The corner stone for new "Old Main" at Penn State, was laid on Saturday.

The 116,000 deaths in Pennsylvania during 1929 makes the death rate 13.7 per 1000.

Irvin M. Burris, former resident here and now a garageman at Yeagertown, was in town Monday evening.

The joint council of the Penns Valley Lutheran church will meet at Centre Hall, Saturday afternoon of this week.

The condition of Mrs. S. F. Greenhoe, at the Centre County Hospital, is reported on Wednesday as greatly improved.

Mrs. D. N. Dorman, of Yeagertown, was a caller at this office on Tuesday morning, and had inserted a small ad, which will be found in another column.

Mrs. Annie Homan and daughter, Miss Cora, who had been rather seriously ill, have improved very much and are now able to be about the house.

A special meeting of Progress Grange will be held Monday evening, 13th inst., at which time the officers of the organization will be installed by past master of the State Grange W. F. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Lee drove up from Williamsport on Monday, and returned the following day. Mr. Lee came to attend to some matters relating to his farm in Nittany Valley.

William Bilger, son of Charles Bilger, on Nittany Mountain, has been seriously ill for a few weeks, and is reported as not improving. The young man is a World War veteran, and traces his lineage to service abroad during which time he was gassed.

Prothonotary Claude S. Herr administered the oath of office to John G. Love, re-elected district attorney of Centre county for a second term. John C. Condo, Democrat, Centre Hall, and J. C. Gates, Republican, Ferguson township, took the oath of office on Saturday.

It appears the town council is seriously thinking of improving some of the side streets during the next year. It is also considering the testing of the well at the edge of the reservoir, and if found to have a sufficient flow of water an equipment adequate to lift it will be installed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brungart, two daughters, and Prof. Rhinehart, of Mill Hall; Mrs. Clem Walker and daughter Mary, of Lock Haven, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Spayd, on Saturday. Mrs. Brungart and Mrs. Walker are sisters of Mrs. Spayd. Prof. Rhinehart is the principal of the Mill Hall public schools.

E. M. Smith, the auctioneer, now living in the Edgar Miller property next to the Goodhart furniture establishment, has leased what was formerly the Reformed parsonage and will move into it by April 1st. He is obliged to vacate his present quarters owing to the fact that the owner and wife will occupy it themselves next spring.

Next Sunday being the Tenth Anniversary of the 18th Amendment and Prohibition, the occasion will be fittingly observed in the Methodist church of this place, in the evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The service will be in charge of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, who will have a special program, and the pastor will give an address. Everybody is invited.

Ralph S. Hagan, proprietor of the Hagan Garage here, and Walter R. Hosterman, a State College garageman, both of whom are handling Dodge cars, attended a gathering of Dodge salesmen and dealers at Detroit on Friday and Saturday. Dodge dealers were in attendance from all sections of the United States. The 1930 program was laid before the dealers. W. U. Musina, of Williamsport, with whom Messrs. Hagan and Hosterman are associated, was also one of the large number at the gathering.

Ernest Wagner, son of Clayton E. Wagner, an honor graduate of the Centre Hall High school, on Monday returned to State Teachers' College, at Lock Haven, where he has entered on the last year of the two-year course selected by him. Other students in the valley attending the same institution are Miss McClellan, a freshman, son of R. G. McClellan, Linden Hall; Russell Bohn, a senior, son of D. C. Bohn; and William Sweet, also a senior, both of Boalsburg. The institution now has four hundred ninety-eight students, the largest in its history. The improvements now under way costing several hundred thousand dollars are expected to greatly increase the number of students at the opening of the coming fall term.

INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK
BRIGHT IN MIFFLIN COUNTY

Mifflin county's outlook is bright for 1930, according to a survey made of the various industries there. Practically without exception, the heads of the manufacturing plants believe that the present year will be a prosperous one with a good demand for labor. Statements to this effect were made by W. W. Stanton, superintendent of the Vee-co plant, which manufactures rayon; Standard Steel Company officials; W. R. Dettry, superintendent of the Overhead Door Company; J. N. Lewis, superintendent of the Susquehanna Silk Mill; Edwin Cross, superintendent of the Lewistown Foundry and Machine Company; Thomas Jameson of the Logan Iron and Steel Company; Samuel Sheffer, of the National Limestone Company, and Richard Wash, of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation.

WEST PENN POWER CO

JOHNNY MUSKRAT TO BROADCAST ON SEVEN STATIONS

Johnny Muskrat, broadcaster on fur trapping and fur marketing for the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, is a mighty busy man these days. Not only does he give fur talks from station WLS, Chicago, as he has for several years, but also makes hurry-up trips to Minneapolis to talk to trappers over station WCCO. In addition Johnny is writing fur market letters for stations KJR Seattle; KMBC Kansas City; WCAU Philadelphia; KOA Denver, and WFAA Dallas, which will be broadcast regularly during the fur season.

Johnny Muskrat draws on a lifetime of actual experience in instructing trappers how to catch furs, how to correctly prepare them for sale, and when to ship them. The Foundation has found these talks to be useful not only for informing trappers on fur market conditions from day to day but also in helping them take more and better furs.

In addition to telling of his own experiences, Johnny frequently broadcasts the interesting letters he receives from his trapper friends. Occasionally, one of his old friends drops into the studio and is introduced to the radio audience. Among the interesting characters to be introduced by Johnny at various times during the present season will be El Comanche, noted writer and authority on outdoor and pioneer life. El Comanche is also scheduled to officiate as one of the Fur Show Judges when the prize winning pelts are to be selected.

In spite of all his radio duties Johnny finds time to keep track of entries for the First National Fur Show and reports that judging by those pelts already received the show should be a truly wonderful exhibition of the trapper's skill in skinning, stretching, and drying pelts.
