BOALSBURG ITEMS.

Albert Meyer came in from Pittsburgh Sunday to visit his father, who has been quite ill for six weeks, and found him somewhat improved since his visit two weeks ago.

Wetzler's band of Milesburg gave a concert on the diamond on Monday evening.

Mrs. Irvin Johnston of Crafton, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. A. Woods.

Misses Agnes and Margaret Shaffer and Mrs. Frank Shaffer, of Philadelphia, were guests of Miss Anna Weber last week. The Misses Shaffer are daughters of the late Charles Shaffer, who, he conducted a tailoring establishment.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stuart of Crafton, were in town from Sunday afternoon until Tuesday.

Miss Nannie Bell Stuart, student nurse at the Centre County hospital, spent part of Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stuart.

Misses Anna and Margaret Groh, of Carlisle, were week-end guests of their cousin, Mrs. Charles Segner.

Mrs. E. W. Hess visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Dale, at Oak Hall, on Sunday.

Mrs. W. A. Rockey, who had been ill for a number of weeks, was able to attend Sunday school on Sunday. Mrs. Rockey is the efficient teacher of the Women's Bible class in the Lutheran Sunday school.

Matthew Goheen is erecting an up-to-date garage.

Mrs. Charles Kuhn went to Williamsport Wednesday to visit friends. Her son, Harry Kuhn, and family, brought her home Saturday and enjoyed a week-end visit among friends in this vicinity.

Boalsburg is at this time one of nature's beauty spots with its rows of gorgeous maples and mountain background.

The instructors and pupils have returned to their school work after their week's vacation.

REBERSBURG.

Mrs. Ida Weaver is in Harrisburg visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Metzgar.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Young and Mrs. Elizabeth Page, from Jersey Shore, spent the week-end at the Adam Wolf home.

"STATE" MEETS PITT ON SATURDAY ON BEAVER FIELD

'Twill Be the First Appearance of the Panther Eleven on a State College Field Since 1902.

Penn State will meet one of the strongest eleven on the country on Saturday of this week, when the University of Pittsburgh comes to State College for the alumni homecoming game. It will be the first appearance of the Panther eleven on a State College field since 1902, in the days when "Pitt" was known as the Western University of Pennsylvania. Since 1902 the teams have played annually in Pittsburgh, usually Thanksgiving Day.

The Panthers are regarded as a possible national championship team this season with a squad of veterans including several who are being mentioned as All-American candidates.

Although Penn State has been defeated several times to date, the Lions hope that the change in scenery for the contest will bring a change in fortune. State has not beaten Pitt since 1919, and in recent years followers of the Lions have come to believe that there is something of a jinx on their favorites when playing on the Pittsburgh field.

The game will find a number of former Pittsburgh district and Western Pennsylvania school boys arrayed against old mates on the Panther side of the line. Nearly a dozen of the Lion players went to high school in Pittsburgh or nearby towns. George Lasich, the Lion captain, is a product of Clairton High school, near the Smoky City.

The Pitt varsity and freshman cross country teams will accompany the football team for meets with the Lion runners to make it nearly an all-Pittsburgh day. The Lion soccer team will play Lafayette as a preliminary to the other events.

FARM CALENDAR

TIMELY REMINDERS FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Order Forest Trees—

Decide now what species of seedlings should be planted on that barren hillside next spring. Order them immediately so there will be no doubt about getting the desired kinds. Your county agricultural agent has the application blanks. Order 1000 seedlings for each acre to be planted.

House Early Layers—

Pullets should be moved to winter quarters as soon as many show signs of laying. The slower maturing and later hatched birds should be left on the range and given a chance to develop. All birds should be housed before cold, wet fall weather begins.

Sheep Need Water—

While it is true that sheep can live better than other kinds of livestock without an adequate water supply, this does not mean that water is not essential. Plenty of salt and a good supply of water should be accessible at all times.

Attend Poultry Course—

The latest information on the science and practice of poultry husbandry will be presented in the eleventh annual Poultry Short Course at the Pennsylvania State College November 9 to 12. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Reduce Beef Costs—

A careful study of the situation indicates that any material reduction in the cost of producing beef will necessitate a more extensive and efficient use of roughage, especially ensilage.

Store Vegetable Supply—

Cabbage, beets, turnips, and other root vegetables can be stored before freezing to provide a supply for the family until next day. Select medium sized root vegetables, and well matured but not bursted heads of cabbage.

Supply Fruit Markets—

About three-fourths of the apples grown in Pennsylvania are consumed by local markets. To meet this demand orderly marketing must be practiced. This means that fruit must be stored to provide a constant supply.

During the past three weeks the water pump has been in operation for a considerable portion of the time. The flow from all the springs is lessening to such an extent that without the supply from the well we would need to be very much concerned about fire protection.

HUGE TASK IN DROUGHT AID MET BY RED CROSS

Relief Given to Distressed Hops in Meeting Serious Situation, Chairman Payne Says.

"The year of the great drought," as these past twelve or more months will be known to future generations, wrought great damage to millions. Not alone did the crops, which were burned in the fields in twenty-three states, in the summer of 1930, deprive several million persons of food, but the drought disaster continued in the summer of 1931 in the northwestern states, and also brought other minor catastrophes in its wake, such as forest fires, and the grasshopper plague.

More than a year has elapsed since the American Red Cross launched, in August, 1930, its first moves for relief of the drought-stricken farmers, and in that time more than 2,750,000 persons were given food, clothing, medical aid, shelter or other type of assistance. At no period during this year were there fewer than 70,000 persons being aided and at the peak of the relief work on March 1, last, more than 2,000,000 persons were being helped.

Today, still as a result of the drought, the Red Cross is giving extended relief in parts of North Dakota, Washington and Montana, where resources of hundreds of families were wiped out this past summer, when a second and more severe spell of dry weather was prolonged in that region.

This drought relief presented the greatest task that has ever been undertaken by the Red Cross as a peace-time activity. The Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, while more spectacular, and calling for relief of a costlier type, because homes and possessions were swept away, affected hardly one-fourth the number of people who suffered because of the drought.

In addition to the broad program of drought relief still being carried on, John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, has given the following suggestion to Chapter chairmen, in regard to unemployment relief: "Where there is suffering and want from any cause and the fundamental local needs are not being met, Chapters may participate in the community plans for meeting the need."

Some type of general family relief, whether for the drought victims, the unemployed or the war veteran and his family, were carried on by more than 3,000 Red Cross Chapters last year, Judge Payne said.

"The drought relief work of 1930-31," he added, "the relief now being extended following last summer's drought, principally in Montana and North Dakota; the assistance which is being given to ex-service men and their families; and the part which several hundred Chapters are taking locally in their communities' relief measures are activities of the Red Cross, national and local, which have met and are meeting some of the serious needs of the present situation."

Elect a Democratic board of County Commissioners and see how the expenses of the county will decrease.

A Stevens Gun—is your lifelong friend

Any number of men are using today the same Stevens rifle or shotgun they bought as boys. For Stevens is accurate—and it stays accurate.

Here's the reason: when a Stevens barrel is bored or drilled, the final cutting removes less than one-half of a thousandth of an inch.

And the same painstaking care is given to every detail—to getting a handsome finish; to striking just the right balance.

And then—the prices. Little short of amazing are the prices of Stevens rifles and shotguns. You can pay more, a lot more, for your guns, but you can't buy better shooting qualities or longer wear.

Ask at your dealer's or write for the interesting catalog describing in detail the Stevens complete line of rifles and shotguns.
