A power trench digger was put into operation on Tuesday. The excavation began at Allison street, near the P. R. R. station, and continued north in the alley to the east of Main street. Some pipes were also laid. The work is being done by the Central Pennsylvania Gas company, who expect to have gas here from their Bellefonte plant in a very short time. The proposed pipe line course over Nittany Mountain has been changed. The line will run on the west side of the State Highway to top of Nittany, and then continue along the same highway to the north section of town, instead of following the electric light line from Nittany Mountain to Brush Valley road and entering town from the west.

Rishel, Godshall and Faust Place in Interscholastic at Penn State Track Meet—

Three G. T. V. S. track athletes who were entered in the Annual Interscholastic track meet held at State College last Saturday place in their respective classes. High school track teams from all parts of the State were entered in the meet which made competition keen.

Rishel won the half-mile run which he also won at the same meet last year. Faust placed third in the mile and Godshall fourth in the running broad jump. These boys deserve due credit for their winnings, inasmuch as the competition in this meet is as strong as any interscholastic meet held in the State.

In production these 14 cows produced over ten tons of milk in March, delivered to the local milk station. The daily milk production of these 14 cows delivered to the local milk station is greater than the daily milk production of any other herd of cows whose milk is delivered to any of the five nearest milk stations. The Cow Testing Association records for the month of April show an average daily production of 29.3 lbs. of milk per cow per day. The individual production record per day is from a 10-gallon can of milk per day, down.

Head fully accredited for seven years. Sale starts promptly at 1 o'clock P. M. Refreshments will be served on the premises by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Clung to Parchment

Public documents were not allowed to be engrossed on so fragile a material as the earlier paper was found to be, and it was not until the art advanced that the new material superseded parchment. A careful inspection of several hundred old codices in the royal library at Berlin fails to disclose any lasting properties of the paper upon which they were written. On the contrary, the leaves are in many instances crumbling into brittle fragments, while the writing has become illegible.

Nevertheless, it should be added, the German paper has had a test of several centuries, while it is certain that some of the paper made today almost drops to pieces if one looks at it severely.
