

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Gregg Carper, of Coburn, had been seriously ill, but is now improving. Her mother, Mrs. Jacob Sharer, helped to care for her.

Miss Eva Bailey, teacher in the Cleveland Bible School, in Cleveland, Ohio, was with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Godshall, here, for the Christmas season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rudy and daughter Edith were in Youngstown, Ohio, over the Christmas season, and were delightfully entertained by their friends and relatives there.

Harry Snively, of Spring Mills, was a caller recently and reports himself happy to have recovered from an accident while cutting wood, when the axe hit his foot, cutting a gash needing surgical attention.

The next meeting of the Pennsylvania State Education Association will be held in Williamsport, December 26 and 27. Over 2000 persons attended the 75th gathering of the body held in New Castle last month.

When Bradford and son, Randall, of Phoenixville, drove here Saturday evening and returned Sunday, taking with them the former's mother, Mrs. Nancy Bradford, who will remain with the Bradford family for some time.

John S. Meekley, of Millheim, was in town last week on business with Registrar of Vital Statistics Edgar W. Miller. Mr. Meekley is the all round man employed for many years by S. M. Campbell, the Millheim undertaker.

Walter E. Lee, proprietor of the Butaw House, Potters Mills, killed three dogs which came in the heavy-weight class with a combined weight of over 1,000 lbs. The individual weights were 357, 350 and 345 1/2 lbs.

Mrs. S. F. Greenhoe has been in the Centre County hospital under observation since Thursday of last week. Her condition at present is reported very fair. There is a possibility of a very serious and delicate operation in the future.

Stanley Brooks succeeds Claude Dutton as helper at the Booser filling station. The latter was at the garage since last May, and between this and Spring will prepare to engage in farming on the Keller brothers' farm, east of town.

Christmas services were held by all the Sunday schools connected with the various churches in town, and they were all rendered in a very delightful manner, indicating that some group of individuals had given much time and thought to the training of the children and preparation for the event.

During the small game season there were forty-one fatal and 177 non-fatal accidents. Last year there were forty fatal and 213 non-fatal. Twelve persons were killed and thirty-three wounded during the recent large game season, as against five killed and 25 wounded during the season of 1923.

Rev. W. E. Smith and L. M. Berger made an enjoyable trip to Hagerstown, Md., by auto. They left here Thursday and returned Saturday. At Hagerstown they visited Rev. Smith's parental home and Gettysburg on the return, they stopped at the old home of Mrs. Smith. One of the pleasing sights along the way was the numerous Christmas trees decorated and lighted.

Harold and Lawrence Callahan, sons of Daniel Callahan, of near Linden Hall, came east by auto a few days ago. The former had been at Monroe, Wisconsin, where he was employed in construction work by the Bell Telephone Company, while the latter was engaged in a garage in Freeport, Illinois. They are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Callahan, where the father also lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Lee, whose marriage was noted in the last issue of the Reporter, were at their home in Centre Hall over the Christmas period, and on Saturday of last week went to Williamsport, where they will reside at Mrs. Lee's home, 941 Hepburn street, until spring time, when it is planned to dispose of the Williamsport property and come to Centre Hall to make their future home.

The band concert consisting of sacred music and Christmas carols, given in the Methodist church at Spring Mills, by the local band, on Sunday evening, Dec. 22, furnished a fine type of entertainment. The church was almost filled to its full seating capacity and every one present enjoyed the program as arranged by the pastor of the church. The church was decorated for the occasion.

Misses Elizabeth Bartholomew and Edith Moltz entertained the class of 1927, Centre Hall High school, both of whom were members of it, at the C. D. Bartholomew home, Tuesday evening. Various games and other amusements were engaged in and an elaborate spread topped the ending of the old year. 1926 was a few hours old before the young people broke away from the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Jacobs and children, Frances, Guy, Jr., and Roseanna, of Steubenville, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Clay W. Reesman, of Camden, N. J., were here for the Christmas season. The former is engaged in the manufacture of ice. Mr. Reesman is the head of the Park Commission, an office obtained by election, of his city. Carl A. Auman is another Steubenville business man who was with his parents here during a portion of the Christmas holidays.

C. W. Slack, elected Justice of the peace for Centre Hall borough, will open an office in the basement of the Penns Valley bank building next Monday, the first Monday in January, the date his commission as a Justice becomes effective. The room has been brushed up and will present a better appearance than heretofore. Justice Slack expects to give all the time needed to administer the affairs of the very important office to which he was elected.

Millheim Undertaker Retires.

Samuel M. Campbell, in business in Millheim since 1888, retired on the first of the present year, having sold his business to Neff & Son, of Howard, who are now in charge.

Mr. Campbell began business as a partner in undertaking and furniture with Jonathan Harter, under the firm name of Harter & Campbell, January 1st, 1888. On February 1st of the following year he purchased the interest of his partner, and since then to the time stated above, he conducted the business himself. He aimed, in both lines of business, to keep abreast of the times, and served faithfully his many patrons in his community. During this time the business expanded and many improvements were made in the business stand. Both Mr. Campbell, as well as his wife, are in poor health, practically forcing the former to discontinue business.

Mr. Campbell, in a note to this paper, desires to return thanks for the patronage given him during all these years by the people in his field of operation.

BAKER-REARICK.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Ruth Rearick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Rearick, of Martinsburg, formerly of Centre Hall, and Sergeant Lewis Baker, of the United States Marines, stationed at Philadelphia, at that city on Nov. 23. The marriage is the culmination of a romance begun last June, when Sergeant Baker came to Lock Haven as an escort to the body of Corporal Frank Rearick, son of L. G. Rearick, of Lock Haven, who died in China, while on duty with the marine corps. The bridegroom has two years yet to serve in the U. S. Navy, and the bride will return to Roesonia, near Reading, where she is public school nurse, for the present. She is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania hospital. The bride and groom are on an abated honeymoon, which is being spent in Lock Haven and with relatives of the bride in and near Martinsburg.

FARM CALENDAR

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Obtain Reduced Fare—A special rate of one and one-half fare to the State Farm Products Show and back home is available to farmers. Procure a reduced fare certificate from the secretary of your farm organization or the county agent.

Improve Farm Woodlot—Trees of the woodlot never stand still. Something is happening all the time. Improvement cutting will favor better conditions for growth, increase the proportion of good trees, and help the growth of excellent individual trees.

Market Hogs Profitably—Marketing hogs before the heavy run starts will add the farmer to obtain better prices. Records show that some farmers who kept their swine longer than necessary would have tripled their profits by selling earlier.

Women to Get Awards—Prizes are awarded for the products of the housewife as well as the farmer at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg, the management announces.

Canned fruits, vegetables, and greens; dried fruits and vegetables; jellies and preserves; cakes, bread and cookies, and garments may be entered in the competition.

Guard Chicken Health—In many cases colds and roup are the result of chronic coccidiosis, worm infestations, faulty management, or poor housing. Correcting the conditions which lower the vitality of the birds is the first step in treatment.

Cool Milk Properly—Immediate and adequate cooling of milk is necessary to prevent souring. A temperature of less than 50 deg. F. is unfavorable to the growth and reproduction of the injurious bacteria.

FOR SALE—2 Shorthorn bulls about 16 months old; also, a Shorthorn cow, coming fresh.—C. W. Durst, Centre Hall, R. 2; phone 751223. 03
