

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION ASS'N

The annual meeting of the Agricultural Extension Association was attended by over 250 farm people of Centre county, including 65 4-H Club members. The meeting was held in the Court House at Bellefonte on Saturday of last week.

During the past year approximately 200 boys and girls have been members of various 4H clubs in Centre county, some of which are as follows: Sewing clubs, lamb feeding clubs, poultry clubs potato club, calf club, and garden club.

Prof. H. G. Niesley, assistant director of extension work from State College, gave a very interesting talk on the changes taking place in agriculture, pointing out the way in which these changes effect our every day life and emphasized the importance of farm people keeping in touch and up to date with these changes in order that they will be able to meet the present day competition.

The afternoon session was devoted to boys and girls 4H club work. A short play "The Nutrition Wedding," was presented by a group of girls from Pine Hill. The play was very entertaining and instructive. The following club members told about their club activities during the past year:

Fred Luse, Centre Hall, lamb feeding club. Fred stated that the lamb club has been in operation for five years. The first four years the club has returned in sale of lambs and prize money to the owners $3077.00. In addition to the honors won at the State Farm Products Show at Harrisburg, which included one grand champion pen and two reserve champion pens, there were a number of first places in various other classes.

Gladya Rocky gave a very interesting talk on her two years as a poultry club member. Gladya has lost one chick in two years. She stated there were 39 members in the club this year. They had at the time of the roundup an average pullet flock of 19 birds. Each member having received 50 chicks at the beginning of the year.

Wm. Everhart, State College, discussed the sack potato club, of which he was a member this year. He described the various activities of the club, pointing out some of the things they have learned about growing potatoes. He explained the system of organizing the club, roundup, and expressed the belief that it was a worth while project in spite of the bad drought conditions this summer.

The extension association elected the following officers for the year 1931: C. E. Peters, Stormstown, president; N. I. Wilson, Warriors Mark, vice president; A. D. Smeltzer, Pleasant Gap, secretary; W. C. Smeltzer, Bellefonte, treasurer.

Milk House Completed.

Curtis Reber, the local milk and cream distributor, is putting the finishing touches on a concrete block milk house with dimensions of 16x26 feet. The interior will be divided into rooms for bottling and capping, washing and sterilizing, and boiler. A concrete flue was also constructed. A form was built and flue liners set and around this four inches of concrete was poured. Mr. Reber did nearly all the work himself, including the laying of the concrete blocks. A sink to carry away the wash water was also dug.

BEAVERS IN PHILIPSBURG REFUGE INCREASING

Twenty Now in Four-Acre Pen in Tom Tit Run—Larger Beavers Are Savage.

A week ago mention was made of the capture of a large beaver in Rote's mill dam, near Coburn, by State trapper James M. Hassinger, of Reedsville, and that the animal was being taken to a State preserve, near Philipsburg. A bit more information is gleaned of the beaver pen from the Philipsburg Journal, which says:

Since efforts are being made to distribute beavers in Centre county, twenty of them have been sent to the game refuge at Glass City where they are kept in a four-acre pen on Tom Tit Run. Under the direction of Gamekeeper Elmer Pilling sixteen more acres are now being fenced in to be used as breeding pens in which the young and old beavers, as well as the males and females, will be separated. When together the beavers usually fight. Although they rarely kill each other, they usually receive injuries and deep gashes which greatly reduce the value of their pelts.

Mr. Pilling expects to have the pens completed by the middle of December. The fences are made of heavy wire with a two-inch opening, are five feet high, with posts buried six inches in the ground. It is necessary to use iron posts as the beavers soon destroy wooden ones.

The enclosure will also be used as a holding pen for the beavers caught by the State trappers who are authorized to take them alive during certain seasons of the year. Since beavers destroy property and dam up streams it is necessary to remove them when they become plentiful in the vicinity of power plants and reservoirs.

Several of the larger beavers, which weigh about 90 pounds, are very vicious. They will rush at anybody who enters their pen, and on several occasions attacked Mr. Pilling. They do not try to bite, but rather to maul the flesh with their knife-like fangs.

The number of beavers in this section seems to be increasing rapidly and are found along most of the pure streams in the county. There are about fifty in Black Moshannon Dam, and about forty in Six Mile Run.

GARAGEMAN KILLS PARTNER AT BURNHAM

Boyd R. Henry Shot to Death by Roy Manbeck in Their Garage Friday Night—Glives Self Up and Makes Detailed Statement.

Boyd R. Henry, 30, married, of Millroy, was shot and almost instantly killed about 11:20 o'clock Friday night in the office of the Burnham Auto Paint Shop following an alleged friendly scuffle with his partner, Roy Manbeck, 23, of 214 Valley Street.

Manbeck, with two other men who were present at the time, picked the dying man up from the floor and rushed him to the Lewistown hospital, but he was dead when admitted.

The bullet, shot from a .32 calibre automatic pistol in the hands of Manbeck, passed through a door and struck Henry in the left side of the body passing through the heart.

After being struck he fell to the floor and called several times to "Barney," an employee of the shop who was there at the time and with whom he used to live.

After taking the man to the hospital, Manbeck called the Lewistown police office and informed Patrolman John Brannan that he had shot his partner and announced that he was at the Lewistown hospital and would give himself up.

Patrolman Brannan went to the hospital where he took him into custody and lodged him in the Mifflin county jail.

Questioning the three men involved revealed that Manbeck had been working night for almost a week until midnight and was working Friday night to complete a few minor jobs on a truck body that was being built.

Two other employees of the shop, Wesley Burris, who had left at 11:00 o'clock after finishing his part of the work, and Benjamin "Barney" Gallbraith, a painter, who lived in the apartment above the shop, had gone out. But Gallbraith had returned to the shop within a few minutes.

In the meantime, Henry, with Wm. G. Stidole, of Logan Boulevard, had returned and entered the shop, leaving two girls outside the building.

Questioning of both Stidole and Gallbraith revealed that Manbeck continued his work of sawing off bolts on the truck body. They claimed that Henry kept insisting that Manbeck should stop his work for the night and Manbeck declared that he was going to continue in order that the truck could be turned over to the owner in the morning.

They then engaged in a friendly argument and scuffle. Stidole admitted to police that both he and Henry had been drinking a little, but denied that there were any blows struck.

Two shots were fired from the automatic which was fully loaded.

When questioned by the police Manbeck made a clean breast of the full affair and gave police full details without reticence. He said they had beaten him.

As State police sought for a motive they were inclined to stress the theory that both Henry and Stidole had come into the shop to try to get Manbeck to stop his work and go home, under the belief that they wished to bring the girls who had been left standing outside, into the shop.

Boyd Henry Reynolds was aged 30 years, 10 months and 8 days. He leaves a wife, whose maiden name was Miss Anna E. Gibboney of McAlevys Fort, a daughter of Frank and Florence Bickett Gibboney. The murder victim is survived by one son, Boyd Reynolds Henry, Jr., aged 5 years.

Mr. Henry was a son of Willis E. and Sarah Agnes McMullen Henry. His mother is dead and the father resided with his son in Millroy.

Mr. Henry leaves also three brothers—Emmett E., of Lewistown, and Richard McMullen, of Millroy, and Fay R. Henry, who resided with Boyd and his father in Millroy.

Less than a month ago Manbeck and Henry formed a partnership and began the operation of the Burnham Auto Paint Shop in the building along Logan Boulevard, Burnham, formerly occupied by the Burnham Medicine company.

STARTS DRILLING FOR OIL AND GAS

Big Corporation, With Leases Covering Thousands of Acres, Begins Operations on Mahlon McKelvey Land Near Grahamton, Clearfield County.

For the past two years a couple of well known Clearfield citizens, representing a large oil corporation, have been securing gas and oil leases on land in Graham, Bradford, Cooper and Morris townships, Clearfield county, involving many thousands of acres.

The corporation has been particularly anxious to secure leases in that section believing that it is in line with oil and gas found north and south of that locality.

It is gratifying to know that the corporation has finally concluded to put down test wells in various parts of that territory. During the past few days a large derrick, drill and other equipment have been placed on lands of Mahlon McKelvey, in Graham township, near Grahamton, about eight miles northwest of Philipsburg.

The derrick is 85 feet high and along with the other equipment, is being properly placed with a view of beginning operations at once. The corporation, backed with plenty of money, proposes making thorough tests on the lands now under lease.

FIRST NATIONAL GETS NEW BURGLAR ALARM

The First National Bank here has contracted for the installation of a burglar alarm with the O. B. McClintock company. The equipment is now here and ready for installing. The bank already has a modern vault and doors, but it is the intention of the officers to still further protect their customers' safe deposit boxes as well as the bank's monies and records.

The alarm is connected with the entire surface of the walls, ceiling and floor. Any attack made on the vault will immediately cause an alarm from the heavy gong installed in its electrically protected housing on the outside of the building, and the same will result if an attempt is made to silence or destroy the big gong itself.

This wonderful system of electrical protection is recognized as the finest thing of its kind. Vault engineers, architects, bankers and burglary insurance companies have given it their approval. It is passed by the Underwriter's Laboratories in the highest rating, that of Grade "A."

DEER SKINS FOUND.

While crossing his farm east of town, Irae Spayd found the skins of two deer lying in one of his fields. This was on Friday. He carried the skins to the highway nearby and hung them on the fence.

M. N. Miller, of Potters Mills, also reports the skin of a deer having been found in the vicinity of Waddle where he and a group of State Highway employees are engaged in building post and cable protection along the new highway leading from State College.

Robbed of Clothing and Money.

The following is reprinted from the Williamsport Sun of Friday:

M. D. Miller, of Mingoville, Centre county, reported to the city police and the county detective today that he was robbed of $24 and his suitcase containing clothing early this morning.

According to the report made to the police Miller went with a man to engage a room for the night. The man took him in his automobile to the road-way leading south from the Montoursville bridge along Loyalsock creek.

Miller alleges that he went to sleep on the way down and that later when the man stopped the car and suggested that they remain all night in the automobile, he learned that $10 was missing from his pockets. While he was counting his money the man detouring the car suggested that he hold it while Miller went to a house to see if they might get lodging for the night. When Miller left the car the man drove off, taking the money and suitcase with him.

Fined $100 Each for Killing Two Deer.

In Squire Kline Woodring's court, in Bellefonte, recently, Doris Confer, of Gregg township, and Paul Alters, of Coburn, were found guilty of killing a deer, then taking it to Alters' home where the carcass was divided. Each was fined $100 and costs. The deer was shot in Penn township on the night of November 11th. Information was made against the pair by Game Protector Thomas Mosler.

Applications for U. S. Naval Academy.

Congressman J. Mitchell Chase announces that arrangements have been made for the United States Civil Service Commission to hold a preliminary competitive examination on January 10, 1931, for the selection of two midshipmen for admission to the U. S. Naval Academy on July 1, 1931.

Owing to the large number of applicants Congressman Chase has decided that this is the fairest plan, as it will give every candidate an equal chance. Those receiving the highest grades, as certified to Congressman Chase by the Civil Service Commission will be designated by him to take the final entrance examination to be held by the Navy Department next spring.

Candidates must be citizens of the United States, of good moral character, residents of the Pennsylvania 23rd Congressional district, physically sound, and not less than 16 years of age nor more than 20 years of age on April 1, 1931.

HELD FOR COURT

A. S. Allen, of Centre Hill, the latter part of last week, got into an altercation with his wife and made threats of violence. Later Mrs. Allen swore out a warrant, charging her husband with threats on her life. Constable Hannah undertook to serve the warrant late Saturday night, but Allen barricaded himself in his home. Monday morning County Detective Boden, accompanied by a State constabulary, served the warrant and brought him before Justice C. W. Slack. After a hearing he was bound over for court and in default of bail was taken to the county jail.

Allen, it is said, had been drinking for a few days previous to the breaking out of the trouble.

LOCAL S. S. CONVENTION.

Districts 11 and 12 of the Centre County Sabbath School Association, comprising Penna. Valley east of Harris township, held a convention in Salem Reformed church, below Spring Mills, on Thursday. The afternoon session was presided over by P. B. Shreckengast, of Millheim, and the evening session by M. T. Zuber, of Spring Mills. Ministers on the program were Rev. H. C. Kieffel, Millheim; Rev. Louis V. Lesher, Millheim; Rev. Miller, Rebersburg; Rev. H. A. Prunty, Spring Mills; H. C. Cridland, of Pittsburgh, superintendent of the State Adult Department, spoke at both sessions. Misses Zerby and Wagner gave reports of the State S. S. convention attended by them last fall. At the evening session the singing by the Millheim male chorus was an added attraction.

Births.

A daughter was born, Monday, November 17th, to Lawrence and Helen (Hutzley) Weaver, of near Pleasant Gap, living on the F. D. Lee farm. She has been named Violet Marie. The birth occurred at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Weaver, near Tusseyville.

Della Martha, daughter of Elmer W. Smith and Martha M. Hoy Smith, was born November 12th at Spring Mills. She is the first child born to the couple.

Inter-Scholastic Soccer

The High schools in Centre, Mifflin, Snyder and Clinton counties formed an inter-scholastic soccer league, the championship of which lies between the Rebersburg and Boalsburg teams. Centre county had such a large number of teams that the county was divided into two units and now it proves that Boalsburg and Rebersburg must play the final game—a contest in the county instead of between teams in separate counties.

In the contests between the counties, Rebersburg eliminated Mifflin in defeating the Belleville team, and Boalsburg eliminated Clinton county when it defeated Loganton, and also eliminated Snyder when it defeated Middleburg.

On Tuesday Rebersburg and Boalsburg played off the county championship game, the latter winning by a score of 2 to 1. On Saturday, 2:00 p. m., the two teams will again play on the Penn State athletic field to decide the inter-county champion.

Drivers' Licenses Granted.

The following persons successfully passed the examinations given at Spring and Lamb streets, Bellefonte, and were issued automobile operators' licenses: William Summers, Fleming; Glen Strubie, Mary E. Waite, Daisy C. Hughes and Harold S. Taylor, all of Bellefonte; Mary E. Derstine, Ambridge. One applicant failed.

High Schools to Play for Unemployed.

Altoona, through the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Altoona High Alumni, is sponsoring a post-season football game Saturday, December 6, to raise funds for the relief of families of the unemployed.

Altoona and Huntingdon High schools are donating their services for the game at the Mansion park field. Three musical organizations will furnish programs and more than 10,000 persons are expected to attend.

"Norwood" Partially Burned.

"Norwood," the pretty eating and lodging house in Millheim Narrows, owned by S. P. Springer, was greatly damaged by fire on Sunday evening about 5:00 o'clock. Much of the top floor was burned, and further damage was done by water. The Millheim pumper was called into action and extinguished the flames by pumping water from a creek near by. Mr. and Mrs. Springer had entertained company during Sunday afternoon, and it was shortly after they left for home that the fire was discovered on the second floor. The flames spread so quickly that Mrs. Springer was unable to remove any clothing from her room. Much of the furniture on the first floor was carried out.

It is thought the fire was due to faulty electric wiring. There was some insurance on the house and furniture, but not enough to cover the loss.

Port Matilda Home Burns.

Fire on Saturday evening about 7:00 o'clock destroyed the home of Rex Patton, at Port Matilda, together with practically all the household furniture. The Patton family was in Bellefonte at the time, and it was a great shock on returning to find the home in ashes. The origin of the fire is unknown. The property was comparatively new, and one of the prettiest little homes in that locality.

104 LOCAL RESIDENTS IN RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The Red Cross Roll Call for 1930 has been completed in Centre Hall borough, and the results exceeded the fondest hopes of the local committee. With the depression being felt here as elsewhere, it was believed that the dollar could not be pried loose as easily as in former years, but more persons came forth with "A heart and a dollar" this year than last, which caused one of the ladies of the committee to aver that Centre Hall folks believed their condition was a sight better than that of many in other quarters.

As a result of a canvass of the town, one hundred and four members were added; besides these there was also received some small cash contributions.

Following is a list of the 1930 Red Cross members:

Jacob Confer House Burned.

The dwelling house owned by Jacob Confer, on the Pleasant Gap cross roads, was almost wholly consumed by fire on Monday evening, the fire apparently having been caused by a spark from a defective flue. The Bellefonte pumper was called and was instrumental in preventing a further spread of the flames.

The house was tenanted by Irvin Baron. Most of the household goods were removed from the burning building. Both the tenant and landlord held insurance.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.

Thanksgiving services are announced for Wednesday evening, 26th, 7:30 o'clock, as follows:

Centre Hall—Presbyterian church; sermon by Rev. D. R. Keener.

Spring Mills—Lutheran church; sermon by Rev. Alvin Metzger.

Pleasant Gap—Lutheran church; sermon by Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick.

School Vacation.

The borough schools closed Wednesday evening for the Thanksgiving vacation, and will re-open next Monday morning.

The local school board decided at a recent meeting that the Christmas vacation period shall begin with the close of school on Wednesday evening, December 24th, and continue until Monday morning, January 5, 1931, which is seven school days.

Pomona Grange Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of Pomona Grange No. 13, Tuesday evening, December 2nd, for the purpose of conferring the fifth degree, in the hall of Victor Grange, Boalsburg.—V. A. Auman, Sec'y.

Road Signs Designed to Protect Deer.

A large sign has been erected recently at the side of the road just beyond Sandy Ridge on the new concrete road stating that there is a deer run a few rods ahead and asking motorists to proceed cautiously. It is said that sixteen deer have been killed at this point here have become accustomed to crossing the road and the idea of the sign is to caution motorists to be on the lookout for deer and avoid killing them and also possibly avoid injuring themselves through wrecking of their motors.

SPECIAL PRICES TO HUNTING CAMPS

A very special discount will be given on all hunting camp orders. Come in and ask us about it. We also have special prices for you on beef and hogs—in quarters, half or whole. Fresh sausage, pudding and scrapple.

THE SHAFER STORE, Centre Hall.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

Mrs. E. S. Ripka, of Millheim, was entertained for a day last week by Mrs. J. H. Knarr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neff, of near town, recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burris, at Dewart.

The King home purchased by P. H. Luse passed for a consideration of $2700, instead of $2500 as reported last week.

A. L. Duck, veteran school teacher of Gregg township, was a pleasant caller at the Reporter office on Saturday morning.

America's huge congress of agriculture, the International Live Stock Exposition, will open its doors at the Chicago Stock Yards on Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Master Ralph Packer is taking in the Penn State-Pitt football game at Pittsburgh today (Thanksgiving Day) with his father, Prof. L. O. Packer, a teacher in Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania State College will be represented at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, November 29 to December 6, by meat and livestock judging teams.

Mifflinburg has a resident in the person of Mrs. Jane Hartson, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. George Reish, who became 94 years of age on Saturday.

William M. Pury, executor of the late Mrs. Amelia P. King, will sell the household goods, etc. of the said decedent on Friday, December 5th, at 1:00 o'clock p. m., at Centre Hall.

Mrs. D. M. Bradford, who has been a patient at the Gelsinger hospital, Danville, for three weeks, during which time she underwent an operation, has recovered to such an extent that she will likely be brought home during this week.

Phillipsburg is named as one of the eighty towns in Pennsylvania that have a post office building erected in it within the next few years, provided the contemplated appropriation of $115,000,000 is made by congress for a larger building program.

Peader Rossman, superintendent of traffic of the Pittsburgh Division of the Bell Telephone Co., with Mrs. Rossman, drove in from Pittsburgh to Spring Mills where they spent the night with Mr. Rossman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rossman.

L. O. Corman, in Bald Eagle township, Clinton county, had a flock of 400 turkeys grown by him for the Thanksgiving market. The flock was an unusually fine one. He would have had forty more had not some thief stolen that many of Bourbon reds, valued at $250.

W. Scott Mesele, a rural mail carrier out of Bellefonte, has been retired. He began as a rural carrier at State College and later was transferred. He estimates in his twenty-four years of service he traveled 192,000 miles, using horse and wagon or sleigh, owing to rough conditions.

William A. Neese, of Gregg township, was a caller here on Friday, Mr. Neese, for almost three years, has been regularly employed on Penn State campus, which takes him from home each day except on rare occasions. He is the executor of the Elias Weaver estate and is preparing to close his account as such.

The Methodists at Lemont and the Presbyterians at Pine Grove Mills are holding Evangelistic services at this time. On account of the regular ministers having had Thanksgiving services at other places on Wednesday evening, the Rev. W. E. Smith preached at Pine Grove Mills and the Rev. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, preached for Rev. Metzger at Lemont.

Mrs. Jane Himmelreich, of Lewisburg celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary a few days ago. She enjoys excellent health. She was born in a log cabin at Hardscrabble, near the Ebenezer church, Union county. She went to Lewisburg about thirty-five years ago and has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. O. P. Miller for twenty-seven years.

Postmaster R. M. Smith, last week, returned from an auto trip to Indianapolis, Indiana, where he visited his friend, Dr. Calvin F. Smith, who is in very delicate health at this time. Dr. Smith is a son of the late Peter Smith, deceased, long a resident of Centre Hill. He has been living in the Indiana city for many years, having gone there to practice his profession on leaving Howard, his first field.

A four-point buck unconcernedly walked down from the mountain at Loganton, just before the noon hour one day last week, emerged from the woods near the school building, and wandered down the main street of the town, gazing about him the while, with undeniable curiosity. His longing for the haunts of men satisfied, he crossed the street and made his way up the mountain at the other end of the road.

The Pine Grove Mills correspondent to the county papers stated last week: On Saturday afternoon Mrs. John S. Dale, of State College, in her new car, drove through that town on a trip to the cemetery when she lost control of the machine at a good clip, and crashed into a tree, causing a bad wreck. She received a gash on her chest and right knee, requiring several stitches, and her left shoulder bruised.
