

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Mabel Erdley, of Milton, was in town for the past week or more.

I. A. Sweetwood, of Norristown, former local resident, attended the fair last week.

The grand jury will hold its first session to hear Commonwealth cases, on Tuesday morning.

Rev. J. D. Wolf, who is serving a Reformed charge in Homestead, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keller during last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Saxton and baby, of Greensburg, were here for a few days last week. Mrs. Saxton was formerly Miss Mary Shreckengast.

J. C. Rossmann, of Mifflinburg, was a visitor at the Reporter tent on Grange Park last week. He and Mrs. Rossmann are planning a motor trip West in the near future.

Water, for the first time in many years, was not a question discussed during the last Grange fair. There was plenty of it without the pump being put into operation.

Harry Rossmann, county register, is the only county officeholder whose reelection is possible under the constitution at the November election, who is not a candidate to succeed himself.

Employment of men in the construction of the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg is confined to mechanics, etc., who hold union cards. The non-union man has no chance for employment.

A large truck carrying eight hundred flexible flyers, children's steds, passed through here Tuesday morning. The consignment of coasters was on its way from Philadelphia to St. Paul, Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Redenbach were in town on Tuesday. They are now located in Altoona. Mr. Redenbach was the very obliging manager of the Shaffer grocery here, until transferred to another point.

A car load of crushed lime stone was unloaded at the Centre Hall railroad station, on Monday, which will be used by Richard Brooks to improve the private road leading from the public road to his farm west of town.

Mrs. Mary McCool, who had been living in one of her homes in the Red Mill district for several years, will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Cleveland Brungart, and family, in Centre Hall, at least for the winter.

Paul Hironimus, one of the several Rawleigh Products salesmen in Centre county, finds trade not too bad in his line. His only regret is that his territory is not more extensive so that he could be busy every day in making an intensive canvass.

Miss Alice Rearick, who is at present the home-maker for her father, Rev. J. M. Rearick, in Mifflintown, was an auto guest of friends who attended Grange fair for a day. Miss Rearick is one of the Mifflintown High school teachers, her sole subject being mathematics.

Mrs. Bessie Dunham and sons, Robert and Jack, of New York City, arrived here last week and are guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Weber. The sons referred to will be recalled by most of their acquaintances as mere children, but they have now developed into manhood.

The State Highway Department took over 1700 miles of the 20,000 miles of road covered by the Pinchot program to "lift the farmer out of the mud." At this rate of speed in building, highways may be obsolete before the work is completed. Ten years is a long, long time in this day and generation.

While playing on an avenue on Grange Park to the front of his parents' tent, Philip Brooks, six years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brooks, was struck by an automobile and knocked to the ground, escaping with slight bruises. The car passed over the child.

Bruce D. Rowe, of Newark, N. J., is enjoying his annual vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rowe.

Dr. R. M. Krebs, of Pine Grove Mills, was taken to the I. O. O. F. home at Grove City. He was accompanied on the trip by his nurse, Miss Ella Cox, and J. H. Bailey, and were driven through by auto by the doctor's nephew, Hawley Krebs, of Altoona, Alex. Tanyer, a former Pine Grove Mills man, is also an inmate of the home, and the two will be company for each other.

Dr. Knapp, health commissioner of Cleveland, finds some consolation in the result of the depression, since he ascribes the improved health condition of the people in his city due to the fact that they eat less in times like these, especially less luxuries. The less one spends for food the more important milk becomes, says the commissioner, and that is the information the official wishes to give to the public at large.

Dr. W. E. Fischer and Dr. E. R. Gerhart, pastors respectively of Trinity Lutheran church, and Grace Lutheran church in Shamokin, spent a day of their vacation in Centre Hall, returning home on Monday. Roy Carter, a Shamokin youth, driving Dr. Fischer's new LaSalle special sedan, the motor vehicle which carried the distinguished ministers into this section and back home, Sunday morning. Dr. Gerhart filled the appointment for Rev. S. F. Greenhoe in Farmers Mills Union church, and Dr. Fischer did likewise, in Centre Hall, and in the evening the latter also spoke in the Georges Valley Lutheran church. At each place the congregations were well rewarded for their presence. It is here recalled that Dr. Fischer served these congregations, together with the Spring Mills and Tusseyville congregations, for a period of eighteen years, beginning about 1875, going to his present pastorate from here. He has been doing about everything becoming a clergyman but grow old, which he has not done up to this time and there are no visible signs of his doing so in the near future.

CENTRE COUNTY HOSPITAL NOTES.

M. Larson, of Kane; Master Kenneth Bickel, of Bellefonte; Miss Hazel Wolfslagle, of Unionville; Mrs. Wm. Keeler and infant daughter, of State College; Miss Laura Johnson, of Altoona; Masters George and Richard McCulky, of Walker township.

Medical patients: Mrs. Randall Hosterman, of Millheim; Master Harry Zeigler, of Boalsburg.

Died during the week: Mrs. William Spotts, of Port Matilda; Mrs. Mary H. Hunter, of Bryans town.

There were forty-two patients in the hospital at the beginning of the week.

MORE RURAL ROADS FOR CENTRE COUNTY

A half dozen more rural highways in Centre county with a total of over 16 miles, will be improved this year as part of Governor Pinchot's 20,000 mile rural road program. The numbers of the several routes indicated below are not those found on road maps, but numbers carried by the Highway Department for official designation. The list includes the following:

Route 14912, a 4.46 mile stretch from Howard to Romola.

Route 14903, 2.29 miles from Route 14902 toward Snow Shoe.

Route 14919, 4.48 miles from Milesburg to Route 219 via Curtin.

Route 14911, 4.29 miles from Central City to Route 14909.

Route 14913, 0.38 mile from Pennsylvania Furnace toward Marengo.

Route 14909, 1.99 mile from Route 107—Unionville end—northward.

Work on these routes, along with many others throughout the State, has been authorized and will get under way at once.

LEWISTOWN'S COMMUNITY SALES AND DOLLAR DAYS

Lewistown's Community Sales and Dollar Days, all day Wednesday and all day Thursday of next week, Sept. 9 and 10, are known as the merchandise classic of the year. Two full days of unmatched shopping opportunities.

This time it is a new and greater event. Lewistown business men are stirred by the untoward effects of curtailed buying and are determined, with favorable markets, to overcome this condition in a measure by special merchandise offerings that haven't been equaled in a generation. They stand as one, with shoulders to the wheel, to eclipse all former community sales events.

This is the end of the Summer season (as stores divide the year) and the coming sale will find offerings of remaining warm-weather merchandise priced without regard to cost—with no consideration except a sweeping clearance in two thrilling days.

The essence of community sales, which few towns seem able or willing to copy, is the unity of purpose behind it—the co-operative effort, the planning, the energy, and above all, the determination which amounts to friendly rivalry among the stores that no other store will outdo it in gathering its proportionate quota of unusual values.

Lewistown Community Sales have always brought their exceptional shopping opportunities but this time there has been more than the usual effect. No man or woman who lives within reach of Lewistown can afford to miss the Wednesday and Thursday values next week.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Station agent J. C. Lee, at Spring Mills, with Mrs. Lee, is spending a part of his two weeks' vacation in Bethlehem, at the home of Mrs. Wauketter, a daughter. Both of them will return home Monday. Thomas Houghton, of Millflinburg, is in charge of the Rising Springs station during Mr. Lee's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. William Arney and little son, William Eugene, of Mifflinburg, were guests for a day or more of Mr. Arney's father, F. E. Arney, now living with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bradford. Mr. Arney, who began railroad office service with W. F. Bradford, at Centre Hall was an extra man at Leomont during last week.

Guests who were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Moore during the Entertainment and Fair were Miss Mae Burkholder, of Ephrata; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crowl and Mrs. Mary Christine, of Elysburg; Miss Edna Coover, of New Market; Rev. and Mrs. J. Frederick Moore, and Mrs. William Riden, of Yeagertown; and Kenneth I. Boyer, of Williamsport.

Lewis Rothrock, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rothrock, of Bellefonte, with several friends attended the Grange fair for a day or more. Mr. Rothrock, immediately upon graduating from Penn State ten years ago, became county agent in Perry county, and has been located there since, living in New Bloomfield. He attended the Potato Growers' Association meeting at State College, and while here made a special effort to carefully inspect the array of exhibits in his line of work.

P.A. BANKERS' ASSOCIATION AND COUNTY KEY BANKERS

Met at State College.—Penn'a Farmer No Quitter Under Adversity, But Is "Digging In" to See the Job Thru.

Concrete evidence of aid that bankers of the State have given to agriculture in general, and to the farmers of their respective communities in particular, was reported by N. E. Robb, treasurer of the Bellefonte Trust Co., on his return from State College where the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association committee on agriculture and the County Key Bankers held their fourth annual conference Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Examples of successful projects that had been carried out by the banks in various counties the State were recited in detail by the bankers who suggested that other communities might try them with profit to the farmer and the banker as well.

Sponsoring such projects particularly in times of financial distress as at present, is one of the rural banker's chief responsibilities in the opinion of those who addressed the group during the two-day sessions. Tours of the county bankers' association, exhibits of farm products in the bank building, organization of club activities for boys and girls, advertising campaigns to stimulate consumption of a certain product, and assistance with cooperatives were pointed out as some of the more successful projects to be backed by a bank.

Organization of a bankers' association within the county was declared by the visitors to be almost indispensable in the furtherance of a successful banker-farmer program.

Underlying the entire agricultural situation in Pennsylvania is a feeling of confidence in himself on the part of the farmer, Charles F. Zimmerman, of Huntingdon, secretary of the State association, told the delegates in his address. This self-confidence is a trust that the banker must not betray when the farmer needs financial help. Mr. Zimmerman declared, and added that in his observation the Pennsylvania farmer has no intention of folding up and quitting in the face of adversity but is digging in to see the job through.

Rural taxation problems were mentioned by nearly every speaker on the program. The general feeling on the part of the bankers is that there must be revision of taxes to bring about a parity between farm income and the income from the industrial system before there is complete restoration of the country's purchasing power. A tax program based on the earning capacity of the farm was recommended as a possible step to bring about stabilization.
