FARM CALENDAR

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Birds Need Air—Laying houses should be ventilated as well as possible to prevent any sudden and unfavorable change when pullets are moved from colony houses or trees to permanent quarters.

Feed Cows Grain—Short pastures in late summer call for more grain and an increase in percentage of protein in grain mixtures for dairy cows, say State College specialists.

Introduce New Queens—New queens can be introduced most successfully to colonies during a honey flow. If introduced at other times great care should be exercised to prevent robbing. There is less danger of robbing during the latter part of the afternoon.

Pick Breed You Like—Personal preference is the first factor in selecting a breed of livestock. This does not prevent a farmer from picking good individual animals.

Clean Out Weeds and Brush—August is a good time to clean up the pasture fields and get rid of weeds and brush.

Record Household Expenses—Every farm woman should keep household accounts. They help to keep track of the home expenses as related to the farm business and therefore, supplement and round out farm accounts.

Save Money on Feed—Dairymen often can save $10 on the price of a ton of dairy feed by buying winter supplies in the summer.

Woolrich Business Man Fatally Hurt.

M. B. Rich, of Woolrich, one of the most prominent business men and philanthropists of this section of Pennsylvania, was instantly killed Friday evening when the car in which he was driving alone struck the abutment of the bridge over Pine Creek above Jersey Shore. He was on his way home from Williamsport when the accident occurred. He was the head of the firm of John Rich and Brothers, woolen manufacturers, of Woolrich, and father of R. F. Rich who was endorsed as the nominee for Congress to succeed the late Edgar R. Kless by the Republicans of Clinton county. A widow, two sons and four daughters survive. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Woolrich Community church.

DEATHS

LEITZEL—Sarah Deinda Leitzel, wife of the late Dr. J. B. Leitzel, passed away on Monday of last week at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. L. Sherman, at Belvidere, Illinois, death being due to the infirmities of age. She was the daughter of Arnold and Martha Custard and was born in Clinton county, August 18, 1840. She was the last to depart this life of a large family of brothers and sisters. Deceased was married to Dr. J. B. Leitzel May 18, 1869. No children were born to this union. The family moved from Spring Mills to Illinois in 1883, where the doctor practiced his profession almost up until the time of his death, May 13, 1909.

TOOT—John Daubeman Toot, at one time a resident of Sprucetown, Potter township, when his father, the late Thomas Toot, resided there, died at his home in Lock Haven after a lingering illness with complications. He was aged 54 years and was born in Penna Valley. He was a carpenter by trade and was employed at the plant of the Lock Haven Chair company. The remains were taken to Hubersburg for burial. Services were conducted by Rev. Paul Mackey, of Howard. Mr. Toot is survived by three children.

BRUNGART—A recent Associated Press dispatch states that "Leaving a quarter to pay for the gas he used, John Brungart, 45, turned on the jets in the home of his niece at Glassboro, N. J., and committed suicide. "His niece, Mrs. Owen Kiser, found the body in the gas-filled room when she came home from a week's vacation. She also found the note with the quarter enclosed and apologizing for all inconveniences."

The dispatch adds that he was a resident of Lewisburg, which was in correct. Deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Brungart, of Rebersburg, and was a native of that section.

The remains were brought from New Jersey and interment made immediately in the Lutheran-Reformed cemetery in Rebersburg, Rev. Arthur J. Miller officiating at the grave.

CONVICT HOLDS UP POTTER SCHOOL BOARD

You don't always find what you are looking for, but you frequently find what you least expect. This was true of the Potter township school board when it was on an inspection tour of buildings in the township on Monday afternoon. Upon opening the door of a coal bin at the Tusseytown school house, the five directors—A. L. Slut-terbeck, John Delaney, T. F. Delaney, G. H. McCormick and M. A. Burkholder—and Samuel Horner, tenant on a nearby farm, found a man there, apparently very sedate in his manners. He gave the men a hard luck story, his destination and purpose. The board, deceived by the quiet manner of the stranger, were inclined to accept his story as true. After they exchanged opinion and did a bit of discussing, it was decided to hold the man until guards from the pen would look him over. On the first move on the part of the directors to detain their find, he drew a gun, and warned them not to come closer. This bit of action was accompanied by very emphatic and expressive language. At the same time the stranger was moving toward Boal Gap, at Colyer.

Guards from the pen were soon on the ground, but were unable to get trace of the supposed escaped convict.

HUNDREDS ATTEND PENN STATE 4-H CLUB WEEK

Approximately 800 boys and girls are attending the eleventh annual 4-H Club Week at State College this week. Registration of the delegates took place on Wednesday, and the events will continue until Saturday. Representing Centre county are: Dairy team—Kenneth Smeltzer, Paul Zimmerman, Blair Fetzer, all of Bellefonte. Livestock team—William Campbell, Centre Hall; Lee Homan, State College; Charles Harter, Kittany. Poultry team—Dorothy Brouse, Thelma Smith, Boalsburg; Mary Kline, Shingletown. Individual entries—Arthur Hartle, Bellefonte (Dairy); Leroy Bechdel, Howard (Livestock); John Wasson, State College (Poultry); Hugh McClintic, Linden Hall (Poultry).

Chief among the activities this week are the State-wide livestock and poultry judging contests. Winning teams will be awarded silver loving cups, and in three of the contests a trip to a national contest also will be at stake. The trips are to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, the National Dairy Exposition at St. Louis and the National Poultry Show at New York.

Tours of the college campus and nearby points of interest, recreational activities, educational meetings, vesper services, and other events will engage the attention of the boys and girls during their three days at State College.

Hamilton—Noll

Helen E., daughter of William H. and Cora B. Noll, of Pleasant Gap, and Feldman C. Hamilton, of Houtsdale, were united in marriage at Halliday's Cove, West Virginia, on May 6th, 1929, by the Rev. G. M. Halliday, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Somewhat of a sensation was created at Pleasant Gap, Saturday evening of last week, when the above announcement was made at a cabin party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Noll. The guests were friends of the young couple and none of them had the least suspicion of the surprising news that was to be broken to them.

Mrs. Hamilton has been clerk in the Noll store at Pleasant Gap for some time while her husband has been in the employ of the Hagerty Baking Co. So cleverly did they guard their secret for over a year that even their most intimate associates were taken by surprise when it was revealed.

Sunday following the announcement they started on a belated honeymoon trip which is being spent at Niagara Falls and in Canada.

CENTRE COUNTY FARM FOLKS ENJOY COLLEGE FIELD DAY

More than 1500 Centre county farm folks attended their first annual field day in the agricultural woodlot of the Pennsylvania State College, Thursday of last week, County Agent R. C. Blaney reports.

Beginning at 10 o'clock, the farmers visited the exhibits and demonstrations arranged by a dozen departments in the school of Agriculture at the college. These included correspondence courses, livestock judging, feeding wheat to livestock, cross-cut saw filing, wool grading, tools for farm butchering, egg grading, chicken culling, knot tying, rope splicing, white rats used in nutrition experiments, septic tank forms, insects and diseases, potato grading, machines for potato growing, marketing, rural education, and horticultural exhibits.

Sports for the boys and girls drew a fairly large number to the new Beaver Field where under the supervision of L. R. Lenhart, assistant superintendent of the county schools, and John Decker, Spring Mills, the contestants participated in group contests, races and relays. Prizes were awarded to the winners. While the boys and girls were competing in the sports program, the men took excursions to the vegetable gardens, grass plots, milk cooling house, poultry plant, dairy barn and creamery. The women viewed exhibits of clothing, farm library, and nutrition hints, entered their youngsters in a baby show, heard a talk on "Flower Arrangement" by Prof. J. R. Bracken, of the landscape architecture division of the department of horticulture, and visited the flower and vegetable gardens and the greenhouse.

During the basket picnic in the college grove, the crowd was entertained with music by the Spring Mills band. Dr. R. D. Hetzel, president of the college, then welcomed the visitors, whom he called neighbors to the field day, and expressed the pleasure of the college in having them on the campus. Other speakers were Dean R. L. Watts of the School of Agriculture; Dr. S. W. Fletcher, Director of research for the Agricultural Experiment Station; Director M. S. McDowell, of the Agricultural Extension Service; each of whom spoke about the line of work he represented, and J. G. Shook, master of the Pomona Grange, who spoke in behalf of the visitors. County Agent Blaney introduced the speakers.

Winners in the Baby Show. Results of the baby show were then announced by Miss Mayme Lovelace, home economics extension representative in the county. In the four age groups the winners were: Sarah May Lyle, Bellefonte, four months old; Robert Lee Allison Porter, Hubersburg, 10 months old; Phyllis Barbara Lutz, Port Matilda, 17 months old, and Billy Fisher, State College, 19 months old. Miss Lovelace stated that the babies were judged on their health conditions, and that practically all of them were found to be of normal weight or slightly over.

Winners of other contests were: C. E. Mothersbaugh, State College, number of apples in a bushel, 261; S. G. Walker, Spring Mills, butterfat guessing contest; E. T. Bechdel, Beech Creek first prize winner in guessing the weight of dairy cattle; A. L. Albright, Penna Furnace, winner of the time; J. J. Markle, State College, winner of the feed identification contest; Miss Priscilla Wasson, State College, identified 14 out of 25 leaves of forest trees for first place; Miss Lou Emma Witmer, Bellefonte, won the pig weight guessing contest and Wm. Everhart, State College, was the winner of the sheep weight guessing contest.

Guessing the weights of three different chickens, H. E. Robertson, Fleming; Miss Maude Muser, State College, and Vance Packard, State College, were the winners. Estimating the egg production of two hens—Mrs. W. F. Way, Port Matilda, and H. C. Smeltzer, Bellefonte, were the winners. A visitor from out of the State, W. C. Hoffman, Ashtabula, Ohio, guessed the closest on the weight of a turkey.

A total of 746 guesses were made in the six poultry contests. A parade of the college horses followed the noon program, and then there was a tug-of-war between a caterpillar tractor and the farmers. Fifty-five men were counted on the rope just before the tractor was held by them, but eye-witnesses reported that some others became so enthusiastic that they jumped in to help their struggling fellowmen and therefore took advantage of the iron horse. After this contest closed it was found that one man had guessed that 55 men could hold the tractor, but he was not in the crowd, so the prize was awarded to C. W. Sigel, Port Matilda, who had the next nearest estimate, 53.

Boalsburg Wins the Ball Game. Boalsburg and Rebersburg then engaged in a baseball game which was won by the former team.

Trips to the college farms, orchards, experimental plots and through the college buildings completed the program for the day. With practically all the events located in the shade of trees in the agricultural woodlot, the visitors were protected from the severe heat, and as a result they enjoyed the day and many expressions were heard in favor of making the field day an annual event.

Many Traffic Lights to Be Eliminated.

All unnecessary traffic control signal lights on Pennsylvania State highways will be eliminated within the next three months, the State Department of Highways announced.

At the end of this period there will be about 400 fewer lights—half of the present total—and the department's campaign for speeding up traffic movements will have been advanced another step.

The elimination of unnecessary traffic signals follows a survey conducted over a period of several months which resulted in an official decision as to what contributes to the necessity for operation of a signal at a given intersection. On the basis of the survey, the engineering division of the department decided that here is no necessity for such lights at intersections where a peak load of 500 vehicles and 250 pedestrians an hour does not occur.

Is there a light handy if one of the children cries in the night?

A convenient lamp by the bedside and good bedroom illumination is a great comfort in nighttime emergencies.
