Milroy's Highway Problem. A correspondent makes these comments relative to selection of a State highway route through Milroy: State Highway engineers were again surveying the highway route through Milroy this week. It seems as if some one loses the previous figures and every few weeks the boys have to come back and measure the darn road again to see it is all there. It seems that the route in this vicinity is still up in the air. Three separate routes have been surveyed and it is a toss up which route will be taken. The Highway Department is desirous of getting through highways out of the town, but sometimes these routes present some hard problems. One route as surveyed and staked goes through the middle of the Congregational parsonage, occupied by Rev. J. H. Deiss, and takes off the front porch of the Mrs. John Armstrong residence.

Meeting of Ministerium. The Penns Valley Ministerium met at the Methodist parsonage, Pleasant Gap, on Monday afternoon. Rev. W. E. Smith, vice chairman, presided. Rev. H. W. Newman read the Scriptures and Rev. J. H. McKeehan offered prayer. Reports were received concerning the Week of Prayer at Centre Hall, Spring Mills and Pleasant Gap. The offerings were as follows: Centre Hall, $36.97; Spring Mills, $13.14; Pleasant Gap, $3.29. Total, $53.41. The following officers were elected for the year: President, D. R. Keener; vice president, W. E. Smith; secretary, J. M. Kirkpatrick; treasurer, Alvin Metzger. The paper of the day was presented by Rev. Smith who had for his subject, "Paul, a Pattern of Prayer." The next meeting will be held at the Lutheran church study, Feb. 3d.

Celebrated Fifth Anniversary. The fifth anniversary of the birth of Patricia Boozer was fittingly celebrated on Saturday from 3:30 to 7:30 P. M. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Boozer. An amusement for the guests was furnished by a still hunt for tokens of appreciation for each of them secreted in various sections of the home by the hosts, thus reversing the gift feature of most such occasions. The little guests present were Isabel Emery, Marjorie Morrow, Barbara Potter, Jean Bartholomew, Joyce Bradford, Miriam Brooks, Miriam Homan, and Evelyn Dutrow. Miriam Mitterling and Doris Moltz directed the children in play.

W. C. T. U. Meets. In order to become a standard union, W. C. T. U. unions must meet with a neighboring union, and this the Centre Hall union did on Tuesday evening at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Fisher. The union invited to meet with them was the Tusseyville-Linden Hall union. There were between thirty and forty persons at the gathering, and a very enthusiastic meeting was held. A number of short addresses were made and readings were given by Misses Evelyn Colyer and Jane Campbell, representing the L. T. U. After the regular program had been executed, light refreshments were served.

Charles E. Dorworth, of Bellefonte, according to a message from the county seat, has made a public denial that he intends to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative in Congress. A newly organized group, the Altoona Racing association, became the owners of the Altoona Speedway on Friday with the purchase of the property at a sheriff's sale in Hollidaysburg, for $200.

DEATHS

McCoy.—John McCoy, the last survivor of the children of John and Agnes (McCormick) McCoy both deceased, passed away suddenly in Norristown, on Thursday of last week. Interment was made at that place on Saturday. The friends here have rather meager information concerning his death. It appears he was either visiting a family by name of Swartz, or probably was boarding there, when he was seized with a heart attack and died almost instantly while seated on a chair. Mr. McCoy was the youngest of the McCoy family, and was aged about seventy years. He was born at either Old Port or Pottery Mills. He was a baker by trade, and for a number of years was employed in the State Hospital in Norristown, and was retired on pension a few years ago. He was twice married. A daughter, living in California, survives him.

EDMUNDS.—Mrs. Augusta Edmunds, widow of the late Thomas G. W. Edmunds, late of Millheim, died early Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, in Millheim, from apoplexy. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning from the home, followed by services in the Aaronsburg Reformed church; interment was made nearby the church. The deceased was born in Northampton county, Sept. 1, 1839. The couple moved to Aaronsburg about sixty years ago, and lived there until the death of Mr. Edmunds, in 1907. Since then the mother lived with her daughter in Millheim. The surviving children are: Mrs. Clara Shaffer, Montgomery; B. F. Edmunds, and Mrs. Elizabeth McHose, of Millheim; Mrs. Dora M. Weaver, Bethlehem. There are living twenty-nine grandchildren, thirty-two great grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

ACHENBACH.—Byron C. Achenbach, for almost a third of a century a well known baker and caterer of Lock Haven, died at his home in that place following a lingering illness of three years or longer. He was aged 73 years. Prior to locating in Lock Haven Mr. Achenbach lived in Bellefonte and operated a bakery on Bishop street. Surviving him are his wife and three sons: Guy H., of Lock Haven; Clarence H., of Philadelphia, and V. Earl, of Narberth. He also leaves one brother and two sisters: Hiram E., of Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. Regina Sheets, of Ashland, Ky.; and Mrs. Grace B. Miller, of Johnstown. Burial was made at Lock Haven.

MARKS.—Jacob Marks, for many years a resident of Bellefonte, who spent about all of his time prior to retiring twenty years ago, as a clerk in the Lyon & Co. store, died at the Centre County Hospital, Wednesday night of last week. He was aged seventy-three years, and was unmarried. In the fall of 1928, Mr. Marks developed gangrene in his right foot, which resulted in amputating the right leg. During last summer kidney trouble developed, and late in December he was taken to the hospital.

CENTRE COUNTIANS READY FOR STATE FARM PRODUCTS SHOW

High Quality Bees to Be Shown. Baby beehives exhibited by 4-H members at the State Farm Products Show in Harrisburg, January 21 to 24, will be more uniform and of higher quality than animals displayed at former shows, says C. A. Burge, livestock extension specialist at State College, who recently inspected the club offerings. Lebanon county boys and girls will show 45 baby beehives; Dauphin county youngsters will display 10; and Cumberland county juniors will exhibit 15 hives. All the stoves are Herford's. They will be judged Tuesday, January 21, and the grand champion will be picked Wednesday forenoon. Egg Entries Must Be in Saturday. Entries for egg exhibition at the State Farm Products Show in Harrisburg will close Saturday, January 18, officials announce. Last year there were 351 entries of eggs made by exhibitors which made this part of the show the largest in the Eastern States. Eggs will be shown this year in five classes: boys and girls; backyard farmers, commercial hatchery, and miscellaneous. Liberal premiums will be offered, a total of $416 being set aside for the egg show.

Lamb Feeding Club.

Centre countians attending the State Farm Products Show will be interested in the Centre County Boys' and Girls' Lamb Club exhibit. This exhibit will be located in the Rhoads building on the corner of Forster and Cowden Sts. The Rhoads building will house the baby beef 4-H club exhibit, 4-H club lamb exhibit, swine and wool. The lambs will be judged on Wednesday, January 22nd, at 9 o'clock. The pens will be divided into various classes according to breeds. Centre county boys and girls will be represented by two pens of grade Southdowns, 4 pens of grade Cheviots, 2 pens of grade Shropshires, and 6 pens of grade Hampshires, making a total of 14 pens or 42 lambs. The members of the Club will attend the show as a group from Monday until Thursday. Complete arrangements have been made by the 4-H club office at State College for all 4-H club members to eat and sleep at the same place. A very interesting program of activities has been worked out for the club members while in Harrisburg. In addition to showing their exhibits, the club members will be treated to various sight-seeing trips throughout the Capital city. They will have an opportunity to visit Swift's packing plant to learn the difference between good meat and poor meat and how it is slaughtered. Their time will be completely taken up by educational and recreational features. Those attending from Centre county under the direction of County Agent R. C. Blaney and George Luse, Centre Hall, local lamb club leader, are: Aljo Foust, William Campbell, Margaret Ross, Richard Ross, Florence Brooks, Edward Bitner, Fred Luse, all of Centre Hall; Philip Smith, Spring Mills; Clarence Hoy, Floyd Weight, of Bellefonte; Charles Harter, Nittany; Leroy Bechtel, Howard; Harold Homan and Lee Homan, State College.

Beating Chain Stores Over Air.

KWKH, a 10,000-watt station, at Shreveport, Louisiana, is owned by W. K. Henderson, the man who is hot after chain stores. He is on the air almost every night and his language blows out all but the highest quality of radio tubes. The other night he stated over the air that he received as many as twenty thousand letters daily from all parts of the United States and most of them contained complaints of unfair dealings on the part of chain stores. A particular brand of a chain grocery store is getting its good share of Henderson's gratuitous advertising. And what he said about Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, wouldn't embellish a Sunday school address. The commission is about to take measures to curb the vitriolic Henderson. The listeners-in are with the KWKH announcer to the extent of fully 100 per cent of what he says, and the more the chain store customer reads the label on the package, weighs and compares, the more he will tune in on KWKH, which will be found at about $50K, on the Crosley at dial number 44, and on the Majestic 140.

LEAGUE BUYS TWO PLANTS.

The Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc. has agreed to purchase subject to ratification by its Board of Directors, the property and business of the Onondaga Milk Producers Association, Inc., of Syracuse, N. Y. The consideration is approximately $500,000. The Onondaga Milk Producers Association is a farmers' co-operative marketing organization, which was organized about nine years ago. Except for the Dairyman's League, it was the largest such organization in the New York Milk Shed, and has long been an important factor in the dairy business of central New York. The Dairyman's League will also take over the plant and business of the Jersey Milk and Cream Co. at Groton, N. Y. In 1923 this company ceased to buy its supplies from the Dairyman's League and has since operated as a non-pool plant. The Groton plant is equipped for bottling, and has many manufacturing equipment too. About 275 cans of milk are received at the plant daily from 100 farmers.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

John A. Kline is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Godshall, in town.

Dr. James Martin Yeager, aged seventy-two years, widely known minister and State legislator, died at his home in Lewistown on Monday, after a week's illness. He suffered a stroke on Tuesday previous and never recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stover drove from their home in Yeagertown to Spring Mills, on Tuesday, and on their way favored the Reporter with their presence. They were formerly residents of Spring Mills, when Mr. Stover conducted a tinning business. He is now living in semi-retirement. Speaking of affairs about Yeagertown, Mr. Stover related that the Fisher Body company acquired the Mann Axe plant, at Yeagertown, but it is not known locally what they intend doing with it. The Fisher Body company is a General Motors subsidiary. General Motors, it is also claimed, owns a large proportion of the stock of the Standard Steel Works. The feeling about Yeagertown is to the effect that the Standard works will be more active in the future, due to some extent at least to the pep displayed by the young superintendent put in charge some time last fall.
