Miss Anna Steiner, of Wilkensburg, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sloop Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Luse of Johnstown, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Luse in Centre Hall, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormick, of Columbia, S. C. were recent guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Eliza Meyer, and brother John D. Meyer, in Tyrone.

While school children are highly enjoying these fall days in the open, their teachers are being instructed in the better methods of teaching and governing at the institute being held in the court house.

A. H. Spayd is very much improving the appearance of his dwelling house in town by repainting the mortar lines. The lime in the mortar neutralized the original coloring, giving the structure an unfinished appearance. The black line again restored by way of contrast brings out the luster of the brick.

Mr. and Mrs. Snively Shelly and Mrs. M. B. Hafer, all of Chambersburg, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Royer, in town. The former couple are cousins of Mr. Royer and Mrs. Hafer is an aunt. Mr. Shelly is employed by the Heinz people who operate a plant in Chambersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Kittleberger and daughter, Miss Louise, of Curwensville, were overnight guests Saturday at the Bartholomew home, and Sunday went on to Lock Haven. At Pleasant Gap they picked up Miss Elizabeth Kittleberger and friend, taking them with them to the Clinton county capital.

The apple crop locally is being picked at this time. There are many orchards throughout Penna and Brush Valleys that will yield but light crops. Orchards sprayed for both scale and insects are producing a pretty fair quality of fruit, but where spraying was neglected the fruit is entirely without merit.

Fred Bender, who recently underwent an appendix and tonsil operation at the Teah private hospital in Lock Haven, was brought to his home here on Monday by Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick. Considering the seriousness of the operation, Mr. Bender is in splendid condition and expects soon to be able to go after customers for Rawleigh products.

Mrs. Leah Christie was a passenger on the Greyhound bus, on Monday, from Altoona to her home in Millheim. Mrs. Christie, in conversation with Mrs. Lucy Henney and Mrs. Geese Wagner, stated her sister, Louise Weaver, West Lehigh Avenue, Philadelphia, who had not been in good health, is very much improved at this time.

Mrs. Cant and Miss Herman, both of Huntingdon, on Sunday were guests of Mrs. Howard Butz, at the Lutheran parsonage here. Miss Herman, for some time was engaged by a private party to do social work throughout Huntingdon county, and when her efforts became so thoroughly approved, the county authorities engaged her permanently to do that class of work.

Rev. John H. Keller, of China Grove, N. C. is presiding over the Potomac Synod of the Reformed church now in session in Huntingdon, this State. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, on their way to Greensburg on Friday, will pick up Rev. Keller and take him with them for a week's stay with Rev. and Mrs. Roy E. Corman. On returning to Centre Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will bring Rev. Keller with them for a visit here, the scene of his boyhood and youth.

B. C. Crucetti, last week, laid the foundation for a road house on top of Sand Mountain, the structure to be 29 by 30 feet in dimensions. The location is set to the east far enough so as not to be interfered with in case the concrete road from the Centre-Mifflin county line is extended over the new survey which reaches the top of Sand Mountain by going around the knob on the east. Crucetti, who is a stone cutter, is now employed at State College, and is living in the Yeager property, near Rhonemede.

Charles S. Stoner, who quit his farm a few years ago and bought the Spangler property at Tusseyville, in which he has been living since, has decided to sell that small farm property, at public sale on Saturday, November 7, and go back to his large farm west of Tusseyville. Mr. Stoner finds that farm rental provides a very small income and since he is still a comparatively young man and he will have the help of a son in his farming operations, the old farm can again be made to yield fair returns.

Ira Auman, of Potters Mills, was a pleasant caller at this office on Tuesday. A year or so ago Mr. Auman quit farming, but still believes in keeping busy, and makes a good "hand" for neighboring farmers. Just now he is husking corn, and tells us how the old $1.00 a day wage has returned. It is like this: Husking corn for twelve bushels out of a hundred, he and a companion are able to earn twelve bushels of corn a day, which, at the present corn price, is $2.40, or $1.20 each. "Not much, but better than nothing," says Mr. Auman, and, besides he would rather be employed at this low wage than be idle. All of which verifies the truth of "Will" Rogers' statement that it is good policy to keep busy, even though the pay is small, so that you'll be in practice when the "big job" comes along. You can't beat "Will" Rogers for homely philosophy.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

While Mrs. W. F. Keller is taking a week's rest at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. M. Goodhart, in Johnstown, Mrs. Goodhart is here assisting in caring for their father, Alfred Durst.

William S. Brooks, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Blazier, and her husband, on Wednesday went to Cleveland, Ohio, by car, where they will be guests of Mr. Brooks' son, Joseph Brooks, a railroad employee.

Friday, Miss Fay Bradford will drive E. N. Eisenberg, a representative of the State Bureau of Animal Industry, Harrisburg, was in Greag township on Tuesday, looking up dog law violations. A number of dogs in that district were found without carrying the official yellow plate. The minimum fine is $5.00 and costs.

to Shippensburg to attend the homecoming at the Teachers' College of which she is a graduate, and now teaching at Potters Mills. On the way she will pick up two of her classmates and take them with her and together they will enjoy the festivities arranged for the occasion.

G. W. Ralston will become tenant on the Colyer farm at Old Fort, next spring. He will be assisted by Hayes Ralston, who will occupy a portion of the large farm house. For more than fifteen years Mr. Ralston has been tenant on one of the William Brooks farms, along the Brush Valley road, leading west from here.

The creek road between Spring Mills and Coburn received its first oiling, and later will receive an application of heavy road oil and chips. The road has been cleared of weeds and brush along the sides and ditches provided for drainage, and is now in very good condition for driving, and when completed will be very much better.

Farmers are busily engaged in harvesting the corn crop, which is a unusually good one on every farm. Corn is one of the most valuable crops produced in this section, since it is depended upon largely for the major portion of grain for feeding to cattle, horses, hogs and poultry, while the stalk provides a large quantity of roughage valuable for feed during the winter months.

An attempt was made Saturday night to gain entrance to the Leister garage in the western section of town. The robbery was frustrated by Mrs. Leister who happened to hear a noise at the garage and went to investigate. In other parts of town, during the recent past, gasoline tanks on cars have been robbed of their fuel, and other minor depredations committed. The work is evidently being done by the same person.

Miss Hazel Vonada, daughter of Sumner Vonada, aged about 18 years, and Irene Schaeffer, aged 15, daughter of Thomas Schaeffer, both of Spring Mills, on Thursday night of last week were struck by an auto driven by Jas. Zettle, of Georges Valley. Accident occurred in the south section of Spring Mills, while the young people were on their way to their respective homes. The young ladies escaped without bones being broken, but received numerous severe bruises which for a day or two put them to bed.

DEMOCRATS ASK FUND OF MILLION AND HALF DOLLARS

Campaign for "Victory Fund" to Be Laid by John W. Davis.—Committee of More Than 500 National and State Party Chiefs Mobilized.

Democratic leaders hope to stage their quadrennial quest for the presidency bulwarked by a $1,500,000 "victory fund."

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the party's national executive committee, estimates that $600,000 will be needed to keep the political wheels turning until the next convention, $500,000 to inaugurate the actual campaign, and $400,000 to pay off the 1928 deficit.

The fund campaign will be led by John W. Davis, 1924 presidential nominee of the party, with John H. Fahey, of Worcester, Mass., as executive chairman, and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, treasurer. A committee of more than 500 national and state party stalwarts has been mobilized, the announcement said, to carry on the subscription campaign. It was authorized last March by the Democratic national committee.

While details for raising the fund were being formulated, the party resorted to further loans from its chairman, John W. Raskob. It now owes his $225,000. He recently, since the campaign for funds is on, subscribed $100,000 which, he declared, was his final contribution.

Mr. Davis, in a statement issued through the executive chairman said: "The political position of the party is impregnable" at this time and "its prospects of victory were never brighter."

He added however, that the party could not expect victory by default but must "present a strong national organization" with adequate funds.

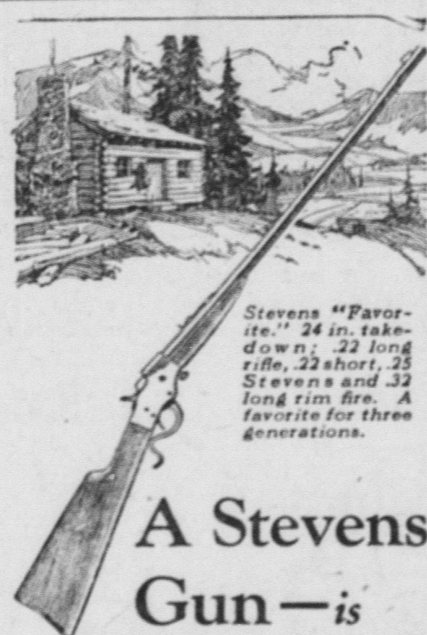

From Chairman Raskob came the statement that "achievement of the purpose of the victory fund, Democratic victory in 1932, is the responsibility not of any small group but of every man and woman who feels that change of government is imperative. Financing of the fund on a nationwide basis is fundamentally Democratic in character, as every activity of the party ought to be."

Aid for War Veterans

More than 430,000 ex-servicemen and their families were aided through 3,908 Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the year ending June 30, 1931. Dependent families were cared for, veterans' claims were filed, hospitalization obtained and many other services given. Part of each contribution during the American Red Cross annual roll call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward supporting this vital work for veterans of the World War and other wars in which the United States has engaged.

Books for the Blind

Through American Red Cross Chapters, 3,827 volumes of novels, class books and others, transcribed into braille for blind readers, have been added to libraries, in the past year. These books are to be obtained through the Library of Congress and city libraries. This activity, carried on by a great number of devoted women volunteers in Red Cross Chapters, had its inception in preparing books for war blinded.

Stevens "Favorite" 24 in. take-down; 22 long rifle, 22 short, 25 Stevens and 32 long rim fire. A favorite for three generations.

A Stevens Gun — is your lifelong friend

Any number of men are using today the same Stevens rifle or shotgun they bought as boys. For Stevens is accurate—and it stays accurate.

Here's the reason: when a Stevens barrel is bored or drilled, the final cutting removes less than one-half of a thousandth of an inch.

And the same painstaking care is given to every detail—to getting a handsome finish; to striking just the right balance.

And then—the prices. Little short of amazing are the prices of Stevens rifles and shotguns. You can pay more, a lot more, for your guns, but you can't buy better shooting qualities or longer wear.

Ask at your dealer's or write for the interesting catalog describing in detail the Stevens complete line of rifles and shotguns.

"More genuine satisfaction than any car I ever owned"

THE FORD is good-looking. It is safe. Comfortable. Speedy. Reliable. Long-lived. Economical. Everything a good car should be.

There is, too, an added something about it that brings enthusiastic comments from every one who has ever driven a Ford . . . the joy it puts in motoring.

"I have been a car owner continuously for nearly 20 years," writes a motorist connected with a leading university. "During this period I have bought eleven new automobiles. Eight of the eleven were in the middle-price field, one cost three thousand dollars, and the last is a Ford I purchased thirteen months ago.

"In the light of this experience I can say in all sincerity that I have derived more genuine satisfaction from the Ford than any car I ever owned. In saying this, I am thinking in terms of comfort, safety, driving pleasure, ease of control and economy. My next car will also be a Ford because it will give me what I want at a price I can afford to pay."

When you get behind the wheel of the Ford and drive it yourself you will know it is a truly remarkable car at a low price. You will like it when you first buy it. You will become more and more enthusiastic the longer you drive it. After thousands of miles of driving you will say "it's a great car." Its economy will save you many dollars.
