

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

H. L. Ebricht is making alterations on the interior of his dwelling house with a view of adding to the convenience and appearance of it.

C. E. Flik has been substituting on rural mail route No. 2 from Centre Hall for Albert Emery, who was on a trip to Ohio since the middle of last week.

R. G. Grove, of town, is making improvements to his farm home, east of town. A cellar under the kitchen is being excavated, and the kitchen remodeled.

Misses Alice and Mabel Burkholder, of near town, accompanied by Miss Henrietta McDowell, of State College, spent the week-end as guests of their sister, Miss Ellen Burkholder, at Williamsport.

W. R. Neff erected a new porch to his farm dwelling house occupied by his son, John Neff, near Tusseyville. The new concrete road leading from Potters Mills to near Tusseyville runs no longer to the rear of the farm house, but to the front owing to the changes being made.

The Central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist church will meet this year on June 16 at Carlisle. The board of bishops in session in Indianapolis last week made the assignments of bishops, and Bishop Wm. F. McDowell of Washington was assigned to the Central Pennsylvania conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce W. Ripka accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Royer, and granddaughter, Bernice, on Sunday drove to Altoona where they visited Charles McCool at the Max Harsh-barger home, and found him getting along splendidly.

The town reservoir is being repaired by workmen from Madisonburg. A composition of oil, cement and water is being applied to the wall on the interior. This is not getting at the seat of the trouble, which, strange as it seems, is from water getting into, rather than going out of the basin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kittlerberger and daughters, Miss Louise, who is a stenographer in the Kurtz Bros. School Supply House, in Clearfield, and Miss Elizabeth, a teacher in the Curwensville public schools, and Regis McKnight, mathematics teacher and athletic coach in the Curwensville High school, spent Sunday at the Bartholomew home. Mrs. Kittlerberger is a niece of W. H. Bartholomew.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. John Neff, living on the Wm. R. Neff farm near Tusseyville, met with somewhat serious accident a few days ago. They were driving two horses hitched to a wagon when the neck yoke became detached resulting in the wagon upsetting. Two of the children—Minerva and Russell—received lacerations and bruises. Dr. Swank, of Boalsburg, gave surgical attention.

Windom Gramley, one of the Millheim Hosiery Mills foremen, was kind enough to show the writer through the plant on Monday. While not working to full capacity the plant is employing 175 persons. A payroll like that ought to mean something in a town with a population of less than four times that many. The mill is putting out a nice line of work, much of which is being shipped to chain stores like the McCrory, Kresge and Woolworth.

Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Boozer left here for a month's visit with their son, Ralph C. Boozer, and family, at 539 Essex Road, Kenilworth, a Chicago suburb. They were taken as far as Brookville, this State, by auto driven by J. S. Boozer, accompanied by his wife and children. From Brookville the elder Boozers went by train to Youngstown, Ohio, to visit a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Kline, and from there they will go on by rail to Chicago.

Miss Marion Brainard, field secretary for the New York Herald-Tribune Fresh Air Fund, was in the county last week in the interest of the worthy movement of opening our homes to provide two weeks' entertainment for children of the crowded tenement districts of New York. No direct solicitations were made in Centre Hall, but if there are any here who desire to entertain any of the 400,000 children on the approved list, the Tribune will be pleased to take care of their request.

Jerry Corman, of Coburn, and Russell Grazer, of Spring Bank, had an unhappy meeting in Millheim Narrows, one evening last week. They were traveling in opposite directions in cars and on approaching each other, the latter made a turn to the left to avoid being hit and ran his car into a bank. Mr. Corman came on and struck the Grazer car on the side. The thrust into the bank and the whack on its side was more than the Dodge could stand without making it look much like a pile of junk.

Dr. Rue, orthopedic surgeon from Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, last week performed an operation that will eventually result in straightening one of the limbs of James Delaney, an adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Ward Gramley, in Millheim. The operation was performed in the Lewistown city hospital and consisted in chipping a V-shaped groove in one of the bones and then placing the leg in a plaster Paris cast where it will remain for eight weeks. The noted surgeon comes to Lewistown regularly, his services being the result of arrangements made by the Lewistown Rotary club. Before coming into the Gramley home, six or seven years ago, the lad who will profit by the Rotary club's good work, was hit by an automobile and seriously injured—one leg having been broken at two places. Nature, the surgeon stated, acted too rapidly in its repair work and built up the bone unevenly, causing it to curve. Plans were made to bring the boy from the hospital yesterday (Wednesday).

OLDEST FORD DRIVER

J. M. Crow, 89, of Ethel, Miss., the oldest Ford driver in Mississippi, traversed the historic old Natchez Trace in a covered wagon eighty-seven years ago.

As rugged today at 89 as the age in American history he so picturesquely typifies, J. M. Crow of Ethel, Miss., is the oldest Ford driver in Mississippi and one of the oldest in the United States.

When as a babe of two years he rode with his parents in one of a train of 30 covered wagons out of Cobb county, Georgia, into Mississippi, the old Natchez Trace followed by the brave little band was still infested by the swashbuckling ruffians whose bloody outrages gave that era its place in this country's history as "the outlaw years."

One of his vivid memories is hearing, as a boy of six, the news of General Scott's victorious assault on the heights of Chapultepec which ended the Mexican War in 1847, and his proudest memory is of honorable service as a Confederate soldier during the Civil War. When the southern cause collapsed, Crow was compelled to trudge 400 miles on foot to the old homestead at Ethel where he settled down to rear a family.

In the intervening years he has seen the lumbering stagecoach give way to the fleet automobile and the comfortable motorbus, the soggy gumbo and rough corduroy roads of his childhood to the wide, paved roads of today, and although he is well past middle age before the modern automobile became commonplace he is as enthusiastic a driver as youngsters who can boast less than one-quarter of his years. Five generations of Crow's family are frequently seen together in his Model A Ford, the second of its type Crow has owned and driven.
