underwent an operation for sinus trouble, and since has been improving. He was accompanied by Dr. J. V. Foster and a Penn State student, with J. Shannon Booser at the Nash wheel. The latter returned home Tuesday night. Mr. Goodhart may be obliged to remain for additional treatment for some days.

Dodge dealers had a banquet at Williamsport Friday evening as a result of a selling contest covering a given period. The salesmen were divided into two groups, and the winners on the evening named ate at the expense of the less favored salesmen. R. S. Hagan, the local dealer here, and salesman Hugh Smith, were on the winning side, while W. R. Hosterman, of State College, and his salesman, E. M. Smith, were not so fortunate and were obliged to foot the banquet bill.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Wednesday morning—snow.

County W. C. T. U. Institute in the Methodist church Saturday forenoon and afternoon.

Miss Gladys Smith, a High school girl here, was a guest over Sunday of friends at Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mitterling left their home early Tuesday morning for LaGrange, Indiana, to attend the funeral of Rev. D. J. Mitterling, which will take place this (Thursday) forenoon, as noted elsewhere in this issue. Mr. and Mrs. Mitterling traveled by auto.

Dr. George W. Mackenzie, a noted eye, ear and nose surgeon of Philadelphia, was here from Thursday to Friday, a guest of F. V. Goodhart. The surgeon came here to hunt small game and was successful in killing some. He enjoyed his brief vacation here very much, possibly more than any of his previous vacations here.

While attending the Mrs. Robert Finkle sale, near Spring Mills, on Thursday of last week, Philip Auman became suddenly violently ill, and fears for a time were had of serious results. Mr. Auman at this time has nearly or wholly recovered from the illness referred to and is again assisting in caring for his sister, Mrs. John D. Wagner, in Georges Valley, who is an invalid.

COURT NEWS.

Court convened on Monday morning and the following cases have been continued since the recess of last week:

Ralph A. Smith vs. Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania; being an action in trespass.
