CHILDREN SWIPE

LLOYD YONADA'S PURSE

Three Brown children and a Styers child all under ten years of age and all of Lock Haven, are being held for juvenile court under the custody of Mrs. H. H. Gage, social worker, following their theft of a purse containing $30 from a car parked on Main street in Lock Haven, Sunday a week ago, by Lloyd Yonada, of Spring Mills. The children went to the Legion park at Mill Hall to spend their ill gotten gain and after eating and drinking for some time they went to the Sheasley garage at the entrance to the park for soft drinks and offered ten dollars for payment, whereupon Mr. Sheasley, proprietor of the garage, called for the police and kept nine dollars, giving them enough for car fare home. The children admitted to police the theft of a tricycle which was recovered. They had only 65 cents left when they reached Lock Haven and Mr. Sheasley gave police the $9 he had taken from them.

SEPTEMBER COURT OPENED MONDAY, 14TH

Judge Fleming Appeared in Official Robes—Large Number of Cases Disposed of.

September criminal court opened Monday morning, Judge Fleming appearing in official robes, the first appearance of a Centre county judge in our county court in such apparel, which will now become a permanent institution in our courts here.

The cases heard so far are of but passing interest to our readers, therefore no full account will be given.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Prof. William P. Hosterman is an exception to the foregoing. Mr. Hosterman was charged with forgery by Eva B. Grove, wife of Arthur Grove, of Spring Mills. The bill was ignored by the grand jury, and the costs to be paid by the prosecutrix. It was charged that Mr. Hosterman had forged Mrs. Grove's name on a note for $100. It appears Grove wished to borrow $100 from Mr. Hosterman on a note. Mr. Hosterman refused to accept the note unless it would be signed by both Grove and his wife. The note was signed by both, and when an effort was made to collect, Mrs. Grove declared her name had been forged.

Court on Monday evening adjourned until Wednesday morning.

MEDICAL INSPECTORS FOR 4TH CLASS SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Six Inspectors for Centre County, Dr. McQueen Acting in This District.

Centre county fourth class school districts have been divided into four districts for medical inspection of pupils.

The districts indicated "Not to be inspected this year," if any, are a part of each inspector's official territory, but the inspector's authority in said districts covers official revaccinations and the examinations for employment certificates only. These vaccinations and examinations are made free of charge.

The school medical inspectors, and the county medical director, are the only authorized physicians to perform the official revaccinations required for the admission to school of beginners who have had two unsuccessful attempts at vaccination by their family physician, or for all children who held temporary certificates of vaccination last year. These must be officially revaccinated (only ones) by the authorized school medical inspector and a new temporary certificate issued for the present school term if the medical inspector's official revaccination does not produce a successful result.

PINCHOT'S POWER ATTACKS CRITICIZED BY SPARGO

State Electric Convention Speaker Says He "Disregards Truth."

Governor Pinchot's attacks on public utilities were scored directly and by inference in speeches before the twenty-fourth convention of the Pennsylvania Electric Association, held in Bedford Springs.

John Spargo, of Old Bennington, Vt., an economist, said the attacks by Pinchot and others were made in "wanton disregard of the truth."

The Governor, Spargo said, is much given to the "unfortunate and dangerous habit of considering the electric industry from the viewpoint of politics rather than from that of social progress."

A. B. Millar, of Harrisburg, managing director of the association, said an attitude of suspicion has been engendered in the mind of the public toward utilities as a result of "agitators and seekers after political preferment" seizing on power companies as an issue to gain public notice.

Warning that no company can prosper without the good-will of the public it serves, Millar recommended the industry follow "the broad highway of good faith and good-will" on which William Penn founded his relations with the Indians.

Charles E. Oakes, of Allentown, district manager of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, said building of rural lines has shown slight recession despite the depression. Total mileage of rural lines built in the first eight months of 1930, he said, was 918, compared with 828 in 1931. Cost of lines built in 1930 was $1,833,113, compared with $1,541,448 this year. Customers added to the rural lines were 9532 and 8520 respectively.

"In the five years ended December, 1930," Oakes said, "the industry made an investment in rural lines of nearly $14,000,000 and gave service to 87,383 customers, including 20,157 farms."
