

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Preparations are being made for the 24th annual sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds.

The local W. C. T. U. will meet on Tuesday evening of next week at the home of Mrs. J. C. Goodhart.

Ward Fisher, manager of the Electric Supply Company store at Bellefonte, was in town on Friday on business.

Edward Poorman, Bellefonte, and Wm. St. Clair, of Woodward, received lacerations on the head and face when their car collided with another on Allegheny street, Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Miller moved into their home on Tuesday. The furnishings had been placed months ago, but the home was not regularly occupied by them until the time named above.

Miss Helen Odenkirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk, and a senior in the local high school, entertained her school friends at a masquerade party at her home Wednesday night of last week.

Miss Luella Ripka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Ripka, near Potters Mills, is taking a course in the Williamsport Business College. She has been a student there since the opening of the fall term in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rines gave a party in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Miss Helen Rines, a sophomore in the local high school, Thursday evening. Those present enjoyed the occasion. Refreshments were served.

The election is over, the votes counted, the result announced, but a lot of us would like Mr. Scott to tell what he really means by the expression that if re-elected senator he "will determine the quality and quantity of service that will be rendered to the people."

Maxwell J. Moore, Democratic candidate for Congress in this, the 23rd, district, of Bradford, accompanied by John J. Bower, county chairman, and B. E. Hunter, general booster, on their way on a tour of Eastern Penna. Valley, said their respects to this office, on Friday.

R. E. Meeker, tenant on the Fleisher farm near Tusseyville, is advertising for sale a young registered bull in this issue. Mr. Meeker has a fine highly bred herd of Holsteins, the cows and heifers in which are making a high record in the Centre County Cow Testing association.

H. J. Lambert made his new Dodge-Six into a "sleeper," by making the front seat move forward and turn back. He and Mrs. Lambert expect to use the car when they go South and think the arrangement will be more satisfactory than carrying a camp equipment.

The Nittany Valley League of Youth will hold its next regular meeting on Friday evening, November 14. The Rev. Seth Russell, of Karthaus, will bring a brief message and the remainder of the program will be provided by members of the entertaining church of Pleasant Gap.

Edward Byers, who had been in Florissant, California, for some time, came east, arriving here on Monday. At the present time he is at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Foust, near Centre Hill. While in California Mr. Byers worked in a paper mill that has recently closed.

Paul E. Bradford and John Meeker are two young Potter township farmers advertising public sale next March. Mr. Bradford has a herd of some forty pure-bred Holstein cattle, in the care of which he is devoting much time and which will doubtless be in great demand at sale time.

Mrs. Catharine Tressler, widow of George W. Tressler, of Centre Hall, was taken to the Geisinger Hospital, Danville, Thursday of last week, by her son-in-law, Clarence Musser, of the Penns Cave district. She underwent an operation on Friday and reports from the hospital are to the effect that she is getting along very well.

Mrs. Adeline Toms, aged 23 years, made an unsuccessful effort to take her life by the use of chloroform, in her room in Lewistown. She was taken to the home of friends near Reedsville where she is improving. She was employed for a short time in the processing department of the Viscose plant, Lewistown.

Wm. E. Fiedler, of town, while engaged in carpenter work for Penn State College, fell from a step ladder and broke one or more of the small bones in his foot. The injury was revealed by an X-ray taken at the hospital. The injured member was put in a plaster Paris cast and now he is not suffering pain from it. Later it was discovered he had also broken a rib.

C. E. Wert, of near Tusseyville, was in town on business, Monday. He is gradually improving from the effects of an extreme case of neuritis, which dates back to more than three years ago. Last June he went to the Geisinger hospital, Danville, on experiencing a second attack. At present he suffers some pain in his arm and shoulder but is able to be about and walks with little difficulty. It is the farm work staring him in the face that appears to bother Mr. Wert the most of the time.

B. D. Brislin and W. H. Bartholomew, local Civil War veterans, were largely disappointed on Monday when they missed the burial services of a former comrade-at-arms, the late George H. Duhbs, whose body was interred in the local cemetery on Monday afternoon. The "old vets" were informed that the body would be brought from near Unionville, where Mr. Duhbs died, to Centre Hall, to arrive here at four o'clock. Upon reaching the cemetery at the hour named, the gentlemen discovered that the services were over, the funeral cortege having arrived an hour earlier.

NINETY DISASTERS CALL FOR RED CROSS RELIEF, AT COST OF $1,200,000

Vice Chairman Fieser Cites Readiness to Act of National Society, Which Lessens Loss of Life—3,500 Chapters Aid in Work.

Readiness to act in an emergency, should a disaster strike, has become part of the Red Cross Chapter program in thousands of communities. The need for this training of local committees was revealed last year, when more than ninety communities required disaster relief work by the Red Cross.

As in former years, tornadoes brought the greatest damage. Twenty-four serious tornadoes occurred. Fire also took toll of life and property in twenty-four communities. Seven forest fires did great damage; eighteen areas were affected by floods, and nine storms caused heavy losses. Other disasters were cloudbursts, cyclones, epidemics, mine explosions and shipwrecks. In the insular possessions of the United States the Red Cross gave relief in twelve disasters, chiefly from hurricanes. In foreign countries relief was given by the American Red Cross in six instances of earthquakes, floods and to refugees.

The disaster relief work of the Red Cross cost $1,208,151 last year. Statistics showed an approximate death rate of 790 persons in these disasters; buildings destroyed or damaged, 19,578; persons injured, 1,487, and persons assisted by the Red Cross, 96,872. Through disaster preparedness of Red Cross Chapters, undoubtedly great numbers of lives were saved, and much distress and grief following the calamities was prevented, according to James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations of the Red Cross.

"This type of work is supported by the memberships of citizens of the United States, their volunteer contributions, and their devoted work," Mr.

Fieser said. "Every man and woman is urged to join as a member of the local Red Cross Chapter, not only to be a partner in supporting the work through his membership, but also to serve should an emergency occur."

NEEDS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE ON INCREASE, SAYS CHAIRMAN PAYNE

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan.

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman, has announced.

The two major services of the society—service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters—show each year a greater number of persons helped by the Red Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased allotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle, Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 168 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United States, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, having twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program—that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways. Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $4,254,796.34, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled once each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said. "We do not receive any support from the Government, or through other taxation, although as the President of the United States is president of the society, and one-third of its governing members are representatives of U. S. Departments, it ranks as a semi-governmental agency."

"By joining as a member, in the local Red Cross Chapter, once each year, during the annual Roll Call, every citizen will have a part in carrying on this great humanitarian task."
