As Grace Small sprung a surprise on her friends when she was married to Roy Brungart, on Saturday night, Orle Wagner, from Spring Mills, was a week end guest at the Charles Bierly home.

The William Tyson family held a surprise party for their mother on Saturday night.

Clymer Tyson and brother Ernest came from Harrisburg for the event and they report an enjoyable time.

POTTERS MILLS.

Sunday visitors at the E. B. Palmer home were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sellers, Miss Mildred Palmer and Clyde Walker, all from State College. Miss Palmer will be at her home Saturday for a two weeks' vacation.

A bill has been introduced in Congress providing for an increase of salary of Federal Government jurors drawn for district courts from $5.00 to $9.00 per day.

SPRING MILLS.

Mrs. Adrew Immel, who for the past month has been a patient in the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, continues to grow weaker. On Sunday she was visited by her son, William Hassenpflug, and sister, the latter of Lewistown.

A community Christmas tree will be erected, and appropriate exercises held, on the night before Christmas, in front of the Vocational School building, to which the public is cordially invited. The Young Peoples' Missionary Society is behind the movement. The Spring Mills band will play several appropriate selections, and there will be group singing of Christmas carols. The time is 7:30 o'clock.

Business Poster to Keep Up Progress.

A poster of great strength and force, designed by Charles Ben Gibson, was this week placed on approximately 50,000 poster panels in 17,500 cities and towns in the country.

The poster portrays America pushing steadily forward. This is Mr. Gibson's contribution to the cause of business. The Outdoor Advertising Association of America and poster lithographers cooperated in the movement.

The poster carries the following: "Forward America—Business is Good—Keep It Good—Nothing Can Stop Us."
