

FARM BOARD MUST SETTLE WHEAT MATTER

President Hoover Intends to Take No Action in Regard to Slump Created in Prices.—Maintains Agricultural Problems Should Be Handled by Committee.

The board was hopeful that the demand of Samuel R. McKelvie, member representing wheat, for lower bread prices would have a beneficial effect on the wheat market.

A cut in the retail price of bread, McKelvie asserted, would serve to stimulate consumption, with the latter factor reflected in an increased price for wheat.

July 15th was the first anniversary of the world's initial meeting. Out of its authorized $500,000,000 revolving fund, it invested during the year $195,000,000 in loans to co-operatives.

Some 2,000,000 bushels of wheat were put back into the market last week with the announcement that an identical quantity of the 1930 crop was being purchased to offset the release of this grain.

Throughout the year the board has been the target of much adverse criticism from members of congress and others, with its dealings in the grain market the basis of a particularly vigorous attack.

WHAT A PAPER, "IF" If all our readers followed the way of J. K. Geiss, of Beloit, Kansas, The Centre Reporter would be more newsworthy than ever.

Enclosed please find the obituary of John H. Lomberger, a man born in Pennsylvania. I have been living in Mitchell county, Kansas for 50 years, but have never met the man, yet it may be news to some of the older citizens of "old Pennsylvania."

LOW PRICE WHEAT ECONOMICAL DAIRY FEED May Be Profitably Fed in Combination With Corn and Cob Meal, and Concentrated Feeds.

Prevaling low prices of wheat make this important grain an economical feed for dairy animals. Wheat is a desirable feed as it is both nutritious and palatable says County Agent E. C. Blaney.

"HELP THE FARMER" As an instance of Republican fulfillment of promises to "aid the farmer" made during the 1928 campaign, witness this Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer:

The dilemma in which the American wheat farmer finds himself with almost unprecedented low prices in the face of the 1930 harvest was the subject of a brief cabinet discussion and later White House conferences between President Hoover, Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture and Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas.
