BOYS AND KITES.

With the arrival of the kite flying season, any windy day will find scores of kites of all colors and description soaring, weaving, and dipping over almost every town. Kite flying is a healthful and interesting recreation for boys, but unless certain precautions are taken there is likely to be injury more or less serious to the boy flying the kite, or damage to property that causes considerable expense and trouble.

Within the last week an example was brought before the public when a kite became entangled in a telephone wire, resulting in a breakdown of phone service to a large number of people for several hours. A similar interruption to service came through the breakdown of electric light wires by kite or kite strings.

If a kite becomes entangled in electric light wires, boys should not attempt to climb the poles or to knock down the kite with stones. By climbing a pole the boy is exposed to live wires which cause serious burns or death, and he also runs the risk of injury through a fall. Stones thrown at a kite may break the wire and damage property when falling.

In the event of a tangled kite, the local West Penn office should be notified so that proper steps be taken to remove it. In no case should wire or metal string be used on a kite or on a kite tail. Wire is a conductor of electricity and can cause as much damage as actual contact with a live wire. Wet string is also a conductor of electricity.

Often a boy intent on getting a kite to a high altitude runs across a public highway with great danger of being struck by a passing automobile.

The best place to fly a kite is in an open or unobstructed field or lot away from all highways, electric wires, and high voltage transmission towers.

Kites should not be flown so that they come in contact with radio aerials. Serious and fatal injuries have occurred when boys construct radio aerials and attempt to draw the aerial across electric wires. Extreme care should be exercised in the construction of aerials. In no case should they cross telephone or light wires.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Sticker) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c, "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c, and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy" 50c, (all three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

FARM CALENDAR

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Sheep Expansion Limited—

Agriculture outlook reports state that apparently the high point in the expansion numbers in the United States has been reached. A new annual record slaughter of sheep and lambs is expected within the next few years and it seems improbable that prices for these increased supplies can be maintained at the high levels of the past three or four years.

Planting Depth Varies—

Depth of planting vegetable seeds depends on the seeds, soil, season, and seedbed preparation. In a clay soil the seedbed should be particularly well prepared to make shallow planting possible. As a general rule, small seeds like lettuce, onions, carrots, radish, and spinach are planted one-half to three-quarters of an inch deep, and large seeds like beans and corn are planted one to three inches deep.

Control Livestock Diseases—

Of the 35 important diseases known to afflict livestock somewhere in the world, only 24 of them are known to be present in this country. Seventeen of these are being effectively controlled or are fast approaching what is hoped may be complete eradication, the rest of the 24 being under partial control or study.

Give Chicks Clean Food—

All grain and mash should be fed to the chicks in clean hoppers or troughs. This practice may reduce the spread of coccidiosis, round worms, tape worms, and other troubles which may be picked up by the chicks if their feed is scattered in dirty litter or on contaminated ground.

Make Ornamental Lamps—

Artistic table lamps can be made from jars and vases and the shades can be made to match the furnishings by any homemaker with a taste of such work.

A FARMER was advised by his livestock commission man to ship eighty lambs then ready for market. The following day, as he was getting ready to deliver the lambs to the railroad, his telephone rang. The market, he learned, had broken badly. By delaying shipment another week, the farmer secured one-half cent per pound more than he would have made on his original offer.
