

ON BOARD "DEUTSCHLAND," HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE

Mrs. Florence Rhone Bayard Writes to Friends Here of Second European Trip.

The following is from a letter, written on board the "Deutschland" by Mrs. Florence Rhone Bayard to Miss Florence Brooks, a high school girl here:

"Mail will be taken off at Cherbourg. We had a profitable day in New York, went to the pier at 3 o'clock and disposed of our baggage and then went on ship and located our room, which is a nice large one with two lovely closets. Saw Mr. and Mrs. Goetz of Gettysburg and it was delightful to meet again after three years and on another tour. We have chairs together on deck, and are seated at the same table (one of four) in the dining room. 'Soon saw Mrs. Henry and Miss Lanners and their friends who came to New York to see them off. After visiting with all the folks, we retired at eleven o'clock, but did not go to sleep until after the machinery began to operate and we moved down the river and out of the harbor. Slept splendidly and felt fine all day Thursday. We were on deck all day. Friday a severe storm came and the waves washed up over the deck and we all got pretty sick. I ate three meals but soon gave them up. In the midst of it a passport inspection was called for and while I got there I had to run to the rail several times. By Saturday morning the storm and sickness had subsided and in the afternoon we visited all over the ship and went to see the movies in the evening. "The Deutschland is much finer than the ones I traveled on before and the state rooms so much larger. "Thirty cards and letters were waiting for me in my room from Tyrone friends. "On Sunday morning two services were held. The Catholic services at eight o'clock and Methodist services at ten o'clock. In the evening there was a party. Something doing to amuse the folks nearly all the time and we can eat six times a day. Breakfast, broth and crackers in the middle of the forenoon, lunch, tea in the mid-afternoon, dinner and sandwiches and coffee about ten at night. Monday was a quiet, restful day, rather raw and cold. "Tuesday was bright and cold. Our party had pictures taken with the captain and we walked and wrote letters. Our conductor, a Prof. Campbell, came with us from New York and is doing everything to make the trip pleasant. "The captain's dinner was served Tuesday evening and it was a very elaborate and served in courses with a number of favors for each one. The dining room too was nicely decorated. The fancy dress ball was held too, the same evening. Some of the costumes were funny, and some very gay and elaborate. It was very gay and festive, a lot of people drinking too, but we kept near the preacher in our party, so I think we were all right. "Today (Wednesday) sailing is delightful. The mail home closes at 8 p. m. and everybody is busy writing and those getting off at Cherbourg are excited and packing their baggage. Altogether our crossing has been very pleasant and all the Tyrone folks are well and happy. "We got off the ship at Cuxhaven and go by railway to Hamburg, a distance of about 75 miles. The ship must wait for the tide to take it up the Elbe and in this way the passengers arrive in Hamburg several hours in advance. "Today Mrs. Bayard arrived at Budapest, the Hungarian capital, one of the most beautiful and interesting cities in Europe. During the three days stay in Budapest, motor trips will be enjoyed to the Coronation Church, Royal Castle, over the Suspension Bridge to Liberty Square, House of Parliament, Castle Vajda Hunyad. On Monday afternoon the party will go on train to Vienna. "Williamsport Commercial College.

Full term starts September 2nd. All new classes. Business Short-hand, Typewriting, Secretarial courses. A complete business training in everything. "More good positions filled: Miss Hazel Bonner, Jersey Shore Bank; Mrs. Florence Hill, Recorder's office; Miss Beatrice Kress, Chamber of Commerce; Miss Eleanor Matter, Automobile company; Miss Mildred Diefenbach, Bell Telephone Co.; Miss Mary Germain, Elsen's National Bank; Miss Marvin Zarr, Muncy Woolen Mills; Leighton Miller, Trust Co.; Miss Elizabeth Keister, State Highway Dept.; Paul VanDine, Nat'l Biscuit Co.; Miss Ruth Peters, coil company; Miss Anna L. Hoffa, Sisk Dye Works; Miss Myla Spyster, State College; Miss Marion Bressler, hardware company. "Tuition, $15.00 per month; supplies extra. Get catalogue now.—F. F. Healey, Proprietor.

Former Sheriff John P. Condo, of Aaronsburg, is experiencing some difficulty with his vocal cords. For ten days or more his speech falters at times, and then it comes back near to being natural. Otherwise he is in good physical condition. The former sheriff is a brother of James C. Condo, of town, and a seventy-six years old, four years younger than the brother named.

The Odd Fellows picnic held Saturday at Spruce Creek park was not so largely attended, but those who did so had a good day of it.

COLDEN DENIED NEW TRIAL IN MOUNTAIN TOP DISPUTE

In the case of John H. Detweiler vs. Mussler E. Colden, involving rights on top of Nittany Mountain, the motion for a new trial by Colden was dismissed. The opinion was handed down on Monday. Colden has a right to appeal from the decision, but what he may do is not known. "The case grew out of a disputed line between the litigants' lands on Old Nittany. The case was heard last summer, the jury rendering a verdict which established the line as claimed by Mr. Detweiler.

CHASED BY A BULL.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Elder and children, of Tyrone, were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Potter, in town, and for the most of the time were entertained at Sunset Club house. On Sunday Mr. Potter took his guest, who is a post office clerk, to his farm west of town, also taking with him Phillip Frank, the veteran veterinary surgeon, to administer to a sick cow. While the doctor was preparing the potion for the sick animal a large bull old enough to know his strength and assert his prowess over the large pasture field, pawed the dust over his back, gave a snort and bellow, and then charged on the group. The men rushed for the automobile and entered it and were tramping the starter when the ponderous bull came so near the car that his hot breath could be felt. Before the infuriated animal was able to land a broadside, the car was in motion, but a steep hill before it prevented a speed greater than that the bull was able to do. The car, of course, hit him further in the rear. At the end of the lane was a closed gate, but none of the car occupants volunteered to swing it on its rusty hinges, for the bull was running "on high" and had again almost overtaken them. Nearly was an open bar into a field, and through this the car was guided, and kept on steering until the foe was disgusted with his own lack of speed. Stopping on a bit of prominence he followed the car only with his glaring eyes. "The conversation carried on in the car was declared copyrighted.

Suffered Fractured Leg.

Master Herman Bubbs, four years old, son of Rev. Walter Bubbs, of Stonington, a point near Sumbury, while at the home of his grandfather, Edward Bubbs, near Colyer, had his leg broken recently. The fracture was between the hip and knee joints. The boy with others was playing with the running gears of a wagon, when one of the wheels ran over the leg. The youth was taken to his home where the fracture was adjusted.

HEAVY WHEAT YIELD.

The first report of heavy yield of wheat comes from the John H. Burkholder farm, at Centre Hill. Eight acres were threshed averaging a yield of thirty-five bushels. The wheat was of a smooth variety. "The Burkholder farm is rated one of the most productive farms in that section of Potter township.

HOOVER, THE CANDIDATE— HOOVER, THE PRESIDENT

The Promise of the Steady March of Prosperity and Abolition of Poverty by Candidate Hoover in 1928 Makes Him Responsible for Business Depression in 1930.

Commenting upon the policy of the Republican party to raise the hopes and expectations of the people by specious promises, the New York Times thus comments: "Every reasoning man sees the injustice of holding President Hoover responsible for the business depression, the low price of wheat and the persistence of unemployment on a great scale. Yet, politically speaking, there is a certain rude justice in it. For Mr. Hoover went along with his party in 1928 promising a steady march of prosperity in the United States if a Republican president were elected, and quietly assuming that it would be within the power of the Government to prevent any slackening of trade or crippling of commerce or financial embarrassment of any kind. He even went so far as to speak confidently of the entire abolition of poverty, ultimately in this country. This was entering into a formidable contract, and when the party of the second part began to demand specific performance, it necessarily meant the mortification and distress for the party of the first part which are now visible at Washington. The whole has been a costly lesson for this nation and promises to carry with it heavy political penalties for the Republican party; but perhaps, as Mr. Coolidge has said in the case of the unhappy failure of the Farm Board, the demonstration has been worth the price."

CENTRE COUNTY FIELD DAY AT PENN STATE COLLEGE

Farm Folks of the County Will Be Given Opportunity to Enjoy a Day of Profit and Sports.

Centre county farm folks will go to State College, Thursday, August 7, for their first annual field day on the grounds of the School of Agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College. A committee, headed by County Agent R. C. Blaney, of Bellefonte, and composed of representative farm men and women and members of the agricultural faculty at Penn State, has completed plans for the event which promises to set a precedent for such affairs at the college. "Beginning at 10:30 o'clock, programs for the men, women and young folks will get under way. Tours to the poultry plant, pasture grass experiments, vegetable gardens, and farm and electrical machinery exhibits and demonstrations will be provided for the men. Department guides will have charge of these and they will explain results and answer questions. The women will have a very interesting and informative talk by Dr. E. J. White, floriculturist of the college, on "Flower Arrangement" and then there will be a baby show with suitable prizes for the winners. The boys and girls will go to the New Beaver athletic field immediately upon arrival to participate in a sports program under the supervision of L. R. Lehnart, assistant county superintendent of schools, and John Decker, Spring Mills. The winners will be awarded prizes. "At noon the farm folks will gather by families or in neighborhood groups in the college gym, where they will eat their basket lunches. Coffee, with the cream, sugar and cups, will be provided by the committee in charge of the event. Music will be played during the lunch hour by one of the bands of the county. Following the dinner hour, there will be a few short talks by prominent Penn State men, and then there will be a parade of the college horses. "Boalsburg and Rebersburg will meet in a baseball game at 2 o'clock on the college baseball diamond. Like all the other features of the day's program this will be absolutely free to the visitors. For the women who do not attend the ball game a tour of the flower and vegetable gardens and some of the college buildings will be arranged. If time permits there will also be some contests. After the ball game, another tour of the buildings will be conducted. Exhibits and demonstrations will be staged by the departments of the School of Agriculture, in and near the agricultural buildings. These will be available throughout the day and there will be officials in charge to answer any questions presented.

Forest Road Building.

A demonstration of building roads through forest land on by the State Forestry Department, last week, the work having been done in sections leading off the Penns Valley and Brush Valley Narrows main roads. About eighty of the most skilled State Forestry rangers were assembled, together with a number of officials. The demonstrations put on an actual grading operation from the time the ground was first broken, either by a road plow and tractor, or a stump puller, the latter piece of equipment being given its first try-out in State Forest Road Building. It was able to uproot small stumps, cut heavy roots and rocks, and break the ground to the depth of 18 inches. They also saw methods of grading under various conditions such as slopes, rocky places, swampy, level stretches, knolls and depressions. "The rangers from this section who saw the operations were: Robert G. Bailey, Boalsburg; Carl D. Mott, and Stewart Benner, Woodward. Millingburg was the headquarters where the men dined and officials spoke.

"Shower" for Newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClenahan were given a "shower" which had much the appearance of a steady rain, at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McClenahan, one evening last week. The affair was much enjoyed by all who were given the opportunity to engage in it. "The following were present: Mrs. Cloyd Brooks, Mrs. John Rudy, Edith Potter, Mrs. Russell Lair and son, Mrs. Warren Homan, Miriam Homan, Mrs. James Poust, Mrs. Orvis Weaver, Freda Weaver, Mrs. A. W. Alexander, Mrs. George Sweeney, Betty Lou Sweeney, Mrs. H. C. McClenahan, Peggy McClenahan, Mrs. E. J. McClenahan, Mrs. George Heckman, Mrs. Edgar Clark, Thelma Clark, Mrs. John Bron, Mrs. Oliver Strunk, Mrs. Oliver Strunk, Mrs. Joseph Haney, Kenneth, Catharine and Miles Haney, Mrs. Charles Arney, Mrs. Helmer, Mrs. Charles Slack, Mrs. Harvey Mark, Mrs. P. H. Luse, Mrs. Mary Stahl, Mrs. F. K. Frank, Mrs. Bruce Runkle, Mrs. Harold Durst, Mrs. John Durst, Mrs. Ernest Frank and son Ernest, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McClenahan.

Big Increase in Penn State Graduate Enrollment.

Almost one-third of the 3000 students enrolled in the Pennsylvania State College during the Summer Session this year are in the graduate school, figures compiled by the college registrar, Wm. S. Hoffma, reveal. Of these one-half are devoting their entire time to work for higher degrees, an increase of one-third in this group over the enrollment of last year while the others are carrying both undergraduate and graduate work. "The increase in enrollment for masters' and doctors' degrees is due, in a large part, to the higher degrees recently made available in education, according to the registrar.

ENCAMPMENT & GRANGE FAIR OPENS IN THREE WEEKS

Saturday, August 23rd, is the Opening Day—Machinery Exhibit to Be One of the Outstanding Displays on the Grounds.

The Grange Fair committee will meet on Grange Park Friday evening, August 1st, when final arrangements will be made. Reports coming in from each department promise a very complete show. Grange Park is entirely adequate in every particular for full displays to the best possible advantage and exhibitors in the past have been well satisfied with the place and the results following the exhibition. "The machinery exhibit will be especially important this year. A number of new firms are soliciting space and by the amount of space required, it is evident there will be a big lot of machinery on the ground, all of the most improved type and best makes for use on the farm. "The firm, the Oliver Equipment Co., with a branch establishment in Bellefonte, known as the Central Tractor and Implement company, is making arrangements for two car loads of machinery which includes a complete threshing outfit and something new in this part of the country—a grain combine. "Much of this machinery will be in actual operation which everyone knows will add to the exhibit as well as making it more interesting to the spectator in clearly illustrating its use. "One of the very complete and up-to-date well-drilling outfits which has been doing such splendid work in Central Pennsylvania in bringing bountiful supplies of water to the surface, has been asking permission to give a demonstration on Grange Park and in probability leave will be granted for the work. "There is assurance that the hog and cattle barns will be filled with purebred stock and coming largely from Centre county breeders, real home stockmen. One hundred and fifty approved type coops have been purchased for the poultry and rabbit exhibit as the superintendent of this department considered the growth warranted this expenditure in order to care for it properly in its development. "The plays being prepared for the evening entertainments by various Granges in the county, are making fine progress and promise even better things for this popular feature than has been heard in the past. The ball games will be conducted on a competitive basis and the teams engaged assure a lot of vim and excitement to lovers of this sport—and who does not enjoy a good ball game. "Do not forget the speakers engaged for Wednesday and Thursday and the fortunate circumstances which bring them to the fair and before the people. The Hon. James J. Davis, a man of the people occupying a cabinet position and able to understand our problems and help us in the solution. Hon. Philip H. Dewey, Past Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange; Hon. E. B. Dorsett, present Master of the Penns. State Grange, for Thursday; and for Wednesday Dr. F. P. Weaver of State College, the best authority in Pennsylvania on the tax question, just now of paramount importance to its citizens, who are desiring full information on the vital subject. And in addition, feeling we know too little about our county courts, Judge Fleming has been secured to give an explanatory talk on the inside workings of the local courts and should have a splendid audience to hear this valuable information.

Humes Barn Burned.

The Humes barn, in Irish Hollow, about one mile out of Bellefonte, was totally destroyed by fire on Monday night. The cause of the fire is unknown. A barn on the same farm was burned about twenty years ago. "The Humes farm is filled by Thomas Weaver in connection with his farm nearby. A large quantity of hay, also several hundred bushels of wheat and oats in the granary, were burned.

Howard Residents Robbed.

While eight residing in Alysian park, Los Angeles, Calif., recently, Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kurtz, of Howard, were robbed of $400 and their return railroad tickets to Howard. "They were enjoying an automobile tour through the city with some friends and had stopped for several minutes at the park. They had not gone more than 100 feet from the car but when they returned Mrs. Kurtz's pocketbook containing the money and railroad tickets had disappeared. "No one was seen near the automobile at the time and there were no other cars parked near. The Los Angeles police were notified of the theft but as yet have found no trace of the criminal. "Dr. and Mrs. Kurtz have returned to their home in Howard after spending five weeks in the west.

Likes Air Flying at 82 Years.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hosterman and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Winegardner, of Millheim, motored to Stutz field (Altoona airport) where they were met by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Eby and Mrs. Eby's mother, Mrs. Sara Winegardner, and Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Palmer, all of Postage. They had a picnic dinner and in the afternoon met J. Russell Hosterman, chief pilot at Stutz field, who is flying a new 5-passenger cabin plane. The elder Mrs. Winegardner (in her 82nd year) expressed a desire for a ride in the air, whereupon "Russ" took her and her daughter, Mrs. Palmer, up for a spin among the clouds. Asked how she enjoyed it, Mrs. Winegardner states that it was the best ride she had in her lifetime.

LOCKJAW FATAL TO LAD.

Guy Stover, 8-Year-Old Son of Ray B. Stover, Dies at Williamsport Hospital After Injury from Nail.

Guy Stover, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stover, of Williamsport, died at the hospital in that city from the effects of lockjaw which followed an injury to the knee caused by the point of a nail. "The injury to the knee is said to have appeared to have been nothing more than a scratch. The child was in the back of a truck which his father was driving, when he fell on a board from which the tip of the nail protruded. "The wound was given medical attention and there were no serious effects until the following Monday when at noon his parents noticed there were unusual developments and summoned a physician. The latter discovered that infection had set in and that lockjaw had developed and ordered the boy's removal to the hospital, where he died exactly one week from the day he suffered the injury. "Besides his parents he is survived by a sister, Gloria, and a brother, Melvin. "The body was taken to Rebersburg where services were held Friday morning at the home of the boy's grandfather, William Stover. Burial was made in Rebersburg.

CENTRE COUNTY MOTOR CLUB PICNIC NEWS

August is the month for picnics, and the plans of every well regulated family call for a day or two off to picnic. This is a splendid idea, and there is no place like Hecla Park for an outing. Happy is the family in which there are boys and girls to add to the joy of getting ready for a picnic—then finally the day—after that the many days in which they live over again the exciting events of the picnic. "The Centre County Motor Club picnics have heretofore been the largest picnics in the county, and this year promises to even surpass any previous year. Centre county automobile dealers are joining this year, which will add very materially. "The committee is busy arranging contests and entertainment. In addition to base ball, trap shooting, horse shoe pitching and dancing, the contests for boys and girls will be more numerous and prizes more generous. Music will be furnished by the Boalsburg Banjo band, a new musical organization that has met with much favor by those who have heard them. "Lay aside your work for August 14th and take the folks to Hecla Park. "Escaped Prisoner Captured Here. "An escaped Rockview prisoner was captured at the Centre Hall railroad station on Friday afternoon. When the freight conductor and a brakeman were unloading freight for this point the colored convict was discovered crouched back of boxes and barrels. The men sensed the situation, left the steel car and locked it up. The authorities at the Western Penitentiary were notified and it was but a short time until one of them had the prisoner in charge. The guard hailed him as "Joe" and asked how he got into the car. The colored man said he did not know, nor does anyone else know when or where he entered the car that proved the prison of his "freedom." "W. E. Edwards is the prisoner's name. He escaped the day previous to his capture at 8:00 o'clock in the morning. He was heading to store wheat in the prison barns and when he finished with his load he told the officer in charge he was going to the prison to rest, but instead, he made his getaway over the mountains. He is 29 years old and was sent from Allegheny county for a term of from two to four years.

Court Holds Section of Motor Code Invalid.

The Dauphin County Court in an opinion on July 7th by President Judge Wm. M. Hargest held that the section of the motor code which directed that prosecutions be brought before the nearest magistrate was unconstitutional. Judge Hargest's decision resulted from an appeal by Frank J. Meier, of Palmyra, from a fine imposed for violating traffic laws in Harrisburg. "Because the title of the motor code did not mention anything about the location of the magistrate where the prosecutions are to be brought, the section of the code was declared invalid. The remainder of the code is not impaired by the decision. "One of the sure ways to assist in removal of the one per cent per month penalty on all taxes delinquent after the first of January following the year the tax is or was assessed, is to vote for Don Gingery for State Senate and John G. Miller for member of General Assembly. They are pledged to work and vote for repeal if commissioned by the voters to go to Harrisburg next January. No more unjust law was ever legislated into the statutes of Pennsylvania. It is not only a hardship but an unbearable burden to thousands and thousands of taxpayers, many of whom will lose their properties. Remember Gingery and Miller in November. Neither of the two candidates had anything to do with enactment of the one per cent per month penalty Act of Assembly. "The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Centre County Motor club will be held at the Penn Belle Hotel, Bellefonte, on Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

Donald McClenahan, of Tyrone, was a visitor in town on Monday. "When the census bureau totals up the population of the nation for 1930, a figure somewhat less than 123,000,000 is expected to be the result. "Anna and Sadie Pollari, of Brooklyne, N. Y., two of the "fresh air" children who were in Millheim two years ago were again entertained by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hassinger during the past two weeks. "J. M. Coldron, assisted by Wilbur McClellan, completed painting the large silo on the Huyet farm, west of town, and later began painting the tenement house, occupied by Russell LaF, on the same farm. "The brick work on the Harold Durst house south of town, is coming along nicely. Red brick are being used, laid in black mortar, and the job looks fine. Orvis L. Horner, of Colyer, is the bricklayer. "Fourteen hundred miles were covered in the auto pleasure trip made through the New England States by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mitterling and daughter, Miss Miriam. They returned home Sunday night. "Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kerlin, on Saturday, came here from near Harrisburg and on Sunday returned home. They took with them their daughter, Miss Dorothy, who was a guest here of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hosterman for two weeks. "H. H. Keller, on Friday, drove to Federalsburg, Maryland, where he attended a swell wedding, the bride being one of the teachers in the school at Laurel, Delaware, where Mr. Keller also teaches. He returned home Monday morning. "On Sunday Mrs. T. A. Hosterman boarded a train at Bellefonte for Harrisburg and from there went on to Steubenville, Ohio, where for a week she will be a guest of her niece, Miss Nellie Smith, superintendent of the Steubenville City hospital. "Miss Kathryn Bitner, student nurse at the Women's Medical College hospital at Philadelphia, is at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bright Bitner, at Spring Mills. She is enjoying several weeks vacation while a new hospital is being completed in the Quaker City. "Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Schaeffer, of Altoona, are guests of Rev. and Mrs. D. R. Keener. The ladies are sisters. Mr. Schaeffer is assistant principal of a consolidated township school located near Altoona, and a teacher of science. The couple will be here for a week or more. "James F. Vonada, of Coburn, was taken to the Geisinger hospital by the family physician, Dr. H. S. Braucht, of Spring Mills. Mr. Vonada has been in ill health for some time and it was deemed necessary to place him under the care of hospital physicians for observation and treatment. "D. J. Nieman, the Millheim clothing merchant, recently underwent an operation for the removal of a goiter in the Mayo Bros. Hospital, Rochester, Minnesota. From there he went to Scranton where he was under the care of his son-in-law, Dr. A. M. Zuckor, and his daughter, Mrs. Zuckor. "Mrs. G. O. Benner, of town, was taken to the Price private hospital, Philadelphia, on Friday, by Dr. J. V. Foster. The two were accompanied by Mr. Benner. The patient is suffering from a growth in her neck, probably the after-effect of a goiter several years ago. She is now under observation of a specialist who will determine whether or not surgical treatment will be resorted to. "On her return from Philadelphia recently, Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk brought with her as guests Miss Beatrice Williamson and Mrs. Ralph Earl and son Ralph, Jr., and on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Fleming and daughter Dorothy, also Mr. and Mrs. John Auman and sons Eugene and Pershing arrived here from the same city, bringing with them Miss Sarah Odenkirk. Some of the guests remained but for a day, while the others will be here for a longer time. "The Millheim Journal states that Paul Shreckengast, Woodrow Barages, Anna Jane Rishel, Gladys Barages and Mrs. Maude Rishel will spend the next several weeks at Central Oak Heights Evangelical camping ground. All of these people will be under the supervision of Rev. H. C. Kleffel, who is superintendent of the Dining Hall and Dormitory. Mrs. Rishel will be one of the cooks, the girls will wait table in the dining hall and the boys will assist Rev. Kleffel in the thousand and one details incident to his work. Several of the boys and girls will take the course in religious education. "Mr. and Mrs. Wallace N. Igen, at their farm home east of town, entertained a number of friends from a distance, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Sigwald Eimon, of Supeior, Wisconsin. Mr. Eimon is a nephew of Mrs. Igen, and is engaged as a salesman. For the present he will be located in New York City. Mrs. J. T. Bredson and sons Edwin and Arthur Bredson, of Duluth, Minn., and Mrs. Keisig, of Michigan, composed another group at the Igen home. The young men were employed as bank clerks, but are now off on a vacation. They will tour Europe, Germany being one of the countries they have in mind to visit, and expect to see the Passon play at Oberammergau. Mr. Keisig is on her way to Norway, her native country, for the third visit since becoming a business woman in America.
