SPRING MILLS

Miss Emma Ertel, eldest daughter of the late Daniel Ertel, of Marshalltown, Iowa, is visiting her only aunt on her father's side, Mrs. George Gentzel, at Spring Mills.

If that mean sneak thief who stole apples from George Skyles knew that Mr. Skyles has good evidence who he was, he probably would make good because he is arrested.

Homer Fetterolf completed the reservoir from which the Vocational School will be supplied with water. The capacity of the basin is 5400 gallons. The water from it will be pumped to the school building, the power for the pump to be furnished by the water power plant operating the mill. The system was put into operation recently and it appears to give satisfaction.

FARM CALENDAR

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Give Cows Vacation—

Cows which are to freshen this fall should be dried off in plenty of time so that they will get a good rest. Keep them well fed and they will be good milkers all winter.

Kill Chicken Pests—

If the pullets are infested with body lice and intestinal parasites, treat the birds before they start to lay.

Plant Spring Flowers—

Plant the following spring-flowering bulbs this fall: glory-of-the-snow, crocus, snowdrop, squill, daffodil, jonquil, and tulip, State College floriculturists say.

Apply for Forest Trees—

This is a good time to get from your agricultural agent an application blank for the trees you will want for planting next spring. He can help you, too, in choosing the right kinds for your locations. Act quickly, as the supply of trees is being rapidly allotted to those who have placed their orders.

Small Packages Popular—

Increased use of small packages in marketing potatoes last season was found in a recent survey by agricultural economists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Small bags made of cotton, burlap or other fiber, and also paper cartons, are used. The bags or cartons usually contain 15 or 25 pounds.

Save Seed Corn—

Be sure to save the best corn in your fields for seed even if there are only nubbins. Ears that are not filled out and which have shriveled kernels, if mature, will make good seed for next spring. Give such corn good storage and have it well dried before freezing weather commences.

A FARMER was advised by his livestock commission man to ship eighty lambs then ready for market. The following day, as he was getting ready to deliver the lambs to the railroad, his telephone rang. The market, he learned, had broken badly. By delaying shipment another week, the farmer secured one-half cent per pound more than he would have made on his original offer.
