HUNTING ACCIDENTS.

Game wardens in Centre county reported several accidents to hunters during the first few days of the season not generally known and not previously reported in the county papers. The reports follow:

Howard R. Stein, of Potter township, while hunting in Potter township, shot himself through the ankle when his foot slipped as he was about to shoot a deer.

George B. Grove, of Gregg township, while hunting in Bear Meadows was shot through the left leg above the knee by a stray bullet from the gun of an unidentified hunter. The bullet passed entirely through the flesh but did not injure the bone.

Simon E. Rote, of Coburn, was hunting with a party of hunters at that place Monday, and was engaged in watching for a deer, while others of the party were driving. He had climbed a tree to gain a better view of the surrounding country, and was about twenty-five feet from the ground when the limb broke under him and plunged him to the ground. He suffered a dislocated left arm and a fracture of the right ankle.

Clair Brower, aged 13 years, of Union county, was injured when his gun accidentally discharged the bullet going through his foot.

CATTLE BECOME WILD.

James Runkle, of Tusseyville, had much the same experience with cattle pastured in Treaster Kettle during the past season as some of his neighbors had last year. To round them up needed the aid of neighbors and a rifle shot in the finale. The cattle left their original pasture grounds and it was with much difficulty that they were found and recovered. One of the animals got into Decker Valley, where a trusty rifle was brought into play by David Lingle before capture could be made. The animal was dressed on the spot and taken home in quarters. Mr. Runkle and neighbors who volunteered to give aid, spent three days in corralling the young beasts.

County Highway Work in Prospect for Year 1931.

Many farmers in Centre county who voted for Clifford Pinchot for Governor, at the November election, are wondering if he will make good his campaign promises to pull them out of the mud on the hundreds of miles of township roads, most of which are dirt highways, and some of them pretty sticky dirt, at that.

While most of the main roadways in the county are either No. 1 State highways or improved roadways in the secondary class, there are still a number of stretches awaiting favorable consideration by the Highway Department. Two of these will probably be built during 1931, according to information obtained at the county commissioners' office. One of these is the continuation of the highway through the Barrens from State College to Buffalo Run valley from its present terminus at the latter point across Bald Eagle mountain to Martha.

Another stretch is that from Tusseyville to Bellefonte. Efforts are also being made to have this road rebuilt clear through to State College. Much of the right-of-way for this road has already been secured and this it is believed, will have considerable influence with the Highway Department in securing the construction of the road clear through.

A move is also on foot to change the location of the State highway from Pleasant Gap to State College along in the neighborhood of the penitentiary buildings. The proposed route will be between the railroad and the buildings. Should this change be made it will mean new construction of from half to three-quarters of a mile of new highway.

Milheim is only beginning to feel the scarcity of water, the water level in the reservoir having reached a few feet below normal for the first time during the present drought.

News Notes from the Presbyterian Manse.

On Sabbath night the Christian Endeavor Society gave a special program; the attendance was fine and the offering amounted to $35.00.

The regular annual Thank-Offering Service was held by the Presbyterians on Sabbath night. Two plays were given, the one entitled "Thanksgiving, Anne," was played by people of the home church. The second play was presented by three young ladies from the Pine Grove Mills church: Misses Mary and Ethel Burwell and Miss Virginia Woods. These girls, who always please their audiences, did not fail to put across "Brother Indian" in a very effective way. Miss Ethel played the part of the twin brothers, Miss Mary was the Mission doctor and Miss Virginia acted as nurse.

The audience showed its appreciation of the evening's entertainment with an offering to the amount of $36.00, plus.

The prayer meeting and Missionary society will meet at the home of F. V. Goodhart, Wednesday evening, 7:30. Communion preparatory services will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 12, at 7:30; Communion at 10:30, Sabbath.

At the State farm show in Harrisburg, January 19 to 23, Centre county 4-H Club members will show thirteen pens of lambs.

WITH THE HUNTERS.

A MARKSMAN WITH DIMMED VISION

While driving a truck through Brush Valley, Bruce Arney became the eyes for a hunter whose own eyes had become dim. He was halted and asked by the hunter whether any of several deer seen at a distance were bucks, and upon close scrutiny Mr. Arney assured him that the one in the rear had antler decorations, making him a deer that could be legally slaughtered.

At about this instant the deer began to move, the buck keeping his position in the procession. The hunter took a steady aim and fired several shots, but missed the mark. Finally he rested his gun on a post and took a good squint through the telescope sight, fired, and hit. It was indeed a long range shot.

The hunter told Mr. Arney to meet him at a point on his return home and he would be rewarded for his ability to discern a buck as so great a distance. His word was kept.

Hunter Hurt by Falling on Deer.

W. B. Heckman, of Hubersburg, a member of a hunting party near Hyner, while assisting in carrying a deer which the party had killed, into camp, fell on the animal, and one of its horns pierced his side.

He was given surgical attention by Dr. R. A. Werts, of Renovo. Two stitches were required to close the wound.

Kills Deer With Arrow.

A member of the hunting party headed by Major Lynn G. Adams, head of the Pennsylvania State Police, recently made a successful kill with a bow and arrow while hunting in the mountains near Weikert. Thomas Taylor, of the attorney general's department, fatally wounded a deer with one arrow.

Deer Kill Reporter Large.

According to Miles Reeder, game warden in Union county, about 600 deer have been killed in Union and Snyder counties, including 250 bucks and 350 does. Nearly 15000 in fives has been collected through the activity of the various officials of the two counties.

William H. Lingle, of near Tusseyville, was one of a group of "day hunters" who shot a bear on Broad Mountain Tuesday of last week. Mr. Lingle told us how easily it was done. The party had wounded a buck and it was trailed for some distance by one of the hunters, and found dead. The hunter stood guard over the fallen deer for some time, when to his astonishment he saw a bear coming in his direction, which from all indications had taken up the blood trail of the deer. The hunter shot the animal and when the remainder of the party gathered they were greatly surprised to see both a deer and a bear lying at the feet of their companion hunter.

Howard Emery, of town who usually conveys his sister, Miss Algie Emery, each Monday morning, to the school which she teaches above State College, missed his opportunity Monday morning of the deer season. Howard said his brother-in-law, Thomas Foss, might take Miss Algie to her school that morning, for he was "going" a deer hunting. Well, Howard tramped the mountains far and wide that day, all for naught. Had he taken his sister to school that morning, he would have had an opportunity to bag a buck, for Miss Emery and her driver were treated to the sight of seeing a stately buck lower his head in a pool of water by the roadside from which he was taking a drink. He was permitted to refresh himself and go on his way unmolested. Now Howard is saying—"If only—"

The Allegheny Mountains are proving to be a prolific field for bucks this season, and what is more, the bucks from that region appear to be larger than those in the Seven Mountains. "Bear Pen" was the name of the camp of a group of hunters, all of whom have had experience in killing game, and most of whom are known about here, who captured five fine bucks, prior to Saturday. The party consisted of Messrs. Van Meeker, of Maifonsburg; Bruce Meeker, Johnstown; Al Bradford, of Willard, Ohio; John Meeker, Robert Meeker, Paul Bradford, W. F. MacMarron and John H. Knarr, of Centre Hall. The first two were the lucky ones to kill in this group. The other three bucks were brought down by hunters living near the famous hunting field.

Killed by Stray Bullet.

Rev. D. G. Felker, 58, Methodist minister of Clearfield, was killed by a stray bullet while he was hunting at Devil's Elbow, near Winburne, on Tuesday. He had fired two shots at a deer and fell dead with a bullet in his back.

Candidates List Costs.

To be elected to a third term cost Congressman J. Mitchell Chase $1,463.35, all of which he paid out of his own pocket but $165 contributed by two friends. State Senator Harry B. Scott spent $252.12 to be elected to a second term in the State Senate, and received no contributions. John Q. Miller, Democrat, who contested the right of John Laird Holmes, Republican, to a fourth term in the Legislature from Centre county, spent only $128.25.

SENIORS WILL PRESENT "THE WILD OATS BOY"

The senior class in the Centre Hall High school is preparing a play, "The Wild Oats Boy," as an English project. It will be presented in the Grange hall on two consecutive nights, Friday and Saturday, December 12th and 13th.

Following is the cast of characters: Aunt Anne, housekeeper in Uncle George's home..... Theresa Fye Della, the maid..... Wanda Brown Judy, Uncle George's adopted daughter..... Mary Allen Danny Murphy, the cook (maybe)..... Patricia Gilden (Pat), Judy's friend..... Phyllis Sweeney Eve Martin, another friend, more or less..... Margaret Bradford Eddie the Wild Oats Boy..... William Weaver Jake Peters, the cousin from New York..... Genevieve Ruble Prue, the Country Cousin..... Naomi Sweetwood Charlie Benton (Chuck), the prize fighter cousin..... Richard Bailey Trout, Prue's pestiferous son..... Mildred Kline Seth, the Uncle from Maine; Fred Luse Mose, Uncle George's Darcy servant..... Luke Jordan

The plot of this play concerns Eddie, the Wild Oats Boy, who will receive an inheritance if he complies with the conditions of his uncle's will, and retires at eight o'clock every night for one month. Judy, with whom Eddie is in love, is the only reason for him attempting the task. Relatives, who will get the money if Eddie fails, appear and make life miserable for him.

The proceeds of the play will be used to defray the expense of the class on a trip to Washington.

Entertained Odd Fellows.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Auman, of Centre Hall, entertained D. D. G. M. J. E. Kilmer and staff to a delicious chicken and waffle banquet on November 25th. After the meal was served the remainder of the evening was spent in old-time stories and suggestions for the furtherance of Odd Fellowship.

Those entertained by Brother Auman of Centre Hall lodge were: J. E. Kilmer, D. D. G. M.; William Houtz, John Stover, all of Lemont lodge; John Stone, of State College lodge; Millard (Pat) Hartwick, of Bellefonte lodge; Hugh C. Dale, of Penns Valley lodge; Edward Zong, of Bealsburg lodge, was unable to be present on account of sickness in his family.

MORE VITAL MILK.

Rotolactor Developed at Walker-Gordon Farm Milks Fifty Cows at One Time.

A machine that produces enough milk every day to feed fifty-three times the population of Centre Hall is the fascinating new invention developed at the Walker-Gordon laboratories of the Borden Research Foundation at Plainsboro, N. J.

The machine, called a Rotolactor or rotary combine milker by its inventor, Henry W. Jeffers, the directing head of the laboratories, cleans and milks 50 cows at one time. With a capacity of 240 cows an hour, the Rotolactor cleans and milks 1830 cows three times daily. The operation was shown recently on the screen in the Richelleu theatre.

The Rotolactor, located in a two-story brick and tile building called a Lactorium, comprises a revolving, circular table, 60 feet in diameter. The cows step in turn upon the rotating platform, receive their baths, are dried by waves of warm air, and milked by automatic milking machines, each cow's milk being collected in individual sealed glass jars and conveyed through sanitary pipes to an adjoining room. At the completion of the 12 1/2 minute revolution, each cow steps off the platform and returns unguided to her place in the barn.

WATER SYSTEM COMPLETES WELL EQUIPPED FARM

The installation of a water system by Fred Slack, on State Highway Route No. 45, east of Old Fort, makes his farm one of the best equipped in the valley. A well was drilled close to the barn which proves to be one of the best in that section. A pump operated by a gasoline engine lifts the water into a concrete reservoir from where it flows by gravity to the farm house and into all sections of the barn.

On remodeling the dairy farm, a short time ago, concrete floors were put down and stanchions provided for tying cattle, leaving only the installation of individual drinking fountains to make the barn complete. This was recently done, and now the well bred, profit producing Holsteins step at will.

Mr. Slack has as fine a herd of cattle as can be found in the valley. He joined a cow testing association several years ago and is able to learn which animals in his herd are the most profitable. He has also mastered the balanced ration problem, and mixes his own feeds, buying only such ingredients not produced on the farm.

Mr. Slack and his good wife may be found at home almost any day. The greater part of the improvements made and being made on his farm and farm buildings and equipment were accomplished by labor furnished by them.

LOCAL FIRST NATIONAL BANK INSTALLS VAULT VENTILATOR

In connection with the installation of the most modern burglar alarm, the local First National Bank has installed a new electrically controlled ventilator as a safeguard against suffocation in the vault.

This device eliminates the possibility of death to anyone locked in the vault, either by accident or by bank robbers placing them within the vault.

Hospital Receives Contributions.

A total of $142.42 was received by the Centre County Hospital as the result of Thanksgiving offerings taken up in churches in various sections of the county. Bellefonte churches contributed $128.11 of this amount while Bealsburg gave $11.21 and Renovo $3.10, all of which was gratefully appreciated.

A Well 303 Feet Deep.

A well on the M. T. Zuber farm, west of Spring Mills, failed during the long drought not yet broken, which induced Mr. Zuber to have the well deepened. The drilling was done by the Kaul brothers, and at a depth of 303 feet an abundance of water seems to be available.

Flames Destroy Barn.

A barn owned by Miss Mary B. McNitt, of Milroy, in Dry Valley, was destroyed by fire with a loss of $10,000. The farm is tenanted by T. G. Darr. A lot of chickens, a bull and a house dog perished in the flames.

Girl Drowns, Brother Saved, at Yeagerstown.

Virginia Ferguson, 7, is dead at her home at Yeagerstown, and her brother, Blain, 6, was rescued when the children broke through the ice on Kishacoquillas creek, near their home.

The boy was saved by Michael Socio, a neighbor, who heard his cries, but the body of the girl was carried under the ice.

Mrs. Ferguson, hearing the children's cries, ran out onto the ice, which broke under her weight. She was helped out of the icy waters by Mrs. Cupples, a neighbor.

Y. P. B. Meets.

Y. P. B. held its regular meeting at the home of M. A. Burkholder on Monday night. The program of the evening proved interesting to the members. Songs were also practiced for the contest the Y. P. B. is giving on December 27th. The "Narcotic Department" made a survey of Centre Hall and its actions toward narcotics. The report was given and proved interesting.

Fire in Bellefonte.

Fire was discovered Saturday morning at 5 o'clock in what is known as the old electric light building on West Lamb street, Bellefonte, now used as a storage place by the West Penn Power company. The fire was caused when a truck which had been placed in the building caught fire. The truck was totally destroyed along with a large amount of electrical equipment, and material used in case of an emergency breakdown. The entire inside of the building was destroyed.

The loss will probably amount to several thousand dollars. The two local fire companies responded and were able to save the building.

James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight champion fighter of the world, once a fighting man with the marines, will wear the gold leaf of a major as an aide on the staff of Dean Wilbur L. Cross, next governor of Connecticut, whose inauguration will take place January 7th.

M. A. Landry, landlord of the Brockertoff hotel is considering relinquishing the management of that hotel and devoting his entire time to the Markland hotel.
