

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Timbers arrived at Centre Hall last week to be used in rebuilding the freight and passenger platform at the station. The facilities for shipping stock will also be improved.

The well on the George Sharer farm was completed by the Kobi Bros. The drill was sunk to a depth of 142 feet, where apparently an abundance of water was found. Mr. Sharer in time expects to install an electric pump.

Bruce Knarr returned to his studies at Beekley Business College, Harrisburg, this week, after an enforced stay at home for nearly two weeks to recover from the effects of an operation for the removal of his tonsils.

Some one hanging around the local High school gets the credit for being some good cook. And, probably, to a younger element must be given the credit for the very liberal, if not extravagant, serving.

Rain fell during a greater part of Sunday afternoon and evening. Monday opened with promising appearances for a fine day, but later rain and snow began falling at the same time. And it wasn't too bad an April day at that.

A sedan driven by Wm. F. Stover, of Rebersburg, was badly damaged Sunday afternoon about 4:15 o'clock, when it struck a concrete culvert near Linden, Lycoming county, and rolled over several times. Mr. Stover and his wife, occupants of the machine, escaped without injury.

Mrs. Sarah Stover, who had been with her daughter, Mrs. Mollie Ishler, at State College, during the winter months is back to Centre Hall and will remain here for the summer. Mrs. Stover is aged 83 years, and enjoys good health. She is a faithful attendant at Sunday school and church services, takes her part in the study of the Sunday school lessons and reads without the aid of glasses.

Not for some years have farmers been as far on with their plowing as is the case today. On the larger farms, in many instances, plowing for corn is nearly or altogether completed. Many acres of corn stalks have also been turned for oats, barley, or other spring crops. Farmers who moved this spring, or who are starting in the game, have been handicapped somewhat, but they have been making good use of every day since April 1st.

A Milroy correspondent writes that Thurman Tressler, who recently made his home with the Fred Henry family in Milroy, has gone to Reedsville, where he will live with his brother, Ralph Tressler and family who recently had sale of farm property in Centre county and moved into the Telle Sterrett house in Reedsville. The Tressler brothers went into the butcher business in Reedsville April 1, having rented the Otis Snook building on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Rearick, of Lock Haven, were in town Monday and circulated among their friends. After disposing of his furniture store, Mr. Rearick took up insurance and is now representing the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York. Recently he entered politics and is now the only Republican candidate for assembly in Clinton county. His opponent is Joseph A. Simon, the present member in the lower house. Mr. Simon is a candidate in both the Democratic and the Republican party. Mr. Rearick's card announces he is not in favor of the four cent gas tax or the two dollar driver's license. From this it is inferred he intends being the same four-square man in politics he was when in business here about seventeen years ago.

Knoll, county treasurer of the organization, was present together with two other ladies from the State College union. The report from the institute held at Millheim given by Mrs. Godshall and Mrs. R. P. Campbell led the questionnaire taken from the State report.

Mrs. F. V. Goodhart, superintendent of the Y. P. B., reported six new members received at the dues social and is planning for an entertainment in the near future by a glee club from State College.
